'Will Never Leave Castro In Trouble'

Khrushchev Warns Soviet Will Act If U.S. Doesn't Fill Cuba Pledges

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared today that if American pledges on Cuba are not fulfilled "we will be compelled to take such actions as the situation requires of us."

He was speaking to the Supreme Soviet.

The statement was made at the end of an hour of speaking in the great Kremlin hall during which the premier said the Soviet Union had demonstrated it could preserve peace.

"We will never leave revolutionary Cuba in trouble," Khrushchev said.

"We will defend the right of the Cuban people to pursue their bright future."

He paid credit to President Kennedy as having an interest in preserving peace in the Caribbean and said both were negotiating so that pledges on both sides would be kept.

It was then that he thundered out his warning that the pledges must be kept.

Khrushchev, referring to what he apparently meant by President Kennedy's "pledge", said the United States had promised "not to attack the republic of Cuba and to restrain its allies from doing so."

But despite the implied threat, the Khrushchev speech appeared to have a defensive tone. He remarked that there was no question of who won in the Cuban crisis, saying that "sanity and the cause of peace" were the winners.

The Soviet leader, in a major foreign policy speech, called for "renunciation of war among states as a means of settling international disputes (and) their solution through negotiations."

Khrushchev called the solution of the Caribbean crisis "a major victory for the policy of peace," but he repeatedly attacked "the aggressive circles of imperialism."

And in an obvious retort to the Chinese Communists, who criticized the Soviet backdown in Cuba, Khrushchev asserted:

"Events have confirmed that the peace forces are able to overcome the most dangerous international crisis, to curb the imperialist aggressors."

Seated in a place of honor on the rostrum was President Tito of Yugoslavia, who was branded as a "traitor to world communism" a week ago by the Red Chinese.

Carlos Rodriguez, head of a Cuban trade delegation which arrived here Monday, was also on the rostrum.

Khrushchev coupled his call again for peaceful coexistence between East and West with a charge "imperialist aggressors" were stirring up international tensions with threats and a warning that the Soviet Union had rockets to "reply to a blow by our enemies with a lightning smashing blow."

He outlined in detail the progress of negotiations conducted by urgent letters with President Kennedy, and declared at one point: "If the other side had not shown restraint, an explosion would have followed."

During the first hour of his speech he made one brief reference to Germany, saying the problem should be settled by treaty and the Berlin affair should be settled on the basis of that treaty.

But he avoided repeating a threat of an immediate signing of a separate treaty, and he withheld any demand that Berlin be made a free city and American, French and British troops be withdrawn.

90-Cent Hike Set For City, School Taxes

10 Subdivisions In County Will Pay More, 35 Less

East Liverpool city and school district real estate taxes will increase 90 cents for each $1,000 valuation for the 1962 tax period, according to rates released today by County Auditor Kenneth Bell. The taxes will be collected in 1963.

Ten subdivisions in the county will have higher rates and 35 will have lower rates as a result of the schedule prepared on the estimated re-evaluation of county property in a new appraisal and other bond issue and levy factors.

East Liverpool city rates will be $35.10 for each $1,000 of property valuation, compared to the $34.20 of the previous tax period.

The East Liverpool School District rate will be $32.20, up from $31.30 of 1961, the schedule shows.

Tax rates in the county will range from a high of $40.80 in Washingtonville to lows of $26 in Southern Local School District in Washington Township and Minerva School District in West Township.

In St. Clair Township, the Beaver Local School District tax rate will drop to $28.90 from the $32.80.

In Wellsville, the city rate will rise from $33.40 to $36.50, and the Wellsville school tax rate will increase from $31.60 to $34.70, the report indicates.

New rates have not yet been set for three subdivisions because final figures have not been received from Mahoning County in which parts of the districts extend.

The estimated valuation of the county is $230,000,000, or up $21 million from the previous valuation of $209 million.

The increase represents new buildings, additions, improvements or higher appraisals due to various economic or geographic factors.

The auditor's office emphasized the appraisal figures are only estimates until final corrections and adjustments are made, but it appears unlikely there will be any major changes.

A spokesman at the auditor's office said the real estate taxes would be based on approximately 40 per cent of the market value of property. It previously had been about 33 per cent.

A breakdown by townships per $1,000 valuation, with 1961 figures in parenthesis, shows:

Butler Township — United Local School District, $29.20 ($32.20); West Branch School District, — ($34.10).

Center Township — United Local S.D., $26.90 ($29.50); Southern Local S.D., $26.30 ($31.00); Lisbon Exempted Village S.D., $32.20 ($32.70); Lisbon Village, $36.70 ($34.60).

Elkrun Township — Beaver Local S.D., $28.60 ($32.30); Lisbon Exempted S.D., $32.30 ($32.90).

Fairfield Township — Fairfield-Waterford S.D., $28.70 ($29.40); Columbiana Exempted S.D., $25.70 ($28.80); Columbiana Village, $29.10 ($31.60); Leetonia Village, $35.90 ($38.20).

Proposed By U.S.

Kennedy, Mr. K Telephone Urged

GENEVA (AP) —The United States proposed today the installation of a direct telephone connecting President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev as part of a detailed system for preventing war by miscalculation or accident.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean urged the 17-nation disarmament conference to give careful consideration to ways of keeping the world from blundering into war.

He introduced a six-point program for building up confidence between nations and insuring them against surprise attack or blows delivered by accident.

This whole field, Dean said, "offers opportunities for early agreement which should not be passed by."

He did not mention the recent Cuban crisis, but the proposals which he advanced would reduce the chance of a repetition of such a threat to peace.

The American document contained these major points:

1—The nations would give advance notice of major military movements to allay any fears of ar aggression.

2—Installation of permanent observation posts at railway junctions, ports, key highway intersections and large airfields plus observation by aircraft, mobile ground teams or overlapping radar systems to guard against sneak mobilization.

3—Exchange of military missions by the major powers as a confidence-building measure.

4—Communications links between major capitals to prevent war by miscalculation. A hot telephone between Washington and Moscow—or "purple line" as it is sometimes called—would fall in this category.

5—Studies of the ways in which modern weapons themselves might tend to touch off a war.

6—The various countries would make public the steps they had taken individually to prevent war by accident.

Dean stressed that all the proposals were subject to informal discussions and study to fill in details. He proposed that technical groups be established to do some of this work.

Ceramists' Selection

Dr. Herbert Insley Due To Get Bleininger Award

Dr. Herbert Insley of Washington, a retired employe of the National Bureau of Standards, will receive the 1963 Albert Victor Bleininger Memorial Award for "distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics."

Dr. Insley's selection for the 16th annual award was announced Tuesday night by the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society at a dinner meeting at Stouffer's Restaurant in Pittsburgh.

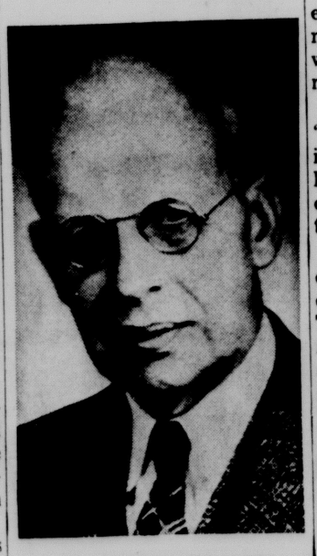
The award was established in 1948 as a memorial to the late Dr. A. V. Bleininger, who was director of research for the Homer Laughlin China Co. The gold medal and scroll symbolizing the award will be presented at a banquet March 8 at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

Dr. Insley retired in 1953 as head of the mineral products division of the National Bureau of Standards, where he started his career in 1922. He took time out from the federal agency to serve one year as head of the department of earth sciences at Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Insley's activities in the ceramic field cover a broad area and include work on a large number of raw materials and products from glass to cement and from clays to diamonds.

Recognized for his explanation of the transition of kaolin to mullite and for development work on synthetic mica, he also contributed greatly to the utilization of synthetic jewels for bearings during the critical shortages of World War II.

He probably is best known for his pioneering work on the applications of petrographic microscopy to ceramic problems and contributions to the constitution, microstructure and thermal chemistry of ceramics, cements and artificial silicates.



DR. HERBERT INSLEY
He'll Get Medal In March.

Since retirement, Dr. Insley has worked as a consultant to many business organizations. He also has served on a technical assistance mission in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, for the United Nations.

He was graduated from Hamilton College in Clinton, N. Y., in 1914 and received a doctor of philosophy degree in 1919 at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. An Army veteran of World War I, he served two years with the U. S. Geological Survey and then joined the Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh. He left the Bureau of Mines to join the Bureau of Standards.

He is a member of numerous technical societies and is a Fellow of the American Ceramic Society, the Geological Society of America and the Mineralogical Society of America.

Dr. Insley was chosen for the

2,000-3,000 Soviet Troops Leave Cuba

U.S. Puts Number Still On Island At 9,000 To 15,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sources estimated today that between 2,000 and 3,000 Soviet troops have left Cuba during the past few weeks.

This withdrawal leaves in Cuba the bulk of Soviet military personnel sent there for missilery and other activities.

Estimates on the number still there range from 9,000 to 15,000. The estimates on the withdrawals also range widely because of difficulty in figuring how many men may be aboard outbound ships.

U.S. officials view the withdrawal as moving at a disappointingly slow pace.

This continuing Soviet military presence in Cuba has been one of the factors keeping the U.S.-Soviet dispute lingering on after the removal of Soviet missiles and bombers.

Premier Khrusuchev has written President Kennedy that Soviet units associated with the offensive weapons will be withdrawn in due course.

But this left a lot to be pinned down. Among other things, it is not known here whether the Kremlin considered the short-range antiaircraft missiles in Cuba to be protection for the longer range offensive weapons—and therefore now intends to withdraw them.

Originally, the administration expressed the view that the Soviet military personnel entering Cuba were advisers and technicians, not troops.

Kennedy said on Aug. 28 that "we have no evidence of troops" in Cuba, and on Sept. 13, at his last news conference before the crisis. He was still referring to technicians.

The Washington assessment changed fast with the discovery of the offensive weapons in Cuba. The Russians themselves were found to be setting up the missile sites, and presumably they would man the missiles.

City Reserve Unit Spared In Cutbacks

Defense Department officials in Washington have notified Co. A, 7th Medium Tank Battalion of the local Army Reserves that it is among the reserve units in the nation to be retained under the new reorganization program ordered by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

A unit of the 68th Armor, 83rd Infantry Division, the 74-member local group is based in East Liverpool and commanded by Capt. John W. Muller Jr. and advised by M.Sgt. Arthur J. Johnson.

The plan involves breaking up eight low - rank infantry divisions and reforming them into more mobile brigades geared to respond quickly in emergencies.

However, Co. A will be retained while about 365 other company and detachment size units will apparently be cut from the reserve list. The local unit is headquartered at the Poplar Ln. Armory.

Ohio Numb In Grip Of Frigid Blast

Sub-Zero Common Throughout State; Snow Drifts 6 Feet

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of thousands of northeast Ohio residents shivered today in the grip of a cold snap while battling snow that drifted as high as six feet in some areas.

Sub - zero temperatures were common throughout the Buckeye state. Lows ranged from 9 below at Toledo in the northwest corner of the state to 1 below at Cleveland, Columbus and Zanesville. Cleveland's temperatures snapped a 45-year record for the date.

Busy Cleveland Hopkins Airport closed down operations at 4 a.m. when visibility dropped and two runways became snow-clogged.

More than 7 inches of new snow fell at the airport in the past 24 hours, includig 2-3 inches during the night. There was 1½ feet on the ground and the snow continued falling in snow squalls.

The Conneaut area, 14 miles east of Ashtabula, ground to a standstill late Tuesday under two feet of new snow that fell at the rate of two inches an hour. This brought the total snowfall there to 30 inches, with more on the way.

Because all roads leading into the area in which some 16,000 live were clogged late Tuesday by snowdrifts, Conneaut Mayor Stanley Robertson declared a state of emergency.

With the approval of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, the mayor ordered 15 Ohio National Guardsmen to remain on duty throughout the night.

Using tanks, heavy-duty trucks and jeeps, the Guardsmen plowed through the snow banks and delivered food, milk and fuel to snow-bound residents.

The heavy equipment also was used to shuttle nurses, doctors and others from their homes to Brown Memorial Hospital on the west side of Conneaut.

Two men died of heart attacks while shoveling snow, raising to 25 the number of storm-related deaths in Ohio since the heavy snowfalls started last week.

Other parts of Ashtabula County also were hard hit and buried under snow that ranged from 24 inches in Jefferson to 43 inches in Ashtabula. Kingsville reported 36 inches on the ground and it was still piling up.

To help frustrated road crews in Ashtabula County, Youngstown sent two graders and a bulldozer late Tuesday night.

The snow that fell along a 100-mile area from Lorain east to the Pennsylvania border preceded a cold wave that moved across the Canadian border. It was expected to drop temperatures to zero and below by dawn throughout the state.

The band of heavy snow squalls that swirled off the 43-degree Lake Erie waters and hammered at several counties along the lake shore was supposed to diminish to snow flurries today. Overnight accumulations up to eight inches were forecast.

State Of Emergency Lifted In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Ralston Westlake lifted a state of emergency today after workmen located a break in a city water line that forced the closing of stores, schools, and offices.

Workmen found the break in a main line just outside the Scioto River pumping station. They began rerouting water around the four-foot main and most of the city was expected to have water again by noon.

HOW LOW CAN YOU GO? The lyric from "The Limbo Rock" prompted Miss Rosalyn Wells, 18, of 247 W. 3rd St. as she and thousands of other in the East Liverpool area wondered how low the mercury will drop tonight. She's preparing to ease under an improvised limbo bar with a thermometer in the background reminding of the low temperature. Rural areas had an official 9 below zero last night. A reading of zero to 5 above is expected for the city tonight.

Relief May Come Early Next Week

Slight Moderation Thursday; Roads Now Clear Of Snow

Temperatures fell to below zero in parts of Columbiana County early today and the district will be plunged farther into the "Deep Freeze" tonight in the biting cold wave that will ease only slightly Thursday.

Below-zero readings were a "dime a dozen" on household thermometers and the official low for the coldest December night in two years was the 9 below recorded by Edwin Copeland at Millport.

The U. S. weather observer said the previous low for December was the 13 below in 1960 and that cold wave was more severe with eight nights of zero or below.

The forecast for Northeast Ohio is a low of zero to 5 below tonight. Northern Ohio counties may get zero to 8 below.

There may be more snow accompanying the extreme cold with squalls forecast for this area, changing to flurries tonight. Some parts of Northeast Ohio may get an accumulation of one to 3 inches with higher terrain near Lake Erie expecting 6 to 8 inches.

The state weatherman said at Columbus temperatures may average 15 to 18 degrees below normal for the next five days.

The slight moderation expected tomorrow will see the return of bitter cold Friday or Saturday with daily snow flurries until Sunday.

There will be a slow warming trend early next week.

The downtown got a bone-chilling one above zero at 7 a. m. for the lowest mark this season, and other unofficial readings were 7 below at Fredericktown, 12 below in Fisher Park, 8 below in Glenmoor and 2 below at Leetonia. An official Ohio Valley mark was the 3 above at Dam 10 at Steubenville.

The State Highway Department garage at Leetonia said all main roads were open. Two patrol trucks were out during the night.

Main roads in the district were in generally good condition today, but with some icy places and hazardous rutty areas, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Secondary roads were all passable, but many were snow - covered and with only one - lane restrictions in places, officers said.

The patrol received no accident reports in the area yesterday or overnight.

U.S.-British Alliance Put To Big Strain

Tentative U.S. Plan To Scrap Skybolt Missile Is Reason

LONDON (AP) — The British-American alliance was put to one of its heaviest strains today by tentative plans of the U.S. Defense Department to scrap the Skybolt missile.

Britain has made plain that junking of the projected missile could lead to a reappraisal of British defense commitments, including the use of Holy Loch in Scotland for a U.S. Polaris submarine base, British informants said.

Reports from the conference Tuesday between U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and British Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft said a tough, blunt argument took place.

Fire Destroys Auto Repair Shop, 2 Cars

$15,000 Loss Seen For Rapid Blaze In St. Clair Township

Fire swept through an auto repair shop in St. Clair Township Tuesday afternoon, destroying the building, two late-model cars and a large supply of mechanics' tools.

Total damage in the blaze at Burchett's Auto Repair shop at the summit of Simmons Rd. near Westfield was estimated unofficially at $15,000.

The fire broke out in the roof or ceiling of the large, concrete-block building and roared out of control in minutes as paint supplies and other flammable materials ignited.

Little Prospect Of Break

Cold Snap And Raw Wind Clamped On Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cold weather and gusty, raw winds held a vise-like grip over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today.

There appeared little prospect of an immediate, general break in the bone-chilling weather.

Record low temperatures were reported in most of the ice belt for the second straight day — 10 days in advance of the official start of the winter season.

In the snow-covered sections of the Northeast, pounded by storms for nearly a week, more heavy snow fell. Weary highway crews struggled to keep the main arteries open. Snow depths measured eight feet in parts of northeastern Ohio.

The main core of the Arctic air centered in the North Central region. Brisk winds powered the sub-zero cold southward to the Gulf Coast and eastward to the Appalachians.

Temperatures far below zero were reported in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, ranging to as low as 18 below in Huron, S.D.

Below-zero marks were general in the Midwest.

The South shivered in the season's coldest weather. It was near zero in sections of North Carolina, Kentucky, Arkansas and Tennessee and in mountain areas of northern Georgia and Alabama.

Florida reeled from the abnormally low temperatures for the second consecutive day. The bitter cold threatened winter vegetables. Damage to crops varied but some estimates are in the millions of dollars. No serious dam-

90-Cent Hike Set For City, School Taxes

10 Subdivisions In County Will Pay More, 35 Less

East Liverpool city and school district real estate taxes will increase 90 cents for each $1,000 valuation for the 1962 tax period, according to rates released today by County Auditor Kenneth Bell. The taxes will be collected in 1963.

Ten subdivisions in the county will have higher rates and 35 will have lower rates as a result of the schedule prepared on the estimated re-evaluation of county property in a new appraisal and other bond issue and levy factors.

East Liverpool city rates will be $35.10 for each $1,000 of property valuation, compared to the $34.20 of the previous tax period.

The East Liverpool School District rate will be $32.20, up from $31.30 of 1961, the schedule shows.

Tax rates in the county will range from a high of $40.80 in Washingtonville to lows of $26 in Southern Local School District in Washington Township and Minerva School District in West Township.

In St. Clair Township, the Beaver Local School District tax rate will drop to $28.90 from the $32.80.

In Wellsville, the city rate will rise from $33.40 to $36.50, and the Wellsville school tax rate will increase from $31.60 to $34.70, the report indicates.

New rates have not yet been set for three subdivisions because final figures have not been received from Mahoning County in which parts of the districts extend.

The estimated valuation of the county is $230,000,000, or up $21 million from the previous valuation of $209 million.

The increase represents new buildings, additions, improvements or higher appraisals due to various economic or geographic factors.

The auditor's office emphasized the appraisal figures are only estimates until final corrections and adjustments are made, but it appears unlikely there will be any major changes.

A spokesman at the auditor's office said the real estate taxes would be based on approximately 40 per cent of the market value of property. It previously had been about 33 per cent.

A breakdown by townships per $1,000 valuation, with 1961 figures in parenthesis, shows:

Butler Township — United Local School District, $29.20 ($32.20); West Branch School District, — ($34.10).

Center Township — United Local S.D., $26.90 ($29.50); Southern Local S.D., $26.30 ($31.00); Lisbon Exempted Village S.D., $32.20 ($32.70); Lisbon Village, $36.70 ($34.60).

Proposed By U.S.

Kennedy, Mr. K Telephone Urged

GENEVA (AP) —The United States proposed today the installation of a direct telephone connecting President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev as part of a detailed system for preventing war by miscalculation or accident.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean urged the 17-nation disarmament conference to give careful consideration to ways of keeping the world from blundering into war.

He introduced a six-point program for building up confidence between nations and insuring them against surprise attack or blows delivered by accident.

This whole field, Dean said, "offers opportunities for early agreement which should not be passed by."

He did not mention the recent Cuban crisis, but the proposals which he advanced would reduce the chance of a repetition of such a threat to peace.

The American document contained these major points:

1—The nations would give advance notice of major military movements to allay any fears of ar aggression.

2—Installation of permanent observation posts at railway junctions, ports, key highway intersections and large airfields plus observation by aircraft, mobile ground teams or overlapping radar systems to guard against sneak mobilization.

3—Exchange of military missions by the major powers as a confidence-building measure.

4—Communications links between major capitals to prevent war by miscalculation. A hot telephone between Washington and Moscow—or "purple line" as it is sometimes called—would fall in this category.

5—Studies of the ways in which modern weapons themselves might tend to touch off a war.

6—The various countries would make public the steps they had taken individually to prevent war by accident.

Dean stressed that all the proposals were subject to informal discussions and study to fill in details. He proposed that technical groups be established to do some of this work.

Ceramists' Selection

Dr. Herbert Insley Due To Get Bleininger Award

Dr. Herbert Insley of Washington, a retired employe of the National Bureau of Standards, will receive the 1963 Albert Victor Bleininger Memorial Award for "distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics."

Dr. Insley's selection for the 16th annual award was announced Tuesday night by the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society at a dinner meeting at Stouffer's Restaurant in Pittsburgh.

The award was established in 1948 as a memorial to the late Dr. A. V. Bleininger, who was director of research for the Homer Laughlin China Co. The gold medal and scroll symbolizing the award will be presented at a banquet March 8 at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

Dr. Insley retired in 1953 as head of the mineral products division of the National Bureau of Standards, where he started his career in 1922. He took time out from the federal agency to serve one year as head of the department of earth sciences at Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Insley's activities in the ceramic field cover a broad area and include work on a large number of raw materials and products from glass to cement and from clays to diamonds.

Recognized for his explanation of the transition of kaolin to mullite and for development work on synthetic mica, he also contributed greatly to the utilization of synthetic jewels for bearings during the critical shortages of World War II.

He probably is best known for his pioneering work on the applications of petrographic microscopy to ceramic problems and contributions to the constitution, microstructure and thermal chemistry of ceramics, cements and artificial silicates.

DR. HERBERT INSLEY
He'll Get Medal In March.

Since retirement, Dr. Insley has worked as a consultant to many business organizations. He also has served on a technical assistance mission in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, for the United Nations.

He was graduated from Hamilton College in Clinton, N. Y., in 1914 and received a doctor of philosophy degree in 1919 at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. An Army veteran of World War I, he served two years with the U. S. Geological Survey and then joined the Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh. He left the Bureau of Mines to join the Bureau of Standards.

He is a member of numerous technical societies and is a Fellow of the American Ceramic Society, the Geological Society of America and the Mineralogical Society of America.

Dr. Insley was chosen for the

2,000-3,000 Soviet Troops Leave Cuba

U.S. Puts Number Still On Island At 9,000 To 15,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sources estimated today that between 2,000 and 3,000 Soviet troops have left Cuba during the past few weeks.

This withdrawal leaves in Cuba the bulk of Soviet military personnel sent there for missilery and other activities.

Estimates on the number still there range from 9,000 to 15,000. The estimates on the withdrawals also range widely because of difficulty in figuring how many men may be aboard outbound ships.

U.S. officials view the withdrawal as moving at a disappointingly slow pace.

This continuing Soviet military presence in Cuba has been one of the factors keeping the U.S.-Soviet dispute lingering on after the removal of Soviet missiles and bombers.

Premier Khrusuchev has written President Kennedy that Soviet units associated with the offensive weapons will be withdrawn in due course.

But this left a lot to be pinned down. Among other things, it is not known here whether the Kremlin considered the short-range antiaircraft missiles in Cuba to be protection for the longer range offensive weapons—and therefore now intends to withdraw them.

Originally, the administration expressed the view that the Soviet military personnel entering Cuba were advisers and technicians, not troops.

Kennedy said on Aug. 28 that "we have no evidence of troops" in Cuba, and on Sept. 13, at his last news conference before the crisis. He was still referring to technicians.

The Washington assessment changed fast with the discovery of the offensive weapons in Cuba. The Russians themselves were found to be setting up the missile sites, and presumably they would man the missiles.

City Reserve Unit Spared In Cutbacks

Defense Department officials in Washington have notified Co. A, 7th Medium Tank Battalion of the local Army Reserves that it is among the reserve units in the nation to be retained under the new reorganization program ordered by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

A unit of the 68th Armor, 83rd Infantry Division, the 74-member local group is based in East Liverpool and commanded by Capt. John W. Muller Jr. and advised by M.Sgt. Arthur J. Johnson.

The plan involves breaking up eight low - rank infantry divisions and reforming them into more mobile brigades geared to respond quickly in emergencies.

However, Co. A will be retained while about 365 other company and detachment size units will apparently be cut from the reserve list. The local unit is headquartered at the Poplar Ln. Armory.

State Of Emergency Lifted In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Ralston Westlake lifted a state of emergency today after workmen located a break in a city water line that forced the closing of stores, schools, and offices.

Workmen found the break in a main line just outside the Scioto River pumping station. They began rerouting water around the four-foot main and most of the city was expected to have water again by noon.

U.S.-British Alliance Put To Big Strain

Tentative U.S. Plan To Scrap Skybolt Missile Is Reason

LONDON (AP) — The British-American alliance was put to one of its heaviest strains today by tentative plans of the U.S. Defense Department to scrap the Skybolt missile.

Britain has made plain that junking of the projected missile could lead to a reappraisal of British defense commitments, including the use of Holy Loch in Scotland for a U.S. Polaris submarine base, British informants said.

Reports from the conference Tuesday between U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and British Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft said a tough, blunt argument took place.

Fire Destroys Auto Repair Shop, 2 Cars

$15,000 Loss Seen For Rapid Blaze In St. Clair Township

Fire swept through an auto repair shop in St. Clair Township Tuesday afternoon, destroying the building, two late-model cars and a large supply of mechanics' tools.

Total damage in the blaze at Burchett's Auto Repair shop at the summit of Simmons Rd. near Westfield was estimated unofficially at $15,000.

The fire broke out in the roof or ceiling of the large, concrete-block building and roared out of control in minutes as paint supplies and other flammable materials ignited.

Little Prospect Of Break

Cold Snap And Raw Wind Clamped On Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cold weather and gusty, raw winds held a vise-like grip over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today.

There appeared little prospect of an immediate, general break in the bone-chilling weather.

Record low temperatures were reported in most of the ice belt for the second straight day — 10 days in advance of the official start of the winter season.

In the snow-covered sections of the Northeast, pounded by storms for nearly a week, more heavy snow fell. Weary highway crews struggled to keep the main arteries open. Snow depths measured eight feet in parts of northeastern Ohio.

The main core of the Arctic air centered in the North Central region. Brisk winds powered the sub-zero cold southward to the Gulf Coast and eastward to the Appalachians.

Temperatures far below zero were reported in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, ranging to as low as 18 below in Huron, S.D.

Below-zero marks were general in the Midwest.

The South shivered in the season's coldest weather. It was near zero in sections of North Carolina, Kentucky, Arkansas and Tennessee and in mountain areas of northern Georgia and Alabama.

Florida reeled from the abnormally low temperatures for the second consecutive day. The bitter cold threatened winter vegetables. Damage to crops varied but some estimates are in the millions of dollars. No serious dam-

Beaver Jury Convicts Man In Entry Charge

A Beaver County Court jury Tuesday returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Verlon L. Truitt of Bellflower, Calif., charged with burglary and larceny of Mickey's Place in Industry Nov. 19.

Richard K. Pander of Beaver Falls, who faced the same charges, had pleaded guilty. Both were arrested by Police Chief Guy St. Esprit.

Committee Meets

Scout Group Discusses Training Session Plans

Don Theiss reported on a series of training sessions to begin January at a meeting of the Cherokee Boy Scout District committee Tuesday night at the Chester American Legion Home.

The first will be a basic training session for all adult Cub Scout leaders. No date has been set. A training session for Boy Scout and Explorer Scout leaders will be held in succeeding months.

Robert Gray, district executive, gave the commissioner's report in the absence of Eugene Seeley, district commissioner. He said three new men have been inducted into the commissioners' staff. At least five more are needed. Anyone interested may contact Gray or Seeley.

Tom Snow, district chairman, conducted business. Gray gave the finance report in the absence of James Laughlin of Wellsville. Three of the four independent Scout drives are completed. Summitville, Salineville and West Point have finished fund drives with Salineville topping its goal.

Wellsville is not complete. Jerry Russell is chairman. Bill Rayburn, camping and activities chairman, said 276 boys and leaders participate in the Christmas parade in East Liverpool. He also reported on plans for the winter camp Jan. 4-6 at Camp McKinley at Lisbon.

A discussion was held on arrangements for observance of Boy Scout Week Feb. 7-15. All units are asked to prepare window displays. A scout recruiting station may be set up in East Liverpool.

A discussion was held on the possibility of holding a district dinner. Gray reported on a scholarship fund for a scoutmaster and his wife to attend Philmont Scout Ranch. A minister also may attend.

A special organization and extension course will be held Jan. 26-27 at Mendham, N. Y. The council has a subscription of Boys Life magazine in Braille. Any blind boy or girl may obtain it free.

Used Cub Scout and Boy Scout uniforms are needed. Anyone with used uniforms to sell or donate may contact Gray at EV. 7-1452.

The monthly district roundtable will be tonight at 7:30 at the YMCA.

Judge Chertoff Fines Motorists For 3 Violations

Three motorists arrested for traffic violations by city police and the State Highway Patrol were fined a total of $30 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

William Brown of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of reckless driving by failure to yield the right - of - way. He was cited by the patrol Dec. 3 following a collision between his truck and an auto on Route 7. Brown pleaded guilty.

Miss Mary Jane Stoffel, 733 Midland Ave., Midland, was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge. She was cited Tuesday at 7:55 a. m. by Patrolman William A. Devon.

The officer said she passed a car at an intersection on Pennsylvania Ave., passed another although the street was "slippery and hazardous" and drove 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." She pleaded "no contest."

Newell Burchett, 923 Township Line Rd., was fined $5 and costs on a charge he made an illegal right turn off Washington St. onto E. 5th St. He was cited at 5:40 p.m. Saturday.

Best right - handed hitter in the American League last season was Washington's Chuck Hinton. He hit .310. Baltimore's Brooks Robinson was next with .303.

Wood County Area Okays School Levy

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Residents of Northwood, formerly Ross Twp., in northern Wood County approved an 8.6 - mill school operating levy, 559 to 339 Tuesday.

The school board had warned that a second defeat for the proposal, which lost in the Nov. 6 election, would necessitate a cutback in school services, including bus service for all except elementary pupils residing more than two miles from school.

Baltimore barely nosed out Los Angeles for the American League team pitching title last season, 3.692 to 3.695 in the earned run records.

When Politics Is Like Baseball

Only a Democratic party insider could give an authoritative rundown on what is shaping up as a right for control of the organiation—and even the insiders wouldn't agree.

But it was obvious after the November shellacking that a shakeup would be forthcoming, and it was a fair guess that when it happened Sen. Stephen M. Young would be a shaker.

Beyond that, nothing was obvious and few things guessable.

When political parties have a bad season, they are like baseball clubs. The next step is to rebuild in the hope of capturing the popular fancy for the next time around.

THE FIRST THING in rebuildig is to bring in new faces. In baseball, they fire the manager. If they don't think that's enough, they trade some players to the opposition and bring in new faces.

This is where the shakeup problem gets sticky in politics. It is conceivable that State Democratic Chairman William Coleman might be replaced, but bringing in new faces elsewhere isn't that easy.

As Sen. Young has put it, he himself is one of the top elected Democratic officials, and no one is going to replace him before his term expires. Nor can anyone replace Sen. Frank J. Lausche, who has just been re-elected for six more years and has little in common with Sen. Young.

And even though Gov. Michael V. DiSalle was overwhelmingly defeated in his bid for a second four-year term, even he cannot be whisked away, nor can any of the other Democratic personalities who went down to defeat with him in a state Republican landslide.

WHETHER SEN. YOUNG likes it or not, they are the Democratic party in Ohio and what happened to them could happen to him if he seeks renomination and re-election in 1964.

Like Gov. DiSalle, he won in 1958 not by the sheer attractiveness of his political personality but because the proposed right-to-work amendment on the ballot that year was poison for Republican candidates.

Before Sen. Young promises more than he can deliver in the way of shaking up the Ohio Democratic organization, he should recall the election results in 1960 and again in 1962. It wasn't the manager's fault.

Cuba Is Not A Rest Camp

Secretary of State Rusk has given us assurance that Soviet troops in Cuba are being "watched carefully" and are being withdrawn gradually.

The assurance does not assure.

No one knows how many Russians are in Cuba, just as no one knows how many missiles and bombers were there.

No one knows how many troops have been or will be taken out. Unlike the missiles and bombers there isn't even a Russian statement covering their departure—only a promise that cannot be taken at face value.

Only one thing is clear, definite and absolutely certain.

Russian troops in Cuba (they are no longer referred to as "technicians") are not there for their health. Cuba is not a rest camp for the Red army.

They are doing something pursuant to the estimated billion-dollar project of turning Cuba into an arsenal of communism in this hemisphere.

They are preparing mischief against the United States and the New World.

When the mischief is ready, it will be loosed against its intended victims in this hemisphere. It is no longer Fidel Castro the Cuban communist that threatens hemispheric stability. It is upward of 15,000 Red army troops fully prepared to use Castro and his misled people for a grand design of conquest.

For a time it was possible to feel encouraged because Soviet missiles and bombers apparently were being taken out of Cuba. There is no encouragement left on that score.

Until all the Russian troops go home and the United States counts them going up the gangplank, then scours the boondocks to see if any are left over, the Cuba crisis will be as critical as it ever was.

They Try So Hard To Die

The same theme is running through every year-end business review — this country is in fine condition for the shape it's in.

Once more the economic hypochondriacs who try so hard to die were unable to pull it off. The people of the United States saved them from their fate. The people never let conditions get as bad as the hypochondriacs were sure they should be.

The people continued to believe in themselves and in the "affluent life" that lately is spoken of instead of the "world's highest standard of living," though it's the same thing.

The people deplored statistics showing a high rate of unemployment while exulting over statistics showing new highs for employment and for earnings resulting from the increasing efficiency of automated production.

They paid attention to gloomy forecasts of what would happen to this and that unless something could be done immediately here and there while thumbing through advertisements for new automobiles, appliances, boats and houses.

They swallowed hard while pessimists murmured darkly of all the awful things in store, then went on the greatest summer vacation spree of history.

They furrowed their brows over predictions of what they the people were supposed to do and, giving no thought to the embarrassment they would cause, did the opposite.

It is as though the people of the United States disassociated statistics on their economic welfare from the way they actually feel, which is as it should be. The statistics show only what happened at some previous time. They do not reflect present feelings or conditions.

The people themselves make up their minds about what they intend to do and act accordingly. If they feel good, they do not let economic hypochondriacs talk them out of it.

At the close of 1962, on the whole, the people feel good. If it weren't for unemployment at the same time there is record employment, they would feel boom-boom-boomy wonderful

Risk Absolute: Safety Relative

It pays to be scared of all holiday accident forecasts. Being scared may save your life and the lives of passengers in your car. This is the way it works:

The risk of driving and riding in an auto is a statistical absolute. At this time it is 5.2 deaths for every 100 million passenger miles.

This has been a comforting statistic, as a matter of fact, because the risk in 1941 was 12 deaths for every 100 million passenger miles. It has been growing smaller for 21 years.

There are signs now that it may be growing larger in the near future for reasons that safety engineers cannot pin down exactly. But knowing what the absolute risk is, any driver can cut his individual risk to the disappearing point by his own actions.

It would not be hard to find 100 skilled drivers who have driven a million miles apiece without having an accident, let alone a fatality. They would be either professionals or amateurs with professional skill. And they would agree that one secret of their safety records was special caution during holiday seasons.

The risk is always there. It is absolute. But safety is relative to the driver. He can control his own safety by the skill and prudence he brings to the job of operating a car. Do your best to be around for 1963.

Paying The Piper

In show business performers lie about their age until so much has accumulated that it becomes a distinction. Then they boast about it.

The illusionists in this case are the realists. They know the world has no sympathy for the old bull walrus, or his old wife either—that it's natural law for youngsters to push out the oldsters to make things easier for the rising generation.

That's the way it was done in the generation ahead. It will done the same way in the generation to come.

The West Germans, or rather some of their politicians, are pushing out Konrad Adenauer, who will be 87 next month. They are doing it in the same spirit of making way for newcomers as the British showed when they threw out Winston Churchill.

The French politician tried to throw out Charles de Gaulle recently on the same grounds but were unsuccessful. No one can be sure what would have happened here in 1960 if the politicians hadn't bulled through a two-term limit for presidents, but there would have been an effort to topple Dwight Eisenhower on the basis of his age too.

But don't get the wrong idea.

This is the way it should be. The world's work should be done by the young, who also should make the main decisions. They alone are ignorant enough to do this without cracking up under pressure. They don't know enough to be afraid of being wrong.

Besides, oldsters always end up in a familiar rut, which isn't always a bad idea but is murder if their rut isn't going in the right direction. Their trouble is that being in the rut they don't care much which direction it's going. What counts most for an oldster is the rut itself and the security thereof.

What was good enough for them is good enough for themselves now that they are grandfathers; it works like that. Like Chancellor Adenauer, who apparently is as smart as he ever was. But he's no smarter than he ever was, and the West German politicians apparently figure it's time to try some ideas that haven't been tried before.

This is not naturally an oldsters' world, despite their skillful efforts to stay in the saddle until they've worn out the horse. Except for a few activities like law, which puts a premium on age, youngsters have the edge.

Businessmen Plan Political 'Arm'

By Victor Riesel

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Midway in this post - election swing through the cities which made big political news just about a month ago, I am, appropriately enough, in the town of shrines to Abraham Lincoln. I say appropriately enough because the Republicans everywhere have begun organizing this early for the big drive against the Democratic forces in '64.

Victor Riesel

I left New York on the very evening that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was quietly hosting a small dinner. His guests were influential New York labor leaders who can swing heavy forces in the presidential campaign.

Mr. Rockefeller and his guests did not talk much politics. The governor wanted to thank them for their support in the recent gubernatorial drive. But there was no doubt among the diners that this was the first of many such gatherings — which might keep them from swinging back to John Kennedy in 20 months.

NOT LONG afterwards I arrived in Chicago. There I found Republicans gleeful because their "Big City" committee program had helped them crack the bailiwick of powerful Mayor Richard Daley. Republicans took wards from the Democrats in the last election which had not gone GOP many times since the Great Fire.

In Cook County Dirksen got 48.8 per cent of the vote, topping Dick Nixon's 43.5 per cent in 1960.

Now the Republicans are seriously talking of defeating the mayor in next year's April election as a prelude to taking this state. They are quietly probing everything from the B-girl clip joints, to the sales of corner newspaper stands, to the distribution of liquor and cafe licenses which is a city function there.

I hit Springfield while a group of influential businessmen were meeting. Many are Republicans. Some of them caucused. They talked not only of the color and drama of President Kennedy but of his smooth political machinery.

LATER, while discussing this caucus, one industrialist said he had told his colleagues of a speech Robert Kennedy delivered in Milwaukee on Oct. 6, 1962. I checked out a copy of the speech. What had impressed the businessman, who was in the heavy construction field, was the following section from the attorney general's talk:

"Of course, there also are very personal reasons why I'm happy to be back here. As I look out among you, I see a great many friends and familiar faces. I suppose this should not be surprising when you consider that during the three months of the campaign, I visited every town in the western part of the state with a population greater than 300 and that a Kennedy has visited every town in the whole state with a population over 700."

It is this kind of campaigning which the Republicans everywhere now are planning to match. But their plans, and those of the businessmen opposed to the matching the strategy and scope of the labor movement's political machinery called COPE — the Committee on Political Education.

Wherever I went I found businessmen speaking of accomplishing this with something called BIPAC—Business - Industrial Political Action Committee. It is not yet organized. It is still in the talking stage. But it is an idea which has caught the imagination of the nation's "rank and file" businessmen.

BIPAC WAS BORN, if I can use that word, about something still nebulous, in the headquarters of the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), which has some 17,000 business firm members.

For some two months now some of the NAM executives have been trial ballooning the idea from coast to coast. It was best described in a speech by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., executive vice president of the NAM.

"Although there has been much talk," said Sligh, "about businessmen in politics over recent years, the business community has no nationwide political arm at all equivalent to COPE. Nor is it in a position to render similar support to the candidates who favor the business viewpoint or oppose the election of those who do not.

"The professional politician wants above all things to get elected or re-elected and when the chips are down is going to go to where he believes the votes lie. As long as he believes COPE holds the key to his future, we are going to have more and more drift toward a collectivized society.

"THEREFORE, to really clinch the job there ought to be created with all possible speed a direct political action organization to be known possibly as BIPAC. . . . Its support would have to come from individuals, not corporations—from the millions of people throughout the country who are seeking some means of giving effect to conservative political viewpoints.

"The purpose of the organization would be to offset the vote-getting power of COPE and make the politician less dependent on the good-will of union leaders for survival. . . ."

Thus it is in scores of cities. There are many approaches—but all political roads and techniques lead to 1964.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The other morning as I was about to enter my car to go to work, I glanced toward the east and there high upon Walkers Cliff was a large cross.

I may have missed something along my path of life in respect to my religious knowledge, but the cross to me was always the symbol of Christ's resurrection from that terrible means of torture. He was tenderly removed from there and buried in a tomb from whence he arose to sit at the right hand of God, the Father Almighty.

Although the shining cross signifies victory over death and glory to all who follow Him, I still feel it is out of place when displayed at Christmas-time.

It was a bright shining star that showed the Shepherds and the Wise Men the way to the lowly manger and the Christ Child. The cross did not play a part in the life of Jesus until he had grown to manhood and performed the works that were laid out for Him to do even before He was born.

Although we are really living in changing times, I can't conceive the idea of displaying a "marker" or "tombstone" on anybody's birthday.

Great Britain's Role

By David Lawrence

British Still A Vital Cog In Keeping World Peace

Great Britain's special position in the world has lately been the subject of a controversy unwittingly provoked by Dean Acheson, former secretary of state of the United States. In a speech before a student conference on U. S. affairs at West Point a week ago, he said:

David Lawrence

"Great Britain has lost an empire and has not yet found a role. The attempt to play a separate power role . . . based on a 'special relationship' with the United States, a role based on being the head of a 'commonwealth' which has no political structure, or unity, or strength. . . this role is about played out."

Now, Mr. Acheson's whole speech has to be read to get the true meaning he tried to convey for, in a military sense, Britain is no longer a world leader and has no special position. This is true of almost every nation except the Soviet Union and the United States, which alone possess great nuclear power.

Mr. Acheson did not and could not downgrade the influence of Great Britain in the world but if ever there were a time when the decades of skillful experience in diplomacy developed in Britain were needed, it is today.

THE BRITISH newspapers naturally reacted unfavorably to Mr. Acheson's speech. Some thought that maybe this was an expression of the viewpoint of the Kennedy administration, with which the former secretary of state has been identified recently as a spokesman at meetings of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The government here has made it plain that the speech at West Point was not an official expression but a personal view.

But why should it be necessary to speak of the role of Great Britain in the world as having undergone a climactic change? While Britain no longer has a vast empire, its influence is deeply imbedded in every commonwealth country. It lost its biggest colony in this hemisphere in 1776, and this did not mean the end of British influence in America. Throughout the years that have passed since then, Britain and the United States have often stood together to shape the policies of the free world.

Are military power and a large population really necessary for a nation in order to play a prominent role in world affairs? In a period of nuclear stalemate, it is more than ever the spirit and resoluteness of a nation in the councils of the world that can play an influential role in shaping the destinies of mankind.

Britain has made mistakes in national policy, and what nation, including the United States hasn't?

A young senior in Harvard in 1940 wrote a book called "Why England Slept." Now, 22 years later, he happens to be President of the United States and is confronted with criticisms that he, too, slept while Russia built up a powerful offensive base for missiles in Cuba, only 90 miles away from the United States.

MR. KENNEDY is a realist, and, as he said in his book, World War II found us all unprepared militarily. He wrote:

"We can't escape the fact that democracy in America, like democracy in England, has been asleep at the switch."

Just recently, however, the President in a speech was able to point with pride to the record of the United States in the last 17 years "in the maintenance of freedom in the world." It is a record based not merely on military power but also on financial and economic strength, as well as moral force.

Indeed, as Mr. Kennedy pointed out over the weekend, it is the "will and courage" of a nation that are all - important. Nobody can ever forget the will and courage of the British people as the Nazi rockets fell upon their country day after day in the fateful years of World War II.

Winston Churchill, as prime minister, was able to immortalize the British spirit with his famous speech on "Britain's finest hour." His address was delivered in Parliament even as the bombs were falling on London.

However stubborn British statesmen may be in their opposition at times to American proposals and however mistaken they may have been during the 1930's in carrying a sincere desire to avoid war to a point that is often called "appeasement," the fact remains that more than ever today restraint and resourcefulness of mediation - diplomacy are necessary to avoid a nuclear war.

Many people still think that military threats and counterthreats will prevent the next war. There is also vehement criticism of the persons who advise caution and who are accused of going "soft" in a crisis. But sometimes the persons with a penchant from mediation or compromising everything do manage to gain time for each side to reflect soberly on the possible consequences of a mistaken impulsiveness.

LOCAL DISTURBANCES frequently require military intervention. The big wars — indeed, two world wars — might have been averted if the spirit of the peoples on both sides could have been better understood by those who wielded military power. Once President Wilson used the phrase "peace without victory" and was pilloried in the press by those who thought he meant surrender. Yet both World War I and World War II proved that what usually ensues after war is truly "peace without victory."

Neither Britain nor any other nation has played out its role in the great mission of all democracies: to find a way — especially today in a nuclear age — to mobilize the spirit of all peoples, including those behind the Iron Curtain, in the crusade for world peace.

Good Time Santa

By Richard Spong

Santa, baby, just slip a sable under the tree—for me—
Been an awful good girl, Santa Baby — so hurry down the chimney tonight.—From an old Eartha Kitt madrigal.

Some people seem to know what the ancient minnesinger who caroled about the 12 days of Christmas had in mind. People like Nieman - Marcus, Sulka's, Abercrombie & Fitch, Cartier, Van Cleef and Arpels—that bunch. What they have in store for you this year!

Nieman - Marcus is even taking some of the load off Santa's aching back. The Texas department store is offering a confidential shopping service for "customers who find themselves in the position of sending gifts to those in high position — kings, shahs, maharajahs, prime ministers and other dignitaries." Billing will be by telephone only and the nature of such gifts will be divulged "only on a court subpoena." So now they're telling Billy Sol?

AS USUAL, most of the Yule loot is fashioned for milady. Hattie Carnegie, for example, is offering a "Carole Lombard dinner pajama" at a swift $275. But N. & M. makes that look like an outfit for a cheap date with its white cowboy (girl) chaps at $1,875. They come with matching white silk satin blouse ($90), satin pants ($90), white kidskin belt ($30), and cowboy hat ($250). Honest to Pete, that's what the catalogue says.

That French perfume is still advertising itself chastely as the "costliest in the world." Cartier has for madame an "Indian Chief with emerald headband, sapphire eyes and diamond moccasins" at a conservative $985. Federal tax is included, natch.

For something far out, a mail order jeweler will send you solid gold garters at $15 each or $55 a set of four. (Reliable sources report that to keep stockings really straight a girdle should have six.)

Not that Old Dad is being exactly shrubbed. A. Sulka & Company (Anybody ever figure what the A. stands for?) has issued its usual "list of immodest gift suggestions" featuring handsome leopard skin gloves priced at $125. And Sulka always is ready to do up his-and-her lounging robes at $1,200 the set. The material is vicuna (remember?).

For the outdoor type, Abercrombie has a gun at $3,200, not including tax. Or how about N. & M.'s real Chinese junk at $11,500, f.o.b. Houston?

The International Silk Association has conned some necktie people into whipping up four-in-hands named for heroes of the arts. Sulka's Shakespeare comes at $4.95, but for Chopin Countess Mara wants 30 cotton - pickin' bucks.

"Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat,
Please to put a penny in the old man's hat."

They are quietly probing everything from the B-girl clip joints, to the sales of corner newspaper stands, to the distribution of liquor and cafe licenses which is a city function there.

I hit Springfield while a group of influential businessmen were meeting. Many are Republicans. Some of them caucused. They talked not only of the color and drama of President Kennedy but of his smooth political machinery.

LATER, while discussing this caucus, one industrialist said he had told his colleagues of a speech Robert Kennedy delivered in Milwaukee on Oct. 6, 1962. I checked out a copy of the speech. What had impressed the businessman, who was in the heavy construction field, was the following section from the attorney general's talk:

"Of course, there also are very personal reasons why I'm happy to be back here. As I look out among you, I see a great many friends and familiar faces. I suppose this should not be surprising when you consider that during the three months of the campaign, I visited every town in the western part of the state with a population greater than 300 and that a Kennedy has visited every town in the whole state with a population over 700."

It is this kind of campaigning which the Republicans everywhere now are planning to match. But their plans, and those of the businessmen opposed to the matching the strategy and scope of the labor movement's political machinery called COPE — the Committee on Political Education.

Wherever I went I found businessmen speaking of accomplishing this with something called BIPAC—Business - Industrial Political Action Committee. It is not yet organized. It is still in the talking stage. But it is an idea which has caught the imagination of the nation's "rank and file" businessmen.

BIPAC WAS BORN, if I can use that word, about something still nebulous, in the headquarters of the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), which has some 17,000 business firm members.

For some two months now some of the NAM executives have been trial ballooning the idea from coast to coast. It was best described in a speech by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., executive vice president of the NAM.

"Although there has been much talk," said Sligh, "about businessmen in politics over recent years, the business community has no nationwide political arm at all equivalent to COPE. Nor is it in a position to render similar support to the candidates who favor the business viewpoint or oppose the election of those who do not.

"The professional politician wants above all things to get elected or re-elected and when the chips are down is going to go to where he believes the votes lie. As long as he believes COPE holds the key to his future, we are going to have more and more drift toward a collectivized society.

"THEREFORE, to really clinch the job there ought to be created with all possible speed a direct political action organization to be known possibly as BIPAC. . . . Its support would have to come from individuals, not corporations—from the millions of people throughout the country who are seeking some means of giving effect to conservative political viewpoints.

"The purpose of the organization would be to offset the vote-getting power of COPE and make the politician less dependent on the good-will of union leaders for survival. . . ."

Thus it is in scores of cities. There are many approaches—but all political roads and techniques lead to 1964.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The other morning as I was about to enter my car to go to work, I glanced toward the east and there high upon Walkers Cliff was a large cross.

I may have missed something along my path of life in respect to my religious knowledge, but the cross to me was always the symbol of Christ's resurrection from that terrible means of torture. He was tenderly removed from there and buried in a tomb from whence he arose to sit at the right hand of God, the Father Almighty.

Although the shining cross signifies victory over death and glory to all who follow Him, I still feel it is out of place when displayed at Christmas-time.

It was a bright shining star that showed the Shepherds and the Wise Men the way to the lowly manger and the Christ Child. The cross did not play a part in the life of Jesus until he had grown to manhood and performed the works that were laid out for Him to do even before He was born.

Although we are really living in changing times, I can't conceive the idea of displaying a "marker" or "tombstone" on anybody's birthday.

Great Britain's Role

By David Lawrence

British Still A Vital Cog In Keeping World Peace

Great Britain's special position in the world has lately been the subject of a controversy unwittingly provoked by Dean Acheson, former secretary of state of the United States. In a speech before a student conference on U. S. affairs at West Point a week ago, he said:

David Lawrence

"Great Britain has lost an empire and has not yet found a role. The attempt to play a separate power role . . . based on a 'special relationship' with the United States, a role based on being the head of a 'commonwealth' which has no political structure, or unity, or strength. . . this role is about played out."

Now, Mr. Acheson's whole speech has to be read to get the true meaning he tried to convey for, in a military sense, Britain is no longer a world leader and has no special position. This is true of almost every nation except the Soviet Union and the United States, which alone possess great nuclear power.

Mr. Acheson did not and could not downgrade the influence of Great Britain in the world but if ever there were a time when the decades of skillful experience in diplomacy developed in Britain were needed, it is today.

THE BRITISH newspapers naturally reacted unfavorably to Mr. Acheson's speech. Some thought that maybe this was an expression of the viewpoint of the Kennedy administration, with which the former secretary of state has been identified recently as a spokesman at meetings of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The government here has made it plain that the speech at West Point was not an official expression but a personal view.

But why should it be necessary to speak of the role of Great Britain in the world as having undergone a climactic change? While Britain no longer has a vast empire, its influence is deeply imbedded in every commonwealth country. It lost its biggest colony in this hemisphere in 1776, and this did not mean the end of British influence in America. Throughout the years that have passed since then, Britain and the United States have often stood together to shape the policies of the free world.

Are military power and a large population really necessary for a nation in order to play a prominent role in world affairs? In a period of nuclear stalemate, it is more than ever the spirit and resoluteness of a nation in the councils of the world that can play an influential role in shaping the destinies of mankind.

Britain has made mistakes in national policy, and what nation, including the United States hasn't?

A young senior in Harvard in 1940 wrote a book called "Why England Slept." Now, 22 years later, he happens to be President of the United States and is confronted with criticisms that he, too, slept while Russia built up a powerful offensive base for missiles in Cuba, only 90 miles away from the United States.

MR. KENNEDY is a realist, and, as he said in his book, World War II found us all unprepared militarily. He wrote:

"We can't escape the fact that democracy in America, like democracy in England, has been asleep at the switch."

Just recently, however, the President in a speech was able to point with pride to the record of the United States in the last 17 years "in the maintenance of freedom in the world." It is a record based not merely on military power but also on financial and economic strength, as well as moral force.

Indeed, as Mr. Kennedy pointed out over the weekend, it is the "will and courage" of a nation that are all - important. Nobody can ever forget the will and courage of the British people as the Nazi rockets fell upon their country day after day in the fateful years of World War II.

Winston Churchill, as prime minister, was able to immortalize the British spirit with his famous speech on "Britain's finest hour." His address was delivered in Parliament even as the bombs were falling on London.

However stubborn British statesmen may be in their opposition at times to American proposals and however mistaken they may have been during the 1930's in carrying a sincere desire to avoid war to a point that is often called "appeasement," the fact remains that more than ever today restraint and resourcefulness of mediation - diplomacy are necessary to avoid a nuclear war.

Many people still think that military threats and counterthreats will prevent the next war. There is also vehement criticism of the persons who advise caution and who are accused of going "soft" in a crisis. But sometimes the persons with a penchant from mediation or compromising everything do manage to gain time for each side to reflect soberly on the possible consequences of a mistaken impulsiveness.

LOCAL DISTURBANCES frequently require military intervention. The big wars — indeed, two world wars — might have been averted if the spirit of the peoples on both sides could have been better understood by those who wielded military power. Once President Wilson used the phrase "peace without victory" and was pilloried in the press by those who thought he meant surrender. Yet both World War I and World War II proved that what usually ensues after war is truly "peace without victory."

Neither Britain nor any other nation has played out its role in the great mission of all democracies: to find a way — especially today in a nuclear age — to mobilize the spirit of all peoples, including those behind the Iron Curtain, in the crusade for world peace.

Good Time Santa

By Richard Spong

Santa, baby, just slip a sable under the tree—for me—
Been an awful good girl, Santa Baby — so hurry down the chimney tonight.—From an old Eartha Kitt madrigal.

Some people seem to know what the ancient minnesinger who caroled about the 12 days of Christmas had in mind. People like Nieman - Marcus, Sulka's, Abercrombie & Fitch, Cartier, Van Cleef and Arpels—that bunch. What they have in store for you this year!

Nieman - Marcus is even taking some of the load off Santa's aching back. The Texas department store is offering a confidential shopping service for "customers who find themselves in the position of sending gifts to those in high position — kings, shahs, maharajahs, prime ministers and other dignitaries." Billing will be by telephone only and the nature of such gifts will be divulged "only on a court subpoena." So now they're telling Billy Sol?

AS USUAL, most of the Yule loot is fashioned for milady. Hattie Carnegie, for example, is offering a "Carole Lombard dinner pajama" at a swift $275. But N. & M. makes that look like an outfit for a cheap date with its white cowboy (girl) chaps at $1,875. They come with matching white silk satin blouse ($90), satin pants ($90), white kidskin belt ($30), and cowboy hat ($250). Honest to Pete, that's what the catalogue says.

That French perfume is still advertising itself chastely as the "costliest in the world." Cartier has for madame an "Indian Chief with emerald headband, sapphire eyes and diamond moccasins" at a conservative $985. Federal tax is included, natch.

For something far out, a mail order jeweler will send you solid gold garters at $15 each or $55 a set of four. (Reliable sources report that to keep stockings really straight a girdle should have six.)

Not that Old Dad is being exactly shrubbed. A. Sulka & Company (Anybody ever figure what the A. stands for?) has issued its usual "list of immodest gift suggestions" featuring handsome leopard skin gloves priced at $125. And Sulka always is ready to do up his-and-her lounging robes at $1,200 the set. The material is vicuna (remember?).

For the outdoor type, Abercrombie has a gun at $3,200, not including tax. Or how about N. & M.'s real Chinese junk at $11,500, f.o.b. Houston?

The International Silk Association has conned some necktie people into whipping up four-in-hands named for heroes of the arts. Sulka's Shakespeare comes at $4.95, but for Chopin Countess Mara wants 30 cotton - pickin' bucks.

"Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat,
Please to put a penny in the old man's hat."

Lights Asked At Ohioville Intersections

Several residents attended a meeting of the Ohioville Borough Council Tuesday night and suggested a survey be made of the number of intersections for possible lighting.

Favorable comment was reported on a mercury - type light installed at Route 168 and Tuscarawas Rd. The residents asked that Council pay for the lighting rather than residents.

Mayor Elmer Gifford suggested that incandescent lighting might be used.

Because of snow drifting in various places in the borough the road committee was asked to consider the purchase snow fence for next year.

Councilman Richard Rice, finance chairman, reported work has started on the budget for next year.

Because of the absence of several councilmen, an ordinance on subdivision and development regulations was tabled until the meeting Jan. 3.

A special public meeting will be held Dec. 20 at 7:30 p. m. at the Borough Building for a discussion with the Reed heirs on the road problem in the Reed housing plan.

Anthony Perrotto, vice president, presided in the absence of George Gailey Jr., president.

building, and his son, William T. Burchett, managed to save two of four cars that were inside the building undergoing repairs.

But a 1961 model Nash Rambler owned by a Pittsburgh customer and the 1960 Studebaker Lark of the younger Burchett were destroyed. The operators saved an F85 Oldsmobile and a Chevrolet from the raging fire.

Also destroyed were new auto repair tools recently purchased by William T. Burchett, valued at about $1,800, paint supplies, an air compressor, electric welder and other equipment used in the business.

The younger Burchett was talking on the phone when the fire broke out, and realized something was amiss when the line went dead. He heard a crackling sound in the ceiling as the flames licked at the wooden roof, and immediately summoned firemen.

Glenmoor volunteer firemen arrived with eight men and two trucks, and the LaCroft department sent 10 volunteers, but the shop was almost entirely in flames when they arrived.

However, firemen played water on a nearby home and it was saved with only the paint on the exterior walls scorched from the intense heat.

Freezing temperatures and snow-choked roads hampered firemen in their efforts to arrive in time to prevent the auto shop from being completely destroyed.

Fire Chief Leonard Congrove of Glenmoor said the cause still is undetermined, although an electrical short in wiring may have been to blame.

The alarm was received at 3:15. Glenmoor firemen returned about four hours later to extinguish flames in the blackened structure after they re-ignited.

Election Due Sunday For Liberty Players

The Liberty Players, composed of area residents interested in the theater, will hold election of officers Sunday afternoon at 2 at the Wellsville City Hall Council Chambers.

The nominating committee is headed by Myron Weis. Mrs. Floreine Broderick is chairman.

Plans for the election were outlined at a meeting of the group Monday night. A steering committee has been named to prepare a constitution and bylaws.

Rehearsals will begin in January for the play "Who Killed Aunt Caroline?" This will be the third production of the group.

It was announced the play will not be presented until the latter part of March.

Wellsville Kiwanians Discuss Sale Of Trees

A roundtable discussion on the forthcoming Christmas tree sale was held at a meeting of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at the Hotel Wilk.

The sale was to have opened the past weekend but the trees have not been delivered. They apparently are delayed because of the weather.

The sale will be on Grafton's car lot on Main St. Eighteen attended.

Quota Holds Annual Party

An impromptu Christmas program highlighted the annual party of the Quota Club Tuesday night with Miss Mildred McGregor of Broadview Circle.

Miss Gladys DeBolt directed a playlet, "The Fruit Cake Recipe." The cast consisted of Mrs. Eleanor Boice, Miss Phyllis Crook, Dr. Edith Gilmore and Mrs. Doris Locke.

Caroling was directed by Mrs. Clara Hall with bell accompaniment by Miss Luella Thompson, Mrs. May Hartt, Mrs. Marie Hays and Mrs. Nellie McLain. The song booklets that were distributed featured a holiday design. Name tags were decorated art paper ornaments.

Mrs. Dorothy Horsley, charter president, was presented an orchid corsage in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. McLain, president, conducted business. Mrs. Hall read the minutes. Correspondence included a letter from the Youngstown Speech and Hearing Clinic Center in regards to present activities.

Mrs. Hays, ways and means chairman, reported further on the recent travelogue series and a discussion was held on sponsoring the project next year.

In lieu of a gift exchange, members made contributions to the Kent State University Scholarship fund.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Helen McGregor and Miss Hester McGregor, her sisters, and Miss Mary White, associate hostess.

The buffet table, covered with an orchid cloth, featured a centerpiece of pine branches, cones and holly. Twisted white tapers in silver candelabra completed the setting. Mrs. McLain and Miss White poured at the silver tea and coffee services. The home was decorated in keeping with the season. Favors were ballpoint pens.

Next luncheon meeting is Jan. 8 at the Travelers Hotel.

Sanity Exam To Be Asked

Assistant District Atty. Peter Steege said he would ask Beaver County Judge Robert McCreary this afternoon to appoint a sanity commission to examine Clarence E. Burroughs, 40, of Rochester, who has been indicted for the murder of William (Duke) Snyder, 62, of Wampum R. D. 2.

Steege wants a doctor, a lawyer and at least one psychiatrist appointed to the commission for recommendations on whether Burroughs should stand trial.

Burroughs was confined for about seven years during the 1940's by a sanity commission appointed by the courts. At that time, he was in custody on a morals charge, authorities said.

Snyder was last seen alive Aug. 12 and his body discovered Oct. 21. Burroughs several times confessed then denied the killing.

Soviet Averted Attack On Cuba, Mr. K Says

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told the Supreme Soviet today that his government had prevented an attack on Cuba by the "aggressive circles" of the United States.

He said the Soviet Union "did, and is doing, all that is necessary for the preservation of peace."

The premier pledged that his country would steadfastly continue to follow what he called the "Leninist policy of peaceful coexistence." This policy has come under frequent attack from the hard-line Communists in Red China and Albania.

Khrushchev went to the Supreme Soviet accompanied by President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Retort To Young's Demands

Coleman Says He Won't Resign Democratic Post

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman's retort to the demands of U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, that he resign is "There will be no vacancy" in his post until his term expires in 1964.

Coleman, who maintains an attorney's office here and resides in nearby Milford Center, told the Springfield Sun in an interview he will not bow out.

Coleman, severely criticized by Young, said he agrees with a remark attributed to U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, to the effect that "a combination of James A. Farley, Harry S. Truman, Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy" could not have saved Ohio for the Democrats in 1962.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who leaves office Jan. 14 a victim of the Republican landslide, and other principals say that since Coleman was elected for a two-year term as state party chairman last May 6, he cannot be ousted.

"If Sen. Young has healthy suggestions for the party we will be glad to review them with him," Coleman told the Springfield newspaper.

"Public arguments gain nothing," Coleman said, adding he is "not interested in fighting Democrats."

Coleman noted that Young criticized Democratic defeats in Ohio in 1960 and 1962 while talking about the "great victory of 1958."

"Perhaps," Coleman commented, "he is not mindful that the victory came under the same chairman."

The state chairman went on:

"Too many factors enter into the success and failure of a political campaign. To find a scapegoat is not realistic . . .

"There is today more party organization than ever before in Ohio history," Coleman said. "I never heard of more people working together in a more systematized operation than in 1962.

"Our party has absorbed losses before. Despite the Nov. defeat, there is a great deal of optimism on the part of party members and workers. These people know what kind of shape the party is in with reference to the past and the future.

"There is optimism, and these persons do not share Sen. Young's views."

Exam Set At Midland For Police Eligibles

Midland Borough is accepting applications for an examination to renew a patrolman's eligibility list which expired Nov. 17.

Applications may be obtained at the police station and must be returned to the borough secretary's Office by Jan. 4 at 4 p. m. The test, written and oral, will be given Jan. 4 at 7 p. m. in Council Chambers in the Borough Building.

There are no openings now on the police force. The list is renewed each two years to fill a vacancy should one occur.

Applicants must be American citizens over 21 and under 35. They must also pass a satisfactory physical and medical examination.

Benny Pultanovich is secretary of the Midland Police Civil Service Commission.

Stow Couple Killed As Truck Rams Car

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — James Edward Mura, 21, and his wife, Lucia, 18, of Stow, were killed today when their stalled automobile was struck from the rear by a truck two miles west of the Warren Interchange on the Ohio Turnpike.

The turnpike patrol said the road was clear and the accident in the westbound lane was not as a result of any conditions. The Mura automobile apparently was stalled for mechanical reasons.

The truck was driven by Charles Fosnocht, 37, of Adamstown, Pa., who was not injured.

Cincy Student Better Pass His Exam Thursday

CINCINNATI (AP) — Stanley Shafer, 20, who says he gets good grades at the University of Cincinnati, has two exams coming up today and another one Thursday. He'd better pass that Thursday test.

The two exams today will be at the university, but the one Thursday will be before Traffic Court Judge Robert V. Wood.

Shafer was brought into court Tuesday on a charge of driving 75 miles an hour in a 35-m.p.h. zone. After questioning Shafer about being a student, Judge Wood handed the young man a traffic code book and directed him to return for a quiz on its provisions.

"Your sentence will depend on how well you learn your lessons," Judge Wood said.

2 Killed In 2-Car Crash In Toledo Area

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two persons were killed today in a two-car crash at the intersection of Jackman and Laskey Roads.

They were Boyd Lively, 20, of Toledo, and Garland Ryan, 24, of Marne, Mich. Both were driving.

Police said the Ryan car hit a utility pole after the collision and the impact threw him and a passenger from the car. The passenger was not hurt seriously.

Chamber Members Receive Ballots For Trustee Election

Ballots went into the mail this morning for the annual election of seven members to the 21-man Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce.

The voting machinery was put in motion after a slate of 14 nominees was approved by the board at its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon.

The slate was presented by a nominating committee comprised of David G. Boyce, chairman, Ralph W. Betts, George S. Bloomgren, C. V. Hughes and A. C. Purinton Jr.

The ballots may be returned until Friday, Dec. 21. The returns will be tabulated by a tellers' committee which will report to the board at a special meeting Friday, Dec. 28, at 4 p. m.

The new trustees will be seated and the board will elect officers at its first 1963 meeting on Jan. 8. The trustees' terms are staggered so that seven expire each year.

At its meeting yesterday, the Chamber board also received a report on recommendations prepared by the industrial development committee and forwarded to a new Area Development Committee appointed by Gov. - elect James A. Rhodes.

The incoming Republican chief executive announced recently that he had formed a committee of 15 to implement plans for industrial development. He asked Chambers of Commerce and area development committees throughout Ohio to submit suggestions to his committee.

Rhodes has said he expects to expand and revitalize the work of Ohio's development commission, known as the Department of Industrial and Economic Development (DIED).

The board voted to endorse Calvin Verity of Middletown for re-election as a director of the U. S. Chamber. Verity is chairman of the Board of the Middletown First National Bank.

Skidding Car Strikes Curb

A Pleasant Heights man escaped unhurt late Tuesday afternoon when his auto skidded out of control on a curve and hit a high curb on the Lisbon St. Hill near St. Aloysius Cemetery, police reported.

The crash damaged the left front fender, bumper and wheel of a 1956 four - door sedan driven by Clarence R. Machin, 51, of 845 Baxter St., police reported. It was timed at 4:26.

Machin told police he was driving upgrade about 25 miles an hour and started to round the last sharp turn when his auto skidded on wet pavement, crossed the street and hit the curb.

It was one of four collisions reported by police yesterday.

James R. Martin, 26, of 1294 Dresden Ave. told police the left side of his 1961 four - door sedan was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car Tuesday at 9:15 p. m. on St. Clair Ave. at Azalea Ave. Martin told police he was driving south about 20 miles an hour when his auto was hit by another vehicle which did not stop.

A mishap at 10:44 a. m. yesterday at E. 2nd St. and Crook Alley damaged a 1957 four-door sedan driven by Judith Ann Fultz, 18, of 540 Campground Rd. and a 1961 two-door sedan operated by James C. Gailey, 40, of Beaver R. D. 1. The young woman was driving west on E. 2nd St. and the Beaver man was preceeding onto the thoroughfare from Crook Alley, officers said.

Another minor mishap at 6th St. and Dresden Ave. at 5:05 p. m. damaged the right front door of a halted 1960 auto operated by Marvin E. Wooley, 53, of 477 Orchard Grove Ave. and a rear fender on a Veterans Cab Co. taxi driven by Ray O. Powell, 1258 Pennsylvania Ave., police said. Powell said someone in the auto opened a door as he drove past and the rear of the cab caught on it.

One Cleveland Policeman Fired And 2 Suspended

CLEVELAND (AP) — The unsolved case of a stolen purse has cost one veteran policeman his job and resulted in 90-day suspensions for two fellow officers.

Safety Director John N. McCormick announced Tuesday that he had fired Elmer Cummins, 30, a five-year veteran on the force, and suspended William Greller, 32, and John O'Donnell, both of whom also are veteran patrolmen.

The three patrolmen helped investigate an automobile accident Sept. 28 on the West Side involving a Toledo couple and their son. The purse belonging to the Toledo woman, Mrs. Mildred Bires, never was found after the accident.

The patrolmen refused to take lie-detector tests during an investigation of the missing purse. After that the three, all of whom live on the West Side, were transferred to East Side assignments.

Police Chief Frank Story had said statements taken from the three since their transfers showed significant changes from earlier statements.

Naknek Lake in southern Alaska is noted for rocks that float and wood that sinks. The rocks littering its shore are pumice and lighter than water. The wood is petrified and often beautifully marked.

Conway Due More Jobs In Rail Merger

PITTSBURGH — James W. Oram, vice president of public and employment relations for the Pennsylvania Railroad, said here Tuesday the proposed merger with the New York Central would create 350 additional jobs at the Conway Yards in Beaver County.

He asserted the merger would bring a net increase of over 1,900 jobs in Pennsylvania with about 200 of them in this area.

Losses of about 100 jobs at Pitcairn and 46 at the 26th St. engine house would be offset by the gain at Conway.

Conway would become one of seven major maintenance shops throughout the combined system under merger plans.

Oram said it is impossible yet to estimate the effect on train crews.

He cited company offers to pay full wages up to four years to employes made jobless and to pay wage differences up to five years, moving expenses and loss on sales of homes for employes transferred.

Thirty - one freight trains would be eliminated but he said remaining trains of new ones would make up the service gap. He said no local freights would be eliminated.

Chamber Members Receive Ballots For Trustee Election

Ballots went into the mail this morning for the annual election of seven members to the 21-man Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce.

The voting machinery was put in motion after a slate of 14 nominees was approved by the board at its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon.

The slate was presented by a nominating committee comprised of David G. Boyce, chairman, Ralph W. Betts, George S. Bloomgren, C. V. Hughes and A. C. Purinton Jr.

The ballots may be returned until Friday, Dec. 21. The returns will be tabulated by a tellers' committee which will report to the board at a special meeting Friday, Dec. 28, at 4 p. m.

The new trustees will be seated and the board will elect officers at its first 1963 meeting on Jan. 8. The trustees' terms are staggered so that seven expire each year.

At its meeting yesterday, the Chamber board also received a report on recommendations prepared by the industrial development committee and forwarded to a new Area Development Committee appointed by Gov. - elect James A. Rhodes.

The incoming Republican chief executive announced recently that he had formed a committee of 15 to implement plans for industrial development. He asked Chambers of Commerce and area development committees throughout Ohio to submit suggestions to his committee.

Rhodes has said he expects to expand and revitalize the work of Ohio's development commission, known as the Department of Industrial and Economic Development (DIED).

The board voted to endorse Calvin Verity of Middletown for re-election as a director of the U. S. Chamber. Verity is chairman of the Board of the Middletown First National Bank.

One Cleveland Policeman Fired And 2 Suspended

CLEVELAND (AP) — The unsolved case of a stolen purse has cost one veteran policeman his job and resulted in 90-day suspensions for two fellow officers.

Safety Director John N. McCormick announced Tuesday that he had fired Elmer Cummins, 30, a five-year veteran on the force, and suspended William Greller, 32, and John O'Donnell, both of whom also are veteran patrolmen.

The three patrolmen helped investigate an automobile accident Sept. 28 on the West Side involving a Toledo couple and their son. The purse belonging to the Toledo woman, Mrs. Mildred Bires, never was found after the accident.

The patrolmen refused to take lie-detector tests during an investigation of the missing purse. After that the three, all of whom live on the West Side, were transferred to East Side assignments.

Police Chief Frank Story had said statements taken from the three since their transfers showed significant changes from earlier statements.

Skidding Car Strikes Curb

A Pleasant Heights man escaped unhurt late Tuesday afternoon when his auto skidded out of control on a curve and hit a high curb on the Lisbon St. Hill near St. Aloysius Cemetery, police reported.

The crash damaged the left front fender, bumper and wheel of a 1956 four - door sedan driven by Clarence R. Machin, 51, of 845 Baxter St., police reported. It was timed at 4:26.

Machin told police he was driving upgrade about 25 miles an hour and started to round the last sharp turn when his auto skidded on wet pavement, crossed the street and hit the curb.

It was one of four collisions reported by police yesterday.

James R. Martin, 26, of 1294 Dresden Ave. told police the left side of his 1961 four - door sedan was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car Tuesday at 9:15 p. m. on St. Clair Ave. at Azalea Ave. Martin told police he was driving south about 20 miles an hour when his auto was hit by another vehicle which did not stop.

A mishap at 10:44 a. m. yesterday at E. 2nd St. and Crook Alley damaged a 1957 four-door sedan driven by Judith Ann Fultz, 18, of 540 Campground Rd. and a 1961 two-door sedan operated by James C. Gailey, 40, of Beaver R. D. 1. The young woman was driving west on E. 2nd St. and the Beaver man was preceeding onto the thoroughfare from Crook Alley, officers said.

Another minor mishap at 6th St. and Dresden Ave. at 5:05 p. m. damaged the right front door of a halted 1960 auto operated by Marvin E. Wooley, 53, of 477 Orchard Grove Ave. and a rear fender on a Veterans Cab Co. taxi driven by Ray O. Powell, 1258 Pennsylvania Ave., police said. Powell said someone in the auto opened a door as he drove past and the rear of the cab caught on it.

Naknek Lake in southern Alaska is noted for rocks that float and wood that sinks. The rocks littering its shore are pumice and lighter than water. The wood is petrified and often beautifully marked.

Conway Due More Jobs In Rail Merger

PITTSBURGH — James W. Oram, vice president of public and employment relations for the Pennsylvania Railroad, said here Tuesday the proposed merger with the New York Central would create 350 additional jobs at the Conway Yards in Beaver County.

He asserted the merger would bring a net increase of over 1,900 jobs in Pennsylvania with about 200 of them in this area.

Losses of about 100 jobs at Pitcairn and 46 at the 26th St. engine house would be offset by the gain at Conway.

Conway would become one of seven major maintenance shops throughout the combined system under merger plans.

Oram said it is impossible yet to estimate the effect on train crews.

He cited company offers to pay full wages up to four years to employes made jobless and to pay wage differences up to five years, moving expenses and loss on sales of homes for employes transferred.

Thirty - one freight trains would be eliminated but he said remaining trains of new ones would make up the service gap. He said no local freights would be eliminated.

Thant To Call For 'Squeeze' On Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary-General U Thant calls on the United States, Britain and Belgium today to start applying an economic squeeze to the Congo's breakaway province of Katanga.

The United States and Belgium were said to have assured Thant they would go as far as a boycott of Katanga's rich copper and cobalt exports if he feels it necessary to bring Katanga President Moise Tshombe into line.

However, informants said Britain has told the secretary-general it is unwilling to go along with sanctions or other steps that could be viewed as applying force against the province.

Britain has argued that sanctions against Katanga could bring economic disaster to the rest of the Congo and defeat Thant's plan to reunite the divided country.

Thant apparently was determined to carry out his threat despite Britain's stand. He is said to have been bolstered by expressions of support from U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and Ambassador Walter Loridan of Belgium.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak warned in Brussels Tuesday night of the possibility of new fighting. He said that unless Tshombe takes a "decisive step which was asked from him, sanctions, very tough sanctions will then be taken."

As a first step Thant will seek to halt air traffic into Elisabethville, the Katangan capital, set up blocks on rail lines and cut off mail and telecommunication links.

Belgium is being asked to pull out about 700 Belgian technicians who play a vital role in the province.

The secretary-general wants Katanga to rejoin the Congo under a federal constitution and a 50-50 split with Leopoldville of the $40 million in annual revenues the European-owned Union Miniere combine now pays Katanga.

If Tshombe still resists, Thant will ask member states to ban imports of Katanga's copper and cobalt.

Hammondsville Post To Treat Youngsters

Hammondsville American Legion Post 742 and auxiliary will sponsor an annual Christmas party for youngsters of the community Dec. 21 at 7:30 at the post home. Santa Claus will distribute gifts and treats.

Harold Householder has returned home after several weeks in City Hospital.

Mrs. John Householder has returned to Chestnut Grove after treatment for back and neck injuries in Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh.

County Realtors Pick Salem Area Resident

Robert Stamp of Salem R. D. 2 was elected president of the Columbiana County Board of Realtors at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Timberlanes Restaurant in Salem. He succeeds Joe Fisher of Salem, who was named a director for a one-year term.

Others elected were Richard G. Capel, vice-president; and Chester D. Gow, secretary and treasurer.

A Christmas dinner preceded the election.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 8 at Timberlane's.

Father's Note Admits Slaying Wife, 2 In-Laws

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Police today said they found a note written by a young father in which he confessed slaying his wife and her parents Tuesday at Kingman, Ariz.

"By the time you read this, I'll either be dead or the police will have taken me," the note said.

The note was signed by Raymond J. Hudgens, 22, who is believed to be the man who telephoned police here that three persons were dead in a cabin near Kingman, along with "a tiny baby which would not have been fed for 24 hours, but should still be alive."

Sheriff's officers from Kingman went to the cabin Tuesday night. In it were the bodies of Grace Mary Hudgens, 20; her father, Myron Young, 67, his wife, Dorothy, 55, and the baby, unharmed.

The baby was believed to be Hudgens' 16-month old son.

Police hunted the San Fernando Valley—a suburban area northwest of Los Angeles—for traces of Hudgens.

Insurance Group Has Yule Dinner At Country Club

The Columbiana County Insurance Agents Association held its annual Christmas dinner Tuesday night at the East Liverpool Country Club, with 45 attending.

Standley T. Hilbert, retiring president, presided.

Dinner music was provided by Hal Green at the organ. Gifts were presented to the wives and secretaries who were guests.

The committee in charge was Robert Brewster, chairman, Miss Doris Coleman, Glen V. Wilson and Hilbert.

The decorations were arranged by Miss Patsy Black, Mrs. Sarah Jenkins and Mrs. Wilda Breeze.

The three tables had centerpieces of sleighs, with Santa Claus driving. They were filled with Christmas balls, holly and pine. White milk glass candelabra with red tapers also were featured.

Wayne Bauer of Columbiana, the association's newly-elected president, assumed his duties during the meeting. The other officers are Thomas Doland, vice president, and Miss Kathryn Furhman of Columbiana, secretary.

Driver, 74, Charged After Lisbon Mishap

LISBON — Charles F. Cunningham, 74, of 410 E. Lincoln Way was charged with driving left of center following a collision on E. Washington St. near Vine St. Tuesday at 4:10 p.m. that involved his auto and a car driven by Everett C. Perks, 27, of Canton, police said.

Perks' wife, Dovie, 25, and daughter, Anita, 3, suffered minor injuries but did not require treatment, police said.

Perks' 1953 sedan was demolished. Damage to Cunningham's car was estimated at $500. Perks and his family were returned to Canton last night by Perks' brother.

age was reported immediately to citrus crops.

The beaches in southern Florida were bare and the tourists were clothed in newly bought sweaters and coats. Miami's 38 above Tuesday was a record low for Dec. 11. It was 48 this morning.

New low temperatures for the date were set Tuesday in many sections of the icy belt. The mercury continued its downward plunge during the night and early morning, threatening record lows for today.

Much of the eastern half of the nation felt the effects of the storm and cold which packed the punch normally expected in mid-winter.

"Miserable" was the Weather Bureau's description of conditions in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley regions.

More heavy snow was dumped along the eastern shores of Lakes Michigan, Erie and Ontario. Drifts piled up higher than four feet in some places.

Storm-related deaths since the storm struck in some areas last Wednesday were more than 70.

Camilo Pascual and Jim Kaat of the Twins and Dick Donovan of the Indians turned in five shutouts each last season.

Terms To End Dec. 31 For 2 Men Serving On City Boards

The terms of two members of four unsalaried municipal boards and commissions are scheduled to expire at midnight Dec. 31. The posts are subject to appointment by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

The expiring terms are held by:

Dr. C. M. Mayberry, on the Board of Health.

Atty. William H. Vodrey Jr., on the board of Thompson Park Commissioners.

No tenures will run out at the end of the year on the two other boards — the Municipal Civil Service Commission and the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Public Library.

Expiration dates of terms on the city boards are staggered so that a few run out at the end of each year. For instance, seven expired at the end of 1957, four ran out at the close of 1958, four ended with the last day of 1959, five ran out at the end of 1960 and six expired as 1961 closed.

Hold - over members of the Health Board are Emil R. Leibschner Jr., whose term runs to the end of 1963; C. Frank Dales, 1964; Dr. J. Keith Rugh, 1965, and Mrs. Ila Finney Johnston, 1966. Howard Claypool is clerk, elected by the board.

Continuing as members of the Park Board are: Louis Yanni, 1963; W. Leland Thompson, 1964, and Probate Judge Louis Tobin, 1965. Judge Tobin is president and Thompson is secretary.

Remaining on the Civil Service Commission are: Atty. Ben H. Berman, 1963; A. A. Fiorello, 1965, and Donal I. Burcham, 1967. Fiorello was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Clarence E. Reagle. P. K. Calhoon is secretary, elected by the commission.

On the Library Board, three terms run through 1964 and three more will continue through 1965.

Serving through 1964 will be Mrs. Charles Goodman, Miss Sarah Heddleston and John N. Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ. Terms running through 1965 are held by James J. McGowan, Atty. Robert A. Kapp and Mrs. Joyce Seevers.

Atty. Kapp is president, Miss Heddleston is vice president, Mr. Mostoller is secretary and McGowan is treasurer.

Club To Aid Boys' Treat

The South Side Sportsmen's Club is joining with other Beaver County sportsmen to present gifts on Christmas Day to boys at the Pennsylvania Youth Camp at Raccoon Creek State Park.

The South Side club also plans to screen movies Jan. 9 for the boys.

Only a few members attended the meeting of the club Tuesday night at the clubhouse off Route 168 south of Laughlin's Corners.

The club has donated the use of its clubhouse for a dance Friday night, 9 to midnight, to benefit the Hanover Township Hot Stove League Team.

A date will be announced when gifts will be presented at a public dance to be held soon.

Next regular meeting will be Dec. 21. Robert Dawson is president.

South Side Club Will Give Dance

Plans for a public round and square dance to benefit the Hanover Township Hot Stove League Team were announced at a meeting of the South Side Athletic Club Tuesday night.

The dance will be held Friday from 9 to midnight at the South Side Sportsmen's Club and "Bill and His Boys" will furnish music.

It was announced that the auxiliary will not meet until Jan. 21 when it plans for election of officers in February. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell is president.

Next meeting of the club will be Jan. 8, Daniel Wright, secretary, said. James Ashcroft is president. The club meets at the Legion home near Hookstown.

Crowds See Operetta At McKinley School

Capacity crowds attended the two - act operetta, "The Christmas Wish," presented by pupils of the McKinley School Monday and Tuesday evening.

Principal characters were portrayed by Robert Wolfe, Kirk McCall, Susan Oliver, Carol Portsmann, Diana Lerch, Bonnie Forzano, Teresa Queen, James Johnston, Darla Koch, Cathy Ferguson, Kenny Martin, Greg Davis, Kathy Dunlevy and Bruce Blankenship. They were supported by the school chorus and a cast of over 80 other students.

Costumes were furnished by parents of the pupils. Mrs. Keith Langdon, director, was assisted by other members of the faculty.

Salineville PTA Plans Yule Event Thursday

SALINEVILLE — A Christmas music program will be presented at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

Students of the first six grades will give the music under the direction of Oscar Gartrell. Martin Adams, vice president, will be in charge. Lunch will be served.

Lisbon School Shop Will Get New Wiring

LISBON — The Board of Education Tuesday night approved installation of three-phase wiring for the industrial arts shop of the high school.

Supt. Oliver Payne also was authorized to obtain a new heater for the shop as the present appliance is not working.

Miss Grace Todd was continued as teacher in the first grade at McKinley School from Jan. 2 to June 7, at a salary of $2,800. She has been teaching on a temporary basis the first semester.

Clerk Henry Dawes was authorized to adjust the balances of appropriations in his books to close the school year.

Principal George Nace was authorized to attend the North Central Principals' Association meeting in Chicago.

The board approved $300 towards the expenses of the annual trip to Gettysburg of Edwin Bucher's history class. It will be held in the spring.

The board discussed age limits to enter the first grade but took no action as the State Board of Education is expected to pass on specific requirements.

It discussed new lighting for Lincoln School but requested Supt. Payne obtain more bids. Public address systems for the high school and Lincoln were discussed but no action was taken.

A petty cash revolving fund of not more than $25 was established to meet small administrative expenses.

Custodial services for the administration building was discussed and Supt. Payne was instructed to have his present staff do the work.

Supt. Payne reported that the Title 3 laboratory would be installed in the high school during the Christmas vacation. The financial outlook was discussed with an additional $13,500 anticipated for 1963 and approximately $15,500 in 1964.

When weather permits, a fence will be constructed around the lawn at Lincoln School at a cost of approximately $350.

Payment of bills of $35,261.42 for salaries and $5,060.18 for supplies was authorized. Next meeting is Jan. 8 at 7:30 p. m.

School Bus Law Cited By Chief In Wellsville

Police Chief John Hephner today issued a warning to motorists who are failing to stop for school buses that have been halted within the city limits to receive or discharge school children.

Hephner said he has received complaints that the motorists are failing to observe the flashing signals on the buses of both the city school system and the Immaculate Conception Parochial School.

Violators will be cited if caught, the chief commented. He also pointed out that the students are endangered by a driver who passes a halted bus. One of the children could easily step in front of a moving car if they thought all traffic was halted.

Stargazer Balloon Launching Postponed

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE, N.M. (AP)—Bad weather forced postponement of an attempt to photograph the stars from above the earth's distorting atmosphere.

The countdown for launching of a huge balloon was stopped Tuesday night because of heavy clouds and high winds in the areas of launch, flight and recovery.

The launching had been scheduled for this morning. Officials of Project Stargazer set the next attempt for Thursday morning.

Two men are to ride the balloon's aluminum gondola to the edge of the earth's atmosphere—up to 87,000 feet.

Band Fete Set At Midland

Final plans were outlined for the Midland High School Band Christmas party, when the Midland Band Boosters Club met Tuesday evening in the high school Music Forum. Mrs. William Petrosky, president, presided.

The party will be held Saturday night at 8 at the Serbian National Home, with crowning of the band king and queen. Two attendants will also be chosen.

Mrs. Frank Pedro and Mrs. Charles Castelli will be in charge of the buffet table.

Members of the band are to be at the hall Saturday afternoon at 2 to decorate the tree.

Over 100 are expected to attend, including guests of the band members and the Board of Education members.

Mrs. Edward Cilli was to represent the group at a special meeting this afternoon in the offices of Supt. Ralph H. Jewell, when a representative from Idora Park will discuss plans for the school picnic next summer.

A public card party has been set tentatively for Jan. 23 and the place will be announced.

The fund - raising project scheduled for Monday has been postponed to Dec. 22.

A reorganization meeting will be held Jan. 9.

Band Fete Set At Midland

Final plans were outlined for the Midland High School Band Christmas party, when the Midland Band Boosters Club met Tuesday evening in the high school Music Forum. Mrs. William Petrosky, president, presided.

The party will be held Saturday night at 8 at the Serbian National Home, with crowning of the band king and queen. Two attendants will also be chosen.

Mrs. Frank Pedro and Mrs. Charles Castelli will be in charge of the buffet table.

Members of the band are to be at the hall Saturday afternoon at 2 to decorate the tree.

Over 100 are expected to attend, including guests of the band members and the Board of Education members.

Mrs. Edward Cilli was to represent the group at a special meeting this afternoon in the offices of Supt. Ralph H. Jewell, when a representative from Idora Park will discuss plans for the school picnic next summer.

A public card party has been set tentatively for Jan. 23 and the place will be announced.

The fund - raising project scheduled for Monday has been postponed to Dec. 22.

A reorganization meeting will be held Jan. 9.

Club To Aid Boys' Treat

The South Side Sportsmen's Club is joining with other Beaver County sportsmen to present gifts on Christmas Day to boys at the Pennsylvania Youth Camp at Raccoon Creek State Park.

The South Side club also plans to screen movies Jan. 9 for the boys.

Only a few members attended the meeting of the club Tuesday night at the clubhouse off Route 168 south of Laughlin's Corners.

The club has donated the use of its clubhouse for a dance Friday night, 9 to midnight, to benefit the Hanover Township Hot Stove League Team.

A date will be announced when gifts will be presented at a public dance to be held soon.

Next regular meeting will be Dec. 21. Robert Dawson is president.

South Side Club Will Give Dance

Plans for a public round and square dance to benefit the Hanover Township Hot Stove League Team were announced at a meeting of the South Side Athletic Club Tuesday night.

The dance will be held Friday from 9 to midnight at the South Side Sportsmen's Club and "Bill and His Boys" will furnish music.

It was announced that the auxiliary will not meet until Jan. 21 when it plans for election of officers in February. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell is president.

Next meeting of the club will be Jan. 8, Daniel Wright, secretary, said. James Ashcroft is president. The club meets at the Legion home near Hookstown.

Crowds See Operetta At McKinley School

Capacity crowds attended the two - act operetta, "The Christmas Wish," presented by pupils of the McKinley School Monday and Tuesday evening.

Principal characters were portrayed by Robert Wolfe, Kirk McCall, Susan Oliver, Carol Portsmann, Diana Lerch, Bonnie Forzano, Teresa Queen, James Johnston, Darla Koch, Cathy Ferguson, Kenny Martin, Greg Davis, Kathy Dunlevy and Bruce Blankenship. They were supported by the school chorus and a cast of over 80 other students.

Costumes were furnished by parents of the pupils. Mrs. Keith Langdon, director, was assisted by other members of the faculty.

School Bus Law Cited By Chief In Wellsville

Police Chief John Hephner today issued a warning to motorists who are failing to stop for school buses that have been halted within the city limits to receive or discharge school children.

Hephner said he has received complaints that the motorists are failing to observe the flashing signals on the buses of both the city school system and the Immaculate Conception Parochial School.

Violators will be cited if caught, the chief commented. He also pointed out that the students are endangered by a driver who passes a halted bus. One of the children could easily step in front of a moving car if they thought all traffic was halted.

Stargazer Balloon Launching Postponed

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE, N.M. (AP)—Bad weather forced postponement of an attempt to photograph the stars from above the earth's distorting atmosphere.

The countdown for launching of a huge balloon was stopped Tuesday night because of heavy clouds and high winds in the areas of launch, flight and recovery.

The launching had been scheduled for this morning. Officials of Project Stargazer set the next attempt for Thursday morning.

Two men are to ride the balloon's aluminum gondola to the edge of the earth's atmosphere—up to 87,000 feet.

Salineville PTA Plans Yule Event Thursday

SALINEVILLE — A Christmas music program will be presented at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

Students of the first six grades will give the music under the direction of Oscar Gartrell. Martin Adams, vice president, will be in charge. Lunch will be served.

Kuzma's Surprising Leopards Smack Down Tall Tigers

Midland Busts Contest Open In 4th Period; Sallis Nets 20

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

It wasn't supposed to be this way at all.

Unbeaten last year, Midland High's Leopards were figured for only mediocrity at best in 1963 with a lone letterman back in the fold.

Prospects at rival Wellsville High appeared just the opposite with virtually all of last year's squad returning to arm the Tigers with plenty of height and experience.

Yet, the new campaign is just started and so-so Midland is rolling merrily along with a 3-0 record — including a victory over potentially strong Wellsville.

COACH Hank Kuzma's Leopards pulled a giant-killing act Tuesday night to upset Wellsville, 45-36, behind a 20-point effort by their only letterman, center Bill Sallis, 6-2 senior.

With a noisy crowd of 1,300 looking on at Midland, Kuzma's kids rallied late to win again after conquering East Liverpool and Ambridge earlier.

Sallis' seven field goals and six of nine free throws keyed the upset, but two promising sophomores stole the thunder with steady play in the final pressurized minutes.

BALLHAWKING Norman Vanlier, 5-8 sophomore, turned in a dazzling floor game and Ron Brown, 6-2, delivered two important field goals as Midland drove to the front after trailing most of the way.

Coach Jack McDevitt's tall Tigers, an easy winner over Beaver Local in their first start, suffered through a miserable series of events in their initial test of the season.

The pivot play of Sallis overshadowed their rebounding power, and the Tigers passed and shot erratically against a smaller but more determined foe.

The exuberant Kuzma, patting heads all around after the game, had praise for his sophomore duo of Vanlier and Brown, but termed the victory a team effort all the way.

NEITHER squad showed exceptional finess but Midland's ability to score from in close and apply an offensive stall when it counted turned the tide in the nip-and-tuck action.

Wellsville, firing mostly from long range, led the entire third quarter but never by much as Sallis and his Midland teammates capitalized on about every scoring opportunity in close.

The Tigers entered the final quarter holding a shaky, 30-29 lead and stayed in front until 7:15 remained when Brown tied it at 31-31 for Midland with a rebound tip shot.

—:—

WELLSVILLE'S Ed Nelson countered with a pair of foul shots to put the Tigers back on top, 33-31. That was the final time they were to enjoy the advantage.

Working smoothly in the pivot, Sallis scored on a drive and converted a foul on the same play to put Midland in front, 34-33, with only 5:33 left to play.

Connecting on a jump shot from the side, Midland's Gary Perkins, 5-11 senior, increased the lead to 36-33, but Wellsville's Milton Martin countered with a foul for a 36-34 score.

The Leopards then scored three straight buckets while stalling — two by young Brown and another by Perkins — to pull ahead by 42-34.

With 51 seconds left, Vanlier converted three consecutive foul shots to make it 45-36 and clinch Midland's 25th straight home court victory.

INABILITY to come through with an organized offensive attack The Tigers scored only one field goal on a tip shot, firing mostly from long range and missing. None finished with double figures.

Ed Nelson, who flashed much improvement since last season, led Wellsville with nine points, while Dash had eight, Martin seven, Baldwin six and rangy Forest Harris four.

Harris watched much of the action from the sidelines after getting into personal foul difficulties early in the game. Brown of Midland also accumulated three fouls in the first period and was benched for a long period. Wellsville's Dash was the only foul casualty.

Both teams showed plenty of room for improvement in shooting. Midland hit 28 per cent (18 of 64) and Wellsville finished with 27 per cent (13 of 48).

—:—

FOUL shooting was also ragged for both sides. Midland hit only nine of 24, and Wellsville only half of 20 attempts.

The fans who arrived early enough to catch the reserve preliminary also saw a game matching the varsity battle in terms of tenseness.

Coach Chick McMillan's Wellsville Reserves edged Midland's Reserves, 47-45, in a wild finish.

The Tigers trailed by 43-42 with less than two minutes left when they went ahead for good on a lone one-hander by Jeff MacLean.

—:—

LESTER Bennett added a field goal on a drive shot but Pete Cilli countered for Midland from the side for a 46-45 score with time running out.

Wellsville's Betz converted a foul shot with nine seconds remaining to clinch the game, with a desperation shot by a Midland player missing as the buzzer sounded.

Wellsville's Reserves stand 2-0, while the defeat for Midland's youngsters was their first in three games.

Stanton Rips Springfield, 62-47, For First Win; Porter Scores 27

Stanton Local's Red Raiders bagged their first victory in three starts Tuesday night, trimming Springfield by 62-47 behind a 27-point barrage by lanky Scott Porter.

The win was also the first for Coach Harry Diehl's squad in the school's new gymnasium after a loss to Brilliant on the home boards in the opener. The other loss was at Wayne.

Stanton turned a 32-24 halftime lead into a waltz as Porter got a hot hand in the third quarter and scored 14 points, at one time hitting six consecutive shots.

Two other starters — Larry Mills and Marlon McCuen — also collected double figures with 15 and 10 points, respectively.

Springfield's Gary Danko led his team with 19 points. The football star got nine field goals and a foul.

Only a fair-sized crowd was on hand to see the Red Raiders initiate the gym with their first victory. In the preliminary, Springfield's Reserves romped to a 42-26 victory over the Stanton Local Reserves of Coach Don McBride.

Looking on is Wellsville center Steve Baldwin (11). Midland rallied late to record its third straight victory.

Columbiana Falls, 58-51

Columbiana was dealt a surprise Tuesday night at Springfield Local, coming out on the short end of a 58-51 contest.

The loss was the first for the Clippers in two outings after they had romped over North Lima Saturday.

Sonedecker's 13 points paced Springfield which showed a pretty well balanced attack with 13 the high and six the low by six different players.

Dale Murphy tallied 14 points to pace Coach Rich Berryman's five.

N. Cumberland Notches 3rd Straight, 57-48, At Western Beaver

Western Beaver had its eye on an upset for three quarters but the New Cumberland Blue Raiders pulled away in the final eight minutes to come out on top, 57-48, Tuesday night on the Western Beaver court.

A nip and tuck battle all the way through, New Cumberland grabbed a 12-9 first period lead but Western battled back to a 21-21 tie at halftime and were within one point 38-37 at the end of the third quarter.

Coach John Kuzio's Blue Raiders, which posted their third straight showed a balanced attack with four of his starters in the twin figures. Leading the attack was Jim Burskey with 13 while Ken Freshwater netted 12 and sophomore Dennis Carnes and Allan Katzenmeyer tossed in 10 each. Chuck Krause was high for the losers with a 12-point effort.

Western Beaver entertains Northwestern Friday night.

The New Cumberland reserves won the preliminary, 62-54.

Duke Continues To Roll, 90-70

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jeff (Pork Chop) Mullins and Jay (Bird) Buckley provided enough ammunition to overcome a bad night by Art Heyman, who was limited to 13 points, as second-ranked Duke rapped Vanderbilt 90-70 Tuesday.

Buckley probably is the key to Duke's fortunes this season. Heyman and Mullins are proven commodities. But the 6-foot-10 junior has to prove he's tough enough to tangle underneath the boards.

Heyman was held to 13 points by the Commodores, but the Pork Chop-Bird combo took up the slack. Mullins wound up with 22 points and Buckley finished with 21. Vandy sophomore Roger Schurig took scoring honors with 30 points.

Only one other top-ten team was in action. Sixth-ranked West Virginia, led by peppery Jim McCormick, outclassed Richmond 78-59 in a Southern Conference game. In another Southern game, VMI nipped George Washington 74-73.

Elsewhere on the conference scene, North Carolina State used a jump shot by John Key with 2 seconds remaining in overtime for a 76-74 decision over Maryland, and Vermont defeated New Hampshire 78-73 in a Yankee Conference clash.

In other top games, Notre Dame sophomores Walt Sahm and Larry Sheffield scored 27 and 24 points, respectively, as the Irish whipped Western Michigan 82-68, sophomore James King sank a foul shot after time ran out in overtime for Oklahoma State's 46-45 triumph over Arkansas and Santa Clara spilled Wichita 72-67.

William & Mary snapped an 18-game losing streak on the road with Roger Bergey's basket providing the winning margin in a 71-69 victory over Virginia. Duquense won its fourth straight, 68-56 over Georgetown, D.C. Penn State did the same, 62-40 over Colgate and Rutgers snapped Columbia's winning streak at three, 88-68.

Gerry Ward held Yale ace Rick Kaminsky to four points and scored 15 as Boston College nipped the Elis 59-57 and Wake Forest limited Billy Hoy to three points while breezing to a 75-46 triumph over St. Joseph's Pa.

In some of the others, Washington State defeated Gonzaga 70-66, Air Force topped Hardin-Simmons 58-37, Baylor belted Trinity, Tex., 90-70, Villanova crushed Scranton 88-63, Texas A&M thumped Southern Mississippi 87-61, Maine beat Bates 64-57, Boston U. walloped Suffolk 79-58, and Fresno State knocked off San Jose State 57-42.

Pro-Am Will Serve As Tourney Warm-Up

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Over 100 amateurs will team up with some 40 professionals today in an 18-hole pro-amateur meet which serves as a warm-up for Thursday's start of the Mexican Open Golf Tournament.

Some of golf's finest players, including Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo, former Masters and PGA champion Jackie Burke of Houston, Caribbean circuit winner Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., and defending Mexican Open champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., will compete in the pro-am and the open.

Taylor, Michaels Battle For NFL Scoring Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, Green Bay's fullback, and Lous Michaels, Pittsburgh's fine place kicker, are in a tight race for the National Football League scoring honors going into the final week of the season.

Neither will approach the all-time record of 176 points set by Paul Hornung of Green Bay in 1961 with 146 points, dropped out of the race due to a knee injury after a fast start.

Michaels broke the NFL record for field goals in one season when he boosted his total to 24 Sunday by kicking four in the Steelers' 26-17 victory over Philadelphia.

Taylor remains the top ground gainer with 1,318 yards in 249 attempts, according to league statistics released today. He also paces the scorers with 108 points as compared to 101 for runner-up Lou Michaels of Pittsburgh. Jimmy Brown, who led five straight years from 1957 through 1961, is fourth with 861.

The Packers' Bart Starr maintains his lead among the passers, having completed 64 per cent of his tosses, 162 to 253 attempts for 2,233 yards.

Bobby Mitchell of the Washington Redskins ranks as the leading pass receiver with 68 catches for 1,294 yards. Willie Wood of Green Bay has intercepted the most passes, nine, for 132 yards returned.

Jockey Bill Hartack Hurt In Fall Off Horse

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of the country's leading jockeys, Bill Hartack, spent the night in a hospital after falling from a horse at Tropical Park.

Doctors said he suffered only bruises and shock and planned to release him today.

There was no word on when he would ride again.

Hartack's mount, Looking Ahead, apparently shied away from a reflection on the track. Running far back of the pack, the horse veered to the outside as he approached the stretch turn.

The 29-year-old Miami Springs jockey fell to the inside. He landed feet first, tumbled over, tried to get up and fell back on the ground.

Browns' First Draft Choice Signs For '63

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tom Hutchinson, the Cleveland Browns' first choice in the National Football League draft last week, signed a 1963 contract with the club Tuesday.

The 6-foot-1, 189-pound end from Kentucky was a three-time All-Southeastern Conference selection, the only lineman to gain that distinction in the history of the conference.

Green Bay Dominates NFL All-Star Squad

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay already has locked up 10 positions on the 22-man National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press although the Packers still have not clinched the Western Conference title.

The New York Giants, who meet the Western winners for the league championship Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, put four men on the club selected by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities. Detroit, trailing the Packers by one game with one to play, also placed four men on the team.

Green Bay wound up with fullback Jim Taylor, right end Ron Kramer, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer and center Jim Ringo from its offensive unit on the All-Star team. The Packers' defensive group contributed end Willie Davis, tackle Henry Jordan, linebackers Dan Currie and Bill Forester and corner back Herb Adderley.

Y. A. Tittle, the Giants' quarterback, and Del Shofner, his favorite passing target, made the offensive team along with big Rosey Brown at tackle. Jimmy Patton, veteran safety man, was named on defense.

As befits a club that leads the league on defense, Detroit placed four men on that unit, led by 296-pound Roger Brown at tackle, middle linebacker Joe Schmidt, corner back Dick (Night Train) Lane and safety Yale Lary.

Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's fullback who normally is a must for any All-Star team, and Green Bay's injured Paul Hornung, player of the year in 1961, failed to make the team.

Jim Parker of Baltimore, used both at guard and tackle, was picked at guard.

Don Perkins of Dallas was named to a running back job along with Taylor, who had scored 18 touchdowns, tying the league record. Bobby Mitchell, the fleet back traded to Washington by Cleveland, made it at flanker back as the leading pass receiver. The 36-year-old Tittle, with his 27 touchdown passes, rounded out the starting backfield.

Gino Marchetti, Baltimore's veteran defensive end, was the only "outsider" to crack the Green Bay-Detroit-New York axis on defense.

Kuzma's Surprising Leopards Smack Down Tall Tigers

Midland Busts Contest Open In 4th Period; Sallis Nets 20

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

It wasn't supposed to be this way at all.

Unbeaten last year, Midland High's Leopards were figured for only mediocrity at best in 1963 with a lone letterman back in the fold.

Prospects at rival Wellsville High appeared just the opposite with virtually all of last year's squad returning to arm the Tigers with plenty of height and experience.

Yet, the new campaign is just started and so-so Midland is rolling merrily along with a 3-0 record — including a victory over potentially strong Wellsville.

COACH Hank Kuzma's Leopards pulled a giant-killing act Tuesday night to upset Wellsville, 45-36, behind a 20-point effort by their only letterman, center Bill Sallis, 6-2 senior.

With a noisy crowd of 1,300 looking on at Midland, Kuzma's kids rallied late to win again after conquering East Liverpool and Ambridge earlier.

Sallis' seven field goals and six of nine free throws keyed the upset, but two promising sophomores stole the thunder with steady play in the final pressurized minutes.

BALLHAWKING Norman Vanlier, 5-8 sophomore, turned in a dazzling floor game and Ron Brown, 6-2, delivered two important field goals as Midland drove to the front after trailing most of the way.

Coach Jack McDevitt's tall Tigers, an easy winner over Beaver Local in their first start, suffered through a miserable series of events in their initial test of the season.

The pivot play of Sallis overshadowed their rebounding power, and the Tigers passed and shot erratically against a smaller but more determined foe.

The exuberant Kuzma, patting heads all around after the game, had praise for his sophomore duo of Vanlier and Brown, but termed the victory a team effort all the way.

NEITHER squad showed exceptional finess but Midland's ability to score from in close and apply an offensive stall when it counted turned the tide in the nip-and-tuck action.

Wellsville, firing mostly from long range, led the entire third quarter but never by much as Sallis and his Midland teammates capitalized on about every scoring opportunity in close.

The Tigers entered the final quarter holding a shaky, 30-29 lead and stayed in front until 7:15 remained when Brown tied it at 31-31 for Midland with a rebound tip shot.

WELLSVILLE'S Ed Nelson countered with a pair of foul shots to put the Tigers back on top, 33-31. That was the final time they were to enjoy the advantage.

Working smoothly in the pivot, Sallis scored on a drive and converted a foul on the same play to put Midland in front, 34-33, with only 5:33 left to play.

Connecting on a jump shot from the side, Midland's Gary Perkins, 5-11 senior, increased the lead to 36-33, but Wellsville's Milton Martin countered with a foul for a 36-34 score.

The Leopards then scored three straight buckets while stalling — two by young Brown and another by Perkins — to pull ahead by 42-34.

With 51 seconds left, Vanlier converted three consecutive foul shots to make it 45-36 and clinch Midland's 25th straight home court victory.

INABILITY to come through with an organized offensive attack The Tigers scored only one field goal on a tip shot, firing mostly from long range and missing. None finished with double figures.

Ed Nelson, who flashed much improvement since last season, led Wellsville with nine points, while Dash had eight, Martin seven, Baldwin six and rangy Forest Harris four.

Harris watched much of the action from the sidelines after getting into personal foul difficulties early in the game. Brown of Midland also accumulated three fouls in the first period and was benched for a long period. Wellsville's Dash was the only foul casualty.

Both teams showed plenty of room for improvement in shooting. Midland hit 28 per cent (18 of 64) and Wellsville finished with 27 per cent (13 of 48).

—:—

FOUL shooting was also ragged for both sides. Midland hit only nine of 24, and Wellsville only half of 20 attempts.

The fans who arrived early enough to catch the reserve preliminary also saw a game matching the varsity battle in terms of tenseness.

Coach Chick McMillan's Wellsville Reserves edged Midland's Reserves, 47-45, in a wild finish.

The Tigers trailed by 43-42 with less than two minutes left when they went ahead for good on a lone one-hander by Jeff MacLean.

—:—

LESTER Bennett added a field goal on a drive shot but Pete Cilli countered for Midland from the side for a 46-45 score with time running out.

Wellsville's Betz converted a foul shot with nine seconds remaining to clinch the game, with a desperation shot by a Midland player missing as the buzzer sounded.

Wellsville's Reserves stand 2-0, while the defeat for Midland's youngsters was their first in three games.

Stanton Rips Springfield, 62-47, For First Win; Porter Scores 27

Stanton Local's Red Raiders bagged their first victory in three starts Tuesday night, trimming Springfield by 62-47 behind a 27-point barrage by lanky Scott Porter.

The win was also the first for Coach Harry Diehl's squad in the school's new gymnasium after a loss to Brilliant on the home boards in the opener. The other loss was at Wayne.

Stanton turned a 32-24 halftime lead into a waltz as Porter got a hot hand in the third quarter and scored 14 points, at one time hitting six consecutive shots.

Two other starters — Larry Mills and Marlon McCuen — also collected double figures with 15 and 10 points, respectively.

Springfield's Gary Danko led his team with 19 points. The football star got nine field goals and a foul.

Only a fair-sized crowd was on hand to see the Red Raiders initiate the gym with their first victory. In the preliminary, Springfield's Reserves romped to a 42-26 victory over the Stanton Local Reserves of Coach Don McBride.

Looking on is Wellsville center Steve Baldwin (11). Midland rallied late to record its third straight victory.

Columbiana Falls, 58-51

Columbiana was dealt a surprise Tuesday night at Springfield Local, coming out on the short end of a 58-51 contest.

The loss was the first for the Clippers in two outings after they had romped over North Lima Saturday.

Sonedecker's 13 points paced Springfield which showed a pretty well balanced attack with 13 the high and six the low by six different players.

Dale Murphy tallied 14 points to pace Coach Rich Berryman's five.

N. Cumberland Notches 3rd Straight, 57-48, At Western Beaver

Western Beaver had its eye on an upset for three quarters but the New Cumberland Blue Raiders pulled away in the final eight minutes to come out on top, 57-48, Tuesday night on the Western Beaver court.

A nip and tuck battle all the way through, New Cumberland grabbed a 12-9 first period lead but Western battled back to a 21-21 tie at halftime and were within one point 38-37 at the end of the third quarter.

Coach John Kuzio's Blue Raiders, which posted their third straight showed a balanced attack with four of his starters in the twin figures. Leading the attack was Jim Burskey with 13 while Ken Freshwater netted 12 and sophomore Dennis Carnes and Allan Katzenmeyer tossed in 10 each. Chuck Krause was high for the losers with a 12-point effort.

Western Beaver entertains Northwestern Friday night.

Duke Continues To Roll, 90-70

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jeff (Pork Chop) Mullins and Jay (Bird) Buckley provided enough ammunition to overcome a bad night by Art Heyman, who was limited to 13 points, as second-ranked Duke rapped Vanderbilt 90-70 Tuesday.

Buckley probably is the key to Duke's fortunes this season. Heyman and Mullins are proven commodities. But the 6-foot-10 junior has to prove he's tough enough to tangle underneath the boards.

Heyman was held to 13 points by the Commodores, but the Pork Chop-Bird combo took up the slack. Mullins wound up with 22 points and Buckley finished with 21. Vandy sophomore Roger Schurig took scoring honors with 30 points.

Only one other top-ten team was in action. Sixth-ranked West Virginia, led by peppery Jim McCormick, outclassed Richmond 78-59 in a Southern Conference game. In another Southern game, VMI nipped George Washington 74-73.

Elsewhere on the conference scene, North Carolina State used a jump shot by John Key with 2 seconds remaining in overtime for a 76-74 decision over Maryland, and Vermont defeated New Hampshire 78-73 in a Yankee Conference clash.

In other top games, Notre Dame sophomores Walt Sahm and Larry Sheffield scored 27 and 24 points, respectively, as the Irish whipped Western Michigan 82-68, sophomore James King sank a foul shot after time ran out in overtime for Oklahoma State's 46-45 triumph over Arkansas and Santa Clara spilled Wichita 72-67.

William & Mary snapped an 18-game losing streak on the road with Roger Bergey's basket providing the winning margin in a 71-69 victory over Virginia. Duquense won its fourth straight, 68-56 over Georgetown, D.C. Penn State did the same, 62-40 over Colgate and Rutgers snapped Columbia's winning streak at three, 88-68.

Gerry Ward held Yale ace Rick Kaminsky to four points and scored 15 as Boston College nipped the Elis 59-57 and Wake Forest limited Billy Hoy to three points while breezing to a 75-46 triumph over St. Joseph's Pa.

In some of the others, Washington State defeated Gonzaga 70-66, Air Force topped Hardin-Simmons 58-37, Baylor belted Trinity, Tex., 90-70, Villanova crushed Scranton 88-63, Texas A&M thumped Southern Mississippi 87-61, Maine beat Bates 64-57, Boston U. walloped Suffolk 79-58, and Fresno State knocked off San Jose State 57-42.

Pro-Am Will Serve As Tourney Warm-Up

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Over 100 amateurs will team up with some 40 professionals today in an 18-hole pro-amateur meet which serves as a warm-up for Thursday's start of the Mexican Open Golf Tournament.

Some of golf's finest players, including Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo, former Masters and PGA champion Jackie Burke of Houston, Caribbean circuit winner Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., and defending Mexican Open champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., will compete in the pro-am and the open.

Taylor, Michaels Battle For NFL Scoring Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, Green Bay's fullback, and Lous Michaels, Pittsburgh's fine place kicker, are in a tight race for the National Football League scoring honors going into the final week of the season.

Neither will approach the all-time record of 176 points set by Paul Hornung of Green Bay in 1961 with 146 points, dropped out of the race due to a knee injury after a fast start.

Michaels broke the NFL record for field goals in one season when he boosted his total to 24 Sunday by kicking four in the Steelers' 26-17 victory over Philadelphia.

Taylor remains the top ground gainer with 1,318 yards in 249 attempts, according to league statistics released today. He also paces the scorers with 108 points as compared to 101 for runner-up Lou Michaels of Pittsburgh. Jimmy Brown, who led five straight years from 1957 through 1961, is fourth with 861.

The Packers' Bart Starr maintains his lead among the passers, having completed 64 per cent of his tosses, 162 to 253 attempts for 2,233 yards.

Bobby Mitchell of the Washington Redskins ranks as the leading pass receiver with 68 catches for 1,294 yards. Willie Wood of Green Bay has intercepted the most passes, nine, for 132 yards returned.

Jockey Bill Hartack Hurt In Fall Off Horse

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of the country's leading jockeys, Bill Hartack, spent the night in a hospital after falling from a horse at Tropical Park.

Doctors said he suffered only bruises and shock and planned to release him today.

There was no word on when he would ride again.

Hartack's mount, Looking Ahead, apparently shied away from a reflection on the track. Running far back of the pack, the horse veered to the outside as he approached the stretch turn.

The 29-year-old Miami Springs jockey fell to the inside. He landed feet first, tumbled over, tried to get up and fell back on the ground.

Browns' First Draft Choice Signs For '63

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tom Hutchinson, the Cleveland Browns' first choice in the National Football League draft last week, signed a 1963 contract with the club Tuesday.

The 6-foot-1, 189-pound end from Kentucky was a three-time All-Southeastern Conference selection, the only lineman to gain that distinction in the history of the conference.

Newell Rallies To Take Daylight Tilt At Chester, 50-43

BY BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Afternoon basketball, an innovation for the district, saw Newell come racing from behind in the fourth quarter to hand rival Chester a 50-43 setback in the opener for Coach Max Tuttle's Panthers.

The daylight contest was played before a large student crowd Tuesday at Chester and marked the first of four games scheduled between the two Hancock County schools this season.

Coach John Robison's well-balanced team posted its third win in four outings, beaten only by New Cumberland.

Fred Ferrell, a 6-foot-2 cager, paved the way through a ding-dong fourth quarter which found the two squads battling right down to the wire.

Ferrell was held scoreless in the first half but managed to pump in 10 points during the torrid fourth period. He wound up with 13 points, including three field goals and was deadly from the foul line by making seven for seven.

Ferrell Leads 4th Quarter Drive

Newell led during the early part of the game taking an 11-8 first period margin but Chester, sparked by Kelse Johnson and Gary Mayhew, pulled out to a 22-18 halftime lead as the visiting Vikings went cold as the outdoors in only producing seven points during the second quarter.

Chester maintained the four-point edge to the end of the third frame, 34-30, but lost one of its starters, Jim Tridico, with 1:45 left in the period.

Ferrell started early in the fourth quarter to lead the rally by hitting a two - pointer to bring the Vikings within two, 34-32.

With 6:57 left in the game, Tom Franczek dropped in a jump shot that knotted the score at 34-34 and put the Vikings back into the game.

This was the first of three ties in the final eight minutes with the last coming at 38-38 and 3:12 showing on the clock. Sam Simmons came up with two timely field goals that drove Newell into the lead to stay at 42-38, then Ferrell dropped in another goal to provide a six-point edge.

However, it wasn't over yet. With one minute left Kelse Johnson fired in a long one hander then was fouled with 43 seconds to go and converted one point to put Chester within three, 44-41.

Franczek's two fouls pushed the lead to 46-41 with 38 seconds to go but Tom Smusz, a Panther sophomore who handled himself like a veteran, pushed in a jump shot with 30 seconds to go. This left the score at 46-43.

The clock showed 19 seconds to go when Walt Elliott was given a chance to score two points from the free throw line but he missed on his first attempt. Terry Robinson's two fouls and Ferrell's final basket put the contest in safe keeping for the Vikings.

Ferrell and Simmons tied for scoring honors with 13 each while Robinson chipped in with a strong 12-point performance.

Johnson paced Chester by hitting for 13. Mayhew and Bob Myers had eight each.

Each team lost three starters by the foul route with Tridico, Johnson and Mayhew leaving the game for the Panthers. Newell lost Jim Johnson, Simmons and Franczek.

Newell defeated Chester, 50-43.

Ex-Baylor Back Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Ronnie Bull, the Chicago Bears' fine running halfback from Baylor, was named Rookie-of-the-Year in the National Football League today by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities.

Bull, the Bears' No. 1 draft choice a year ago after leading Baylor in running and pass receiving for three straight seasons, started his pro career working on defense. After a succession of injuries to Willie Galimore, Rick Casares, Charley Bivins and Joe Marconi crippled the Bears, Bull moved to offense.

"He hasn't reached his peak yet," said coach George Halas recently in Chicago. "He is going to be a great runner."

Although Bull carried the ball only nine times for 26 yards and did not catch a pass in the Bears' first three games, his figures through last Sunday's 13th game show 37 yards in 103 carries for a 3.6 yard average and 29 passes for 324 yards. He also has returned nine kickoffs for 235 yards.

Red Sox Deal 2 Players To Gain Mets' Mantilla

NEW YORK (AP)—The new-look Boston Red Sox hierarchy has stepped into the center of baseball's bustling trade mart again and peddled a pair of players who apparently fell into disfavor at Beantown - infielder Pumpsie Green and pitcher Tracy Stallard.

Green, the first Negro to play for the Red Sox, and Stallard, the man on the mound when Roger Maris hit home run No. 61 in 1961, were sent to the New York Mets Tuesday in a 3-for-1 trade that brought utilityman Felix Mantilla to Boston.

The Red Sox also will deliver a third player-a minor leaguer-to the Mets at a later date.

In another transaction Tuesday, the Philadelphia Phillies acquired catcher Earl Averill from the Los Angeles Angels for outfielder Jack Davis. The trades were the ninth and 10th of the inter-league trading period, which ends at midnight Saturday.

When Boston owner Tom Yawkey made Mike Higgins vice president and installed Johnny Peskey as manager he promised, "we are ready to make every intelligent move we can to improve the Red Sox." The Red Sox have been out in the market place ever since.

The trade for Mantilla, who played all infield positions for the Mets except first base and batted .275 in 141 games, was the third of the inter-league session for the Red Sox, who have been the most active team in the dealings between American and National League clubs.

Three of the nine American League hitters with .300 averages last season, played for Kansas City. They were Norm Siebern .308 and Jerry Lumpe and Manny Jimenez, both .301.

Baylor Bags 42 In Lakers' Win; Knicks Nip Celts

NEW YORK (AP)—For Elgin Baylor, the great Los Angeles Laker star, obviously the best thing about being in the Army is getting out.

"It's great to be back playing full time," Baylor said, after he poured in 42 points and led the Lakers to a 124-121 victory over the Cincinnati Royals in a National Basketball Association doubleheader here Tuesday night.

In the second game, the New York Knicks won their fourth straight—for the first time in two seasons—as they led almost all the way in trimming the Boston Celtics 95-87. A crowd of 15,237 attended.

With Wilt Chamberlain pumping in 61 points, the San Francisco Warriors ended their losing string at 11 games with a 136-124 victory over Syracuse.

Baylor was in the Army last season, and available to the Lakers only intermittenly.

Now discharged, the ex-Seattle All-America already established as an all-time NBA great, says he thinks he may be "shooting a little better, this year."

In four seasons, Syracuse freshman football teams have compiled a 14-1-1 record under coach Jim Shreve.

Newell Rallies To Take Daylight Tilt At Chester, 50-43

BY BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Afternoon basketball, an innovation for the district, saw Newell come racing from behind in the fourth quarter to hand rival Chester a 50-43 setback in the opener for Coach Max Tuttle's Panthers.

The daylight contest was played before a large student crowd Tuesday at Chester and marked the first of four games scheduled between the two Hancock County schools this season.

Coach John Robison's well-balanced team posted its third win in four outings, beaten only by New Cumberland.

Fred Ferrell, a 6-foot-2 cager, paved the way through a ding-dong fourth quarter which found the two squads battling right down to the wire.

Ferrell was held scoreless in the first half but managed to pump in 10 points during the torrid fourth period. He wound up with 13 points, including three field goals and was deadly from the foul line by making seven for seven.

Ferrell Leads 4th Quarter Drive

Newell led during the early part of the game taking an 11-8 first period margin but Chester, sparked by Kelse Johnson and Gary Mayhew, pulled out to a 22-18 halftime lead as the visiting Vikings went cold as the outdoors in only producing seven points during the second quarter.

Chester maintained the four-point edge to the end of the third frame, 34-30, but lost one of its starters, Jim Tridico, with 1:45 left in the period.

Ferrell started early in the fourth quarter to lead the rally by hitting a two-pointer to bring the Vikings within two, 34-32.

With 6:57 left in the game, Tom Franczek dropped in a jump shot that knotted the score at 34-34 and put the Vikings back into the game.

This was the first of three ties in the final eight minutes with the last coming at 38-38 and 3:12 showing on the clock. Sam Simmons came up with two timely field goals that drove Newell into the lead to stay at 42-38, then Ferrell dropped in another goal to provide a six-point edge.

However, it wasn't over yet. With one minute left Kelse Johnson fired in a long one hander then was fouled with 43 seconds to go and converted one point to put Chester within three, 44-41.

Franczek's two fouls pushed the lead to 46-41 with 38 seconds to go but Tom Smusz, a Panther sophomore who handled himself like a veteran, pushed in a jump shot with 30 seconds to go. This left the score at 46-43.

The clock showed 19 seconds to go when Walt Elliott was given a chance to score two points from the free throw line but he missed on his first attempt. Terry Robinson's two fouls and Ferrell's final basket put the contest in safe keeping for the Vikings.

Ferrell and Simmons tied for scoring honors with 13 each while Robinson chipped in with a strong 12-point performance.

Johnson paced Chester by hitting for 13. Mayhew and Bob Myers had eight each.

Each team lost three starters by the foul route with Tridico, Johnson and Mayhew leaving the game for the Panthers. Newell lost Jim Johnson, Simmons and Franczek.

Ferrell 3-7-7-13; Simmons 5-3-10-13; Franczek 2-3-5-7; Robinson 4-4-5-12; Johnson 1-1-1-3; Smith 1-0-0-2; Hall 0-0-1-0. Totals 16-18-29-50.
CHESTER—43
Johnson 4-5-9-13; Mayhew 3-2-5-8; Tridico 1-4-9-6; Myers 1-6-8-8; Elliott 1-1-3-3; Smusz 1-2-2-4. Totals 11-21-36-43.
NEWELL	11	18	30	50

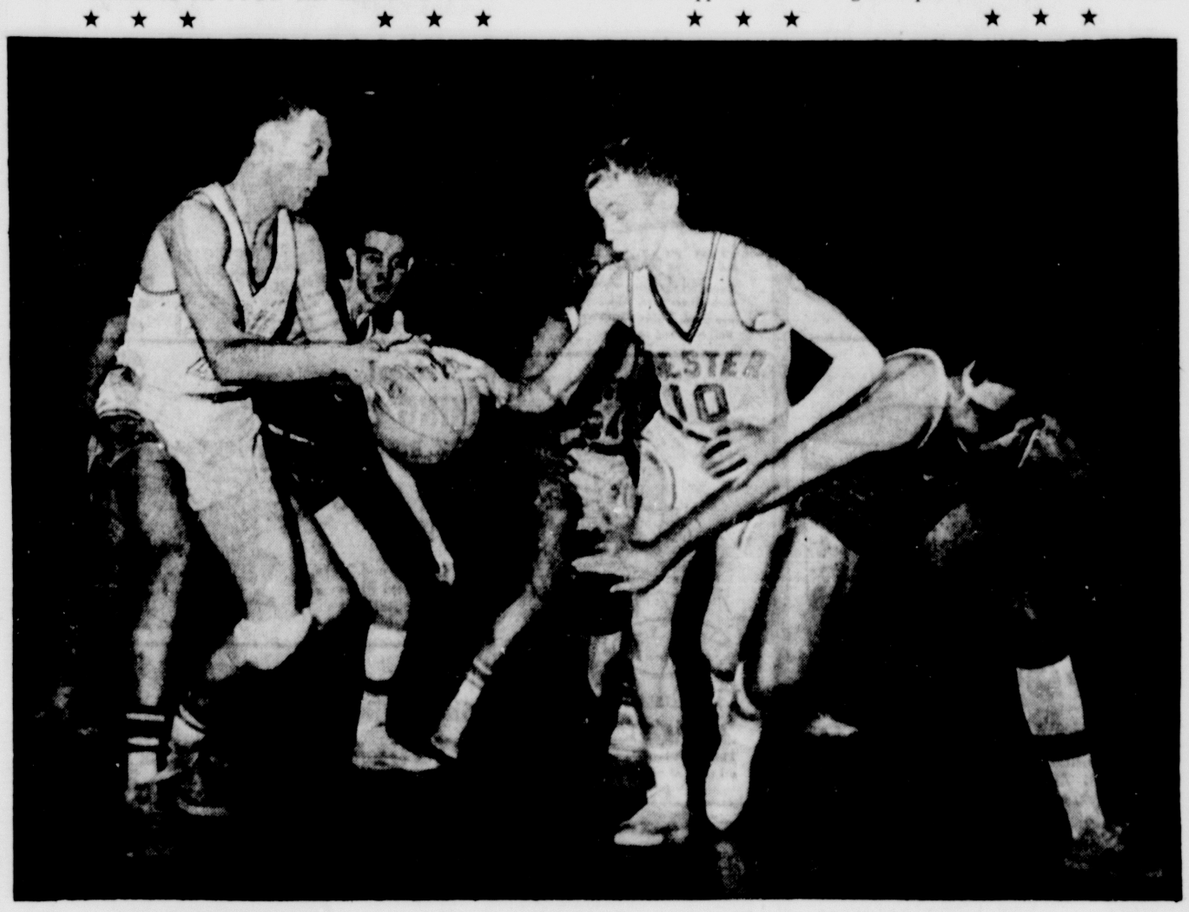
Officials — Walter Heil and Gene Smarella.



NEWELL'S TOM FRANCZEK (extreme right) attempts to gain possession for the Vikings in a scramble for a loose ball which seems to be in the hands of Chester's Jim Tridico (left) and Kelse Johnson (10) during action in the first half of Tuesday's afternoon game at Chester between the Vikings and Panthers. Newell defeated Chester, 50-43.

Red Sox Deal 2 Players To Gain Mets' Mantilla

NEW YORK (AP)—The new-look Boston Red Sox hierarchy has stepped into the center of baseball's bustling trade mart again and peddled a pair of players who apparently fell into disfavor at Beantown - infielder Pumpsie Green and pitcher Tracy Stallard.

Green, the first Negro to play for the Red Sox, and Stallard, the man on the mound when Roger Maris hit home run No. 61 in 1961, were sent to the New York Mets Tuesday in a 3-for-1 trade that brought utilityman Felix Mantilla to Boston.

The Red Sox also will deliver a third player-a minor leaguer-to the Mets at a later date.

In another transaction Tuesday, the Philadelphia Phillies acquired catcher Earl Averill from the Los Angeles Angels for outfielder Jack Davis. The trades were the ninth and 10th of the inter-league trading period, which ends at midnight Saturday.

When Boston owner Tom Yawkey made Mike Higgins vice president and installed Johnny Peskey as manager he promised, "we are ready to make every intelligent move we can to improve the Red Sox." The Red Sox have been out in the market place ever since.

The trade for Mantilla, who played all infield positions for the Mets except first base and batted .275 in 141 games, was the third of the inter-league session for the Red Sox, who have been the most active team in the dealings between American and National League clubs.

Three of the nine American League hitters with .300 averages last season, played for Kansas City. They were Norm Siebern .308 and Jerry Lumpe and Manny Jimenez, both .301.

Baylor Bags 42 In Lakers' Win; Knicks Nip Celts

NEW YORK (AP)—For Elgin Baylor, the great Los Angeles Laker star, obviously the best thing about being in the Army is getting out.

"It's great to be back playing full time," Baylor said, after he poured in 42 points and led the Lakers to a 124-121 victory over the Cincinnati Royals in a National Basketball Association doubleheader here Tuesday night.

In the second game, the New York Knicks won their fourth straight—for the first time in two seasons—as they led almost all the way in trimming the Boston Celtics 95-87. A crowd of 15,237 attended.

With Wilt Chamberlain pumping in 61 points, the San Francisco Warriors ended their losing string at 11 games with a 136-124 victory over Syracuse.

Baylor was in the Army last season, and available to the Lakers only intermittenly.

Now discharged, the ex-Seattle All-America already established as an all-time NBA great, says he thinks he may be "shooting a little better, this year."

In four seasons, Syracuse freshman football teams have compiled a 14-1-1 record under coach Jim Shreve.

Ex-Baylor Back Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Ronnie Bull, the Chicago Bears' fine running halfback from Baylor, was named Rookie-of-the-Year in the National Football League today by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities.

Bull, the Bears' No. 1 draft choice a year ago after leading Baylor in running and pass receiving for three straight seasons, started his pro career working on defense. After a succession of injuries to Willie Galimore, Rick Casares, Charley Bivins and Joe Marconi crippled the Bears, Bull moved to offense.

"He hasn't reached his peak yet," said coach George Halas recently in Chicago. "He is going to be a great runner."

Although Bull carried the ball only nine times for 26 yards and did not catch a pass in the Bears' first three games, his figures through last Sunday's 13th game show 37 yards in 103 carries for a 3.6 yard average and 29 passes for 324 yards. He also has returned nine kickoffs for 235 yards.

New Well Seen No Threat To Natural Water Supply

Major new wells drilled by municipalities pose no real threat to the underground water supply, contrary to popular belief of suburbanites, the Ohio Division of Water at Columbus has decided after a two-year survey.

Investigation made in Springfield and Canton, which supply their communities from new deep wells, show that "there is enough water for all," the state agency declared.

Levels dropped in the Eagle City area when Springfield began pumping new wells along the Mad River, the report said. But a report prepared by Paul Kaser, state hydrologist, concluded that "no one in the area was deprived of access to water and that it would be impossible to dry up the valley with existing equipment."

The study found that the most any well level went below normal was 23 feet, with a total pumping head of 35 feet.

The most important question answered by the study was the amount of infiltration that could be expected from the Mad River, the hydrologist said. In one 31-day period, infiltration "was enough greater than pumpage to restore all the water borrowed from underground storage during the preceding 160 days," he said.

Early fears caused some homeowners to deepen wells to 90 feet where the level did not drop below 25 feet, he said.

The commission also reported that the effect of pumping by the city of Canton has been "modest." The commission held a hearing on the effects of pumping north of Strasburg in the Sugar Creek area when Canton purchased land to build a new water plant and run a 16-mile pipeline to serve the city.

The investigation showed the underground source has a capacity of 160 million gallons a day, although Canton plans to pump only 20 million gallons.

"In April, Canton began pumping the new field and the division found that water levels went down no more than four feet, even though the area was in a drought," the report said.

The agency also announced that underground water resources maps have been completed for all areas of the state, climaxing an eight-year study. Single copies are free by ordering from: Ohio Division of Water, 1562 W. 1st Ave., Columbus, 12.

Many Businessmen Don't See Big Help In Tax Cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — Getting America going again, say many businessmen, is not nearly so easy a matter as merely cutting taxes.

Some, while they feel it must be done, doubt that it would pep things up much.

Others, while they feel it would indeed pep things up, question whether current budgets could stand it.

Interviews with businessmen and business economists across the nation found little agreement on the administration's reported plans to try to reduce taxes on personal and corporate incomes by $10 billion in 1963.

The Kennedy administration thesis is that cutting taxes will generate enough additional business activity to produce enough new tax revenue to replace cuts.

"I can't get it through my head," said H. O. Bercher, president of International Harvester in Chicago, "how you can get more money by cutting revenue."

There's general agreement in principle, however, that taxes are too high in relation to business activity.

Harvard economist John Lintner says, "Present tax rates were fine for the days of the immediate post-war era when pent-up demand threatened to overheat the economy. Then, restraint was needed."

"The economy today," he adds, "is not characterized by excess money."

The case for cutting taxes in the lower brackets is less a matter of incentives and more a matter of expanding basic purchasing power. This is the area cited by the administration and most economists as offering the best lever for moving the economy.

"The great bulk of the people," said Howard M. Packard of A. C. Johnson and Co. of Racine, Wis., "have to scramble to make ends meet."

A Dallas banker said there is little doubt in his mind but that these people would spend almost every additional cent they would retain through tax reductions.

Du Pont economist William H. Shaw estimates, however, that only about half the money freed would be spent in 1963. Also, he said, higher social security taxes taking effect Jan. 1 would tend to mask much of the increase in available spending money. Thus, he doubts there would be a big immediate impact on the economy.

Subdivisions To Pay $4,474 As Share Of Cost In Election

Fifteen Columbiana County subdivisions will pay $4,474 as their share of the cost of submitting special questions and issues in the November general election.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, Election Board clerk, said today the charges have been certified to Auditor Kenneth Bell to be withheld from the next tax settlements due the subdivisions.

The governmental agencies will be charged for ballots and legal advertising in connection with the propositions they submitted. The county government will be charged for expenses in connection with submission of a County Home levy and a proposed state amendment defining certain commodities for sale on Sunday.

In even - numbered years, the subdivisions are charged only for ballots and advertising expenses, O'Hanlon explained. If they submit propositions next year, the law provides they will pay a larger percentage of the costs.

The East Liverpool municipal government will be charged $225 in connection with a vote on renewal of a 1-mill fireman's levy —$203 for ballots and $22 for advertising.

The East Liverpool School District, which submitted two levies, will pay a total of $504. The costs charged against the school district include $460 for ballots and $43 for advertising.

The county tax levy proposal cost a total of $1,378 — $1,359 for ballots and $19 for advertising. The state amendment will cost the county $1,189 — all of it for ballots, as there was no legal advertising.

Other chargebacks are: East Palestine city, $158; Wellsville city $96; Salineville village, $55; Elkrun Township, $35; Franklin Township, $56; Knox Township, $98; Liverpool Township, $71.

Washington Township, $55; West Township, $53; East Palestine School District, $193; Wellsville School District, $119; Fairfield - Waterford School District, $72, and United Local School District, $111.

Woman Draws Term For Slaying Ex-Mate

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 43-year-old woman has been sentenced to prison for one to 20 years for the slaying of her ex-husband in an East Side apartment last summer.

Mrs. Mary K. Champanella was convicted of first - degree manslaughter Tuesday night in the fatal shooting of her divorced husband, Frank Champanella, the night of July 31.

Charged with first-degree murder, Mrs. Champanella broke down and cried when she heard the verdict of a Common Pleas Court jury. The jurors had spent more than 13 hours in deciding her fate.

Judge J.J.P. Corrigan, in sentencing Mrs. Champanella, described the verdict as "fair, just and humane."

Equal parts of mayonnaise and sour cream make an excellent base for blue cheese salad dressing. If the dressing is thicker than you wish, after the cheese is finely mashed and added to the mayonnaise and sour cream mixture, thin with a little cream.

The county tax levy proposal cost a total of $1,378 — $1,359 for ballots and $19 for advertising. The state amendment will cost the county $1,189 — all of it for ballots, as there was no legal advertising.

Other chargebacks are: East Palestine city, $158; Wellsville city $96; Salineville village, $55; Elkrun Township, $35; Franklin Township, $56; Knox Township, $98; Liverpool Township, $71.

Washington Township, $55; West Township, $53; East Palestine School District, $193; Wellsville School District, $119; Fairfield - Waterford School District, $72, and United Local School District, $111.

Woman Draws Term For Slaying Ex-Mate

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 43-year-old woman has been sentenced to prison for one to 20 years for the slaying of her ex-husband in an East Side apartment last summer.

Mrs. Mary K. Champanella was convicted of first - degree manslaughter Tuesday night in the fatal shooting of her divorced husband, Frank Champanella, the night of July 31.

Charged with first-degree murder, Mrs. Champanella broke down and cried when she heard the verdict of a Common Pleas Court jury. The jurors had spent more than 13 hours in deciding her fate.

Judge J.J.P. Corrigan, in sentencing Mrs. Champanella, described the verdict as "fair, just and humane."

Equal parts of mayonnaise and sour cream make an excellent base for blue cheese salad dressing. If the dressing is thicker than you wish, after the cheese is finely mashed and added to the mayonnaise and sour cream mixture, thin with a little cream.

Groundbreaking In Spring

Chester Kiwanians Told Housing Project Details

Groundbreaking for the proposed $1.3 million housing project for elderly persons near Chester may be held in the spring, William Harper of Chester, developer, told the Chester Kiwanis Club at a meeting Tuesday night at the City Hall auditorium.

Harper said the Shamrock Engineering Co. of Gary, Ind., is general contractor for the project, called Salem Hills, Inc., to be built on the late J. E. Harper farm on Middle Run and the recently improved road to Waterford Park.

Harper said one of the two persons residing in the single units of the project must be 62 or older to qualify. Plans call for 100 units, each to rent for $107 a month which will include utilities and medical care and hourly transportation to and from town.

Harper said tenants will be given the first opportunity to operate small stores and shops in the project. He said the general contractor will sublet work to local contractors and craftsmen.

He said plans are now being made for installation of water, gas and electric power. Cost of the project has been estimated at $1,295,000, with the money to be loaned to the incorporation from a retirement fund of the AFL-CIO.

It is also planned to build a chapel, recreation facilities and a community type disposal system he said.

About 20 attended the meeting at which Paul Finley, president, announced officers will be installed at a Ladies Night meeting Jan. 15 by Ned Hunter of Wheeling, lieutenant governor - elect. Albert Kell, Tom Ridge and Richard Pillo are the committee in charge.

Tom Martin, Key Club member, was a guest.

Steve Harris, Chester High School student slated to speak, was unable to be present because he is convalescing from dental surgery.

Civil War Group Hears Outline Of Fredericksburg

The repulse of Union Gen. Ambrose Burnside's attack against Fredericksburg, Va., in 1862, was discussed by Clarence Williams of near Wellsville at a meeting of the Tri - State Civil War Roundtable Tuesday night.

Williams, utilizing two maps prepared by George Williams, traced the background and the logistical and tactical details of the December battle in which the Union move was driven back by Gen. Robert Lee's Confederate army.

Joseph Robbins reported on future plans of the reactivated 104th Ohio regiment. Two men from Beaver attended.

Wayne Wallace, president, was in charge. Election of officers is slated for the meeting Jan. 9.

Running In Purple

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — County Judge Arch Campbell has made purple his official color. All county road machinery and other public vehicles are painted a dazzling shade of purple. The judge has the paint made in a factory from his own special formula. And every two years when he runs for re-election, his campaign signs consist of simple purple posters with no lettering at all.

Pension Plans Aired In Rotary Club Talk

A newly-enacted law setting up a pension plan for professional mer and small business men was discussed by Richard R. Crable, head of his own accounting firm, for fellow Rotarians Tuesday afternoon at the club's luncheon at the Travelers Hotel.

Signed by President Kennedy on Oct. 10, the purpose of the new law is to provide a pension plan for self-employed people, Crable said, explaining its effect actually is to delay taxes on current profits, at least in part, until the income and any additional income derived from it actually is paid to the taxpayer.

"No federal income tax will be paid on this money, which is set up in a pension fund, until it actually is distributed."

Corporations have for many years permitted their employes and key personnel to participate in pension and profit - sharing plans, which after being approved by the Treasury Department, are allowed as a deduction against corporate profits.

Crable outlined who may participate, the amount of the contribution allowable, types of plans available and how benefits are paid.

Those who can participate generally are defined as those who pay their self-employment tax, better known as Social Security, at the same time that they pay their income tax.

However, the new law also provides that members of the clergy and medical doctors have the right to establish and obtain approval for a retirement income plan.

A partnership also can be covered under the provisions of the law, Crable said, as long as a partner owns 10 per cent or more of the partnership. Each partner files his self - employment tax along with his income tax and becomes eligible under the new act, he explained.

Fight Stubborn Fire

AMELIA, Ohio (AP)—Firemen from three departments were called in Tuesday to fight a stubborn blaze at the Village Dry Cleaners which caused an estimated $30,000 damage. Two firemen were injured. The fire-fighting was hampered by extreme cold which caused the water in some hoses to freeze.

Quick dish: cook halved chicken livers in butter or margarine; add to heated canned meatless tomato spaghetti sauce. Serve the sauce over cooked pasta with a green salad and crusty French bread for a speedy supper.

Ex-Grandview Janitor Dies

Herbert Gallop, 80, of Chester R. D. 1, a former janitor at Grandview School, died this morning at 8:15 at the Greystone Rest Home in Wellsville, following an illness of two years.

He was born Feb. 4, 1882, in Beaver County to Frederick Gallop and Isabella Mason Gallop. He worked at one time at the former American Sheet & Tin Plate Co. in Chester.

He leaves a son, Harry Gallop of Chester; a daughter, Miss Sylvia Gallop of East Liverpool, a grandson and five great-grandchildren.

The Chester Arner Funeral Chapel is arranging services.

Roy H. Russell

EAST PALESTINE — Roy H. Russell, 901 W. Martin St., died Tuesday night at 8:35 at the Cupola Nursing Home at Leetonia, where he had been since 1956.

Mr. Russell, 82, was a retired employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He was born April 9, 1880, at Hammondsville to Reuben Russell and Sarah Forner Russell. He was married in 1918 to Roxanna Miller.

Mr. Russell retired from the railroad in 1945, and was employed for a time at the Armstrong Cork Co. at Beaver Falls.

Besides his widow, who is also a resident of the nursing home, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Dolan of East Palestine; a sister, Mrs. Mabel Newton of Wellsville, and three grandchildren and four great - grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the Oliver Funeral Home by the Rev. Thomas Hammerton of the Centenary Methodist Church. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday night at the funeral home.

George Mendell

George R. Mendell, 71, of Akron, a former resident of Wellsville, died Monday evening of a sudden illness.

He and his wife were riding on a bus uptown about 6 p. m. when he collapsed. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Akron General Hospital.

He was a storekeeper for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. with 44 years service. Born in Wellsville, he resided in that area before going to Akron 22 years ago.

He was a member of Cambridge Masonic Lodge 66 and was a former member of the Wellsville lodge.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Martha E. Mendell at home; a son, Dr. George E. Mendell of Akron and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Billow Akron Chapel, 118 Ash St., Akron, by the Rev. William E. Ferguson of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Spring Hill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Services for David S. Blackburn, son of Samuel C. Blackburn and Arlene Blair Blackburn of Wyoming St., Glenmoor, will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Dawson Funeral Home.

The Rev. James F. Donald, pastor of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, will officiate and burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

He died Tuesday morning at City Hospital after a lingering illness.

Survivors include a maternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Blair of Midland.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday.

Charles A. Straub

EAST PALESTINE — Charles A. Straub, 452 Alice St., retired engineer at the municipal power plant, died Tuesday afternoon at 4 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital at Youngstown, where he had been a patient for eight days. He was 76.

Mr. Straub was born at Pittsburgh Oct. 1, 1886, to Charles Straub and Elizabeth Kerchner Straub, and had resided most of his life in this area.

He retired about one and a half years ago. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Enon Valley, the Eagles Lodge and the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

He was married in 1913 to the former Eunice Ward.

Besides his widow, survivors include a son, Clarence Straub of East Palestine; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Huff of East Palestine and Mrs. Cora Stubbins of Alliance, and two brothers, John Straub of Cannelton, Pa., and Henry Straub of Salem.

Services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home by the Rev. Charles Goshorn. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday at the funeral home.

N. M. Wolfe

Noly (Natty) M. Wolfe, 1023 Ohio Ave., a retired potter, died this morning at 5:30 at City Hospital after a lingering illness. He was 76.

Mr. Wolfe was born in Murraysville, W. Va., to Peter Wolfe and Cassandra Bennett Wolfe. He came here when he was 12. He was employed last at the Wellsville China Co., retiring in 1956.

At one time he pitched amateur and semi-pro baseball in East Liverpool. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church and the IBOP.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Esther Wright Wolfe, and a daughter, Miss Grace G. Wolfe, both at home; two other daughters, Mrs. Martha E. Hanna and Mrs. Charlotte B. Lough, a son, Frank K. Wolfe, and a sister, Mrs. Hazel Slack, all of East Liverpool; another sister, Mrs. Bertha Pilchard of Denville, N. J., and seven grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

The Dawson Funeral Home is arranging services.

Community Chest Progress Reported By Wellsville Club

A report on the progress in a proposal to organize a Community Chest program for Wellsville was heard at a meeting of the Wellsville Women's Civic Club Tuesday night at the Elks Lodge.

Mrs. Evelyn Nightingale said a meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 in the City Hall Council Chambers to further discuss the proposal and to elect officers.

The Civic Club initiated the proposal. Representatives from all civic, fraternal and veterans organizations are urged to attend the session.

The meeting had been slated for Friday night.

Mrs. Floreine Broderick, president, conducted business. A discussion was held on the Christmas street decorations. A donation was made to the Chamber of Commerce for the purchase of additional decorations.

Mrs. Jean Tipton reported on the proposed arts and hobbies classes to be conducted in the spring. Plans tentatively call for classes one night a week for eight weeks beginning March 6. Registration will be Feb. 27.

A nominating committee was named to present a slate of officers at the Jan. 8 meeting. It includes Mrs. Louise Lawton, Mrs. Nightingale, Mrs. Martha Sommers and Mrs. Jean Broderick, chairman.

The social committee for the January meeting will be Mrs. Helen Welch, chairman, Mrs. Marjorie Harkins, Mrs. Peg Rawlings and Mrs. Janet O'Hara.

Mrs. Lawton conducted three musical guessing games. Winners were Mrs. Marjorie Dysert, Mrs. Goldie Steele and Mrs. Jean Broderick.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nightingale, Mrs. Grace Woodward, Mrs. Mary Carroll, Mrs. Sommers, Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Tipton. A gift exchange was held.

The table was decorated in a Christmas theme. Mrs. Zeta Penn was inducted as a new member.

Meeting Of Dairymen Arranged For Jan. 17

LISBON — The annual meeting of the Columbiana - Mahoning Dairy Herd Improvement Association will be Jan. 17 at the Goshen Grange Hall, and not Dec. 17, as reported Tuesday.

The meeting was scheduled for last Monday, but was postponed due to weather conditions.

The program will remain the same — election of three board members and a talk by Kenneth Brown, Trumbull County dairyman.

Chip Off Old Crop

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Banana chips are a popular substitute for potato chips in banana - growing Ecuador. They are made the same way — the cook simply substitutes sliced bananas for sliced potatoes.

Greene Supervisors Push Road Clearing

The Greene Township Board of Supervisors met Monday night and reported Tuesday they are still working to clear some township roads of snow.

W. C. Roderick, chairman, said the township's graders and a couple of rented hi-lifts have been used.

Other road work in the past month was reported. About a half mile of Alloway Rd. was widened and sewer pipe installed.

Supervisors met at the home of William McGaffick of Hookstown R. D. 1, where they will meet again Jan. 2. McGaffick is secretary-treasurer.

Rhodes Issues Report On General Revenue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A survey just completed by state Auditor James A. Rhodes on Ohio's general revenue fund operations for the first five months of the current fiscal year shows receipts totaling $323,462,499 and expenditures of $293,027,104.

Rhodes aid contributing to this $30,435,395 in excess revenues were two major items—a hike of $10 million in tax collections, and an increase of $16.5 million in the transfer of liquor profits to the general revenue fund.

150 Attend South Side Seniors' Class Play

About 150 attended the South Side Senior Class play, "Books and Crooks," a three-act comedy, Tuesday night at the high school near Hookstown.

Proceeds will be used for the seniors' trip to Washington next spring.

Following the play, the east and others who worked with the play held a party in the home economics room.

Robert Pardue, director, was presented a gift.

Hopes Black In New York Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Hopes for a speedy end to the printers strike that has blacked out all nine of this city's major dailies seemed blacker than ever today.

Labor Secretary W. Williard Wirtz called it "an extremely serious situation" that could keep the papers out for weeks. He left Tuesday night for a speaking engagement in Atlanta, Ga., after a day here trying to break the deadlock.

Wirtz left behind the nation's top negotiator—Director William E. Simkin of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service—to sit in at a joint bargaining session today between representatives of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union Local 6 and the Publishers Association of New York.

But, asked if either side had changed its position on wages and fringe benefits since the strike began early last Saturday, Simkin replied:

"Not fundamentally."

The ITU's 3,000 printers on the nine dailies seek an $18.45 weekly wage increase over two years to bring base pay to $159.45, plus a shorter work week and other fringe benefits.

The publishers have offered the $8 increase over two years accepted by the Guild after the News strike, plus fringe benefits they estimated to be worth an additional $1.20 a week.

The printers struck four of the dailies Saturday, but the others closed down voluntarily. Idled were nearly 20,000 employes of the Times, Herald Tribune, Daily News, Mirror, Post, Journal-American, World-Telegram & Sun Long Island Press and Long Island Star-Journal.

Industry Girl Scouts Will Entertain Club

The Industry Women's Club will be entertained by Girl Scout Troop 238, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Preston and Mrs. Francis Crytzer, at the Christmas meeting Thursday night at 8 in the Ohio View School.

The scouts will present the program, "Carols from Foreign Lands." Mrs. Ralph Graham will lead carol singing and Mrs. Roy Hohenshell will present the "History of December." A gift exchange is planned.

The Executive Board will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Barrickman.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average 15 to 18 degrees below normal. Normal high 33-39, normal low 20-26. Slight moderation of temperatures Thursday, but bitter cold again Friday or Saturday. Slow warming trend early next week. Precipiation will average two-tenths to three-tenths of an inch melted near Lake Erie and about one-tenth inch melted inland from the lake as daily snow flurries until Sunday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average 14 to 18 degrees below normal. Normal high 37-45, normal low 24-28. Slow warming trend beginning Thursday, a little colder over weekend, then warmer first of week. Precipitation will average about one-tenth inch in snow or snow flurries about Friday.

Meeting Set In Cleveland Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild and the city's two major newspapers planned to meet again today at 4:30 p.m. in an effort to bring an end to a strike against the papers.

A Guild spokesman said no progress was made in a 2½-hour negotiating session Tuesday in the Federal Mediation Services offices at the Federal Building.

In another effort to end the walkout, Guild representatives met Tuesday night with a civic committee which proposes a truce in the strike until at least Jan. 3. Sitting in on the meeting were representatives of the Cleveland Federation of Labor and craft unions that have contracts with the morning Plain Dealer and afternoon Cleveland Press and News.

Following a 2½ - hour general session, the groups met separately, but at the insistance of Federal Judge James C. Connell, head of the civic committee, no statements were issued after the meetings.

Teamsters Local 473, which went on strike Nov. 29—one day before the Guild struck — was not represented at the meetings. It accepted the committee's truce proposal Saturday and drivers since have crossed Guild picket lines to make collections and deboys.

The strike of 450 Guildsmen affects some 3,000 employes of the two papers. The Teamsters local represents 405 delivery drivers.

Key issues in the Guild strike are job security, union security (union or agency shop) and wages.

Hanna Amendment At Stake

3 U.S. Judges Hold Key For Reapportionment

CINCINNATI (AP) — The question of what will happen to the so - called Hanna Amendment which guarantees each Ohio county at least one state representative now rests in the hands of a three-member panel of federal judges.

There was no indication when a decision would be reached, but it probably will take at least a month.

The judges heard oral arguments Tuesday on two suits attacking the amendment on grounds that it deprives city dwellers of adequate representation. The suits were filed in behalf of James D. Nolan of Cleveland the Cincinnati Charter Committee.

Before the amendment was adopted in 1903, legislative districts were determined by a formula based on population. If a county did not have enough inhabitants, it was combined with a neighboring county to form one representative district.

Kenneth C. Weinberg of Cleveland, attorney for Nolan, argued that when the amendment was passed it gave new representation to only 10 of Ohio's 88 counties.

But as early as 1910, the number of benefiting counties had doubled, and, at present, 48 counties would lose their representative if the amendment were repealed, Weinberg said.

He declared this meant the vote of a resident in a rural county may be worth 14.5 times more than the vote of a resident of a big-city county.

But William E. Knepper, Columbus, attorney representing the state, disputed this claim.

Knepper asserted 20 counties with 69 per cent of the state's population "actually have the ability to control the House as well as the Senate, if they want to." He said they contain the 22 "prime metropolitan centers" of Ohio.

His list was disputed by attorneys for the plaintiffs, who pointed out two of the 20 counties—Belmont and Ross—contain no big cities.

Knepper also argued the plaintiffs had failed to furnish evidence they have been deprived of rights under the "equal protection clause" in the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last summer that the system of legislative apportionment in Tennessee deprived city people of this "equal protection," suits against state constitutions have been filed in many states.

Knepper also pointed out a move to get rid of the Hanna Amendment was defeated in the 1912 constitutional convention. Since then, Ohio voters have twice turned down proposals to call another convention. The issue will be on the ballot again in 1972, he added.

Besides going to a convention, the apportionment changes could be put before voters through initiative petitions or joint resolution of the legislature, Knepper said.

Jerome Goldman, attorney for the Cincinnati City Charter Committee, countered that attempts to change the apportionment system by these methods have failed.

Goldman said a dozen bills on this subject have been introduced in the legislature since 1929 "and none of them even got out of committee." He added that iniative petition movements failed three times through want of enough signatures—because voters in 48 counties benefit from the amendment and therefore do not want to see it junked.

The arguments were heard by Judge Paul C. Weick, 6th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals, and U.S. District Court Judges John W. Peck of Cincinnati and Carl A. Weinman of Columbus.

Argentina's New Air Force Chief Gives Ultimatum

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's new air force commander demanded today that his predecessor and a rebel garrison at the jet base of Cordoba surrender or face the onslaught of "overwhelmingly superior force."

Brig. Carlos Conrado Segundo Armanini issued the ultimatum—but without setting a time limit — as harried Argentine government chiefs met far into the night in attempts to find a bloodless solution to the nation's sixth military - political crisis in nine months.

Brig. Cayo Antonio Alsina set up the rebel headquarters at Cordoba, 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, after President Jose Maria Guido fired him Tuesday as air force commander in chief.

Armanini said Alsina had headed a minor group in a conspiracy to overthrow Guido's government and was fired "for this motive among others." Also dismissed was an air force combat commander, Brig. Gilberto Hidalgo Oliva, who was reported under arrest.

Guido has been striving to insure a united military command in support of his government's program of national elections in June. Some military leaders have called for a "democratic dictatorship" rather than elections because an estimated one-third of the voters still support the Peronists.

President Kennedy, at a White House luncheon in honor of Chile's President Jorge Alessandri, commented that Alessandri told him that he and two of his brothers were members of the Chilean Senate at the same time.

"My view is there should not be such concentration," Kennedy said in a tongue-in-cheek toast to his Chilean counterpart, "but he has survived and maybe others will."

Kennedy's two brothers, Robert F. and Edward M., are the U.S. attorney general and a U.S. senator, respectively.

Gen. George H. Decker, who recently retired as Army chief of staff, will join the Manufacturing Chemists' Association as assistant to the president, it was announced in Washington. Gen. John E. Hull says he plans to retire May 30 as president of the chemical industry trade organization after eight years in office.

John G. Diefenbaker, Canada's prime minister, has rejected a United Nations proposal to impose trade sanctions against South Africa in protest against that nation's apartheid—racial segregation—policy.

Bob Hope is still alive—just in case you heard a rumor he was dead.

Told that an American newspaper had been flooded with calls from people asking if it were true he had died in London, where he's making a movie, the comedian quipped: "I'm working with Anita Ekberg, and that's no spot to die—or even feel like it, you know."

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER NINE

Mr. Shnoo rushed to the bird cage. It was empty. A large pane of glass in the ceiling had been broken and the curious birds had escaped one by one.

Sending for workmen, Mr. Shnoo ordered them to repair the glass at once. Then he and the attendants snatched up nets and sacks of feed and went out to hunt for the birds.

A pigmy owl was found fast asleep, perched on the zebra cage. He was easily captured and returned to the cage. Mr. Shnoo spied several peacocks strolling down the penguins' walk. He spread a trail of seed and coaxed them back to their cage.

The flamingoes, their pink feathers fluffed by the wind, were found huddled on the steps of the elephant house. They were very glad to follow Mr. Shnoo back home.

BUT WHEN all these creatures were back in the cage there were hundreds of small birds still missing.

They had flown to the tops of the highest trees where they sat shivering with cold and fright. Mr. Shnoo and his men climbed the trees but no sooner would they reach out with nets than off the birds would flutter to another branch.

Ladders were brought, but when they were raised they only frightened the nervous birds off to entirely different trees.

The men got a huge net and held it under a tree. The strongest men climbed up the trunk and shook the branches with all their might. But not even one small bird fell into the net.

Mr. Shnoo did not know what to do next. He knew that if the birds stayed outdoors a little longer they would freeze. He beat his hands together and rubbed his head and tried and tried to think what he might do.

Crookshank came along and shook his head at the sight of the birds in the trees. "How unfortunate to lose them just before the visit of the Queen," said he.

The zoo doctor agreed that things looked bad.

"It's not the Queen I care about," retorted Mr. Shnoo. "It's the birds themselves!" He went off under the trees, biting his lip and pulling his ear and twisting his mouth until suddenly he knew what he had to do.

He rushed off to the bear cages and slipped into the brown bears' cave. Honeybun, snoozing there, woke up and gave him a big bear hug. Mr. Shnoo said, "Excuse me, Honeybun, I haven't time to play right now." He pushed her gently away. Then he shut his eyes and stood on his head and wiggled his toes and said "Selbuort Gnippop!" three times.

HE GOT back on his feet and looked around. There was only Honeybun sitting back on her haunches with her jaws wide open to show off her dinosaur teeth.

Mr. Shnoo was too upset to praise her as she wished. He slipped out of the cave and looked all around but there was no one there. Only bears.

Mr. Shnoo was terribly disappointed. He hadn't known exactly what to expect but he had been pretty sure Santa Claus would appear as soon as he had said the magic words.

As he went back to the birds he thought, "All is lost! They won't last another hour." The zoo doctor was there and he agreed that things looked bad. "Even if we could get them now," he said, "They will have terrible colds and could not last."

They all stood about feeling sad and helpless. Suddenly one of the men shouted and pointed down the road. "Look yonder! The giraffes are out!"

They all turned and stared. Here came Herbert and Louise ambling down the road. They had baskets of straw strapped on their backs and on the tops of their heads they wore enormous round hats tilted between their ears.

"The zoo is haunted!" exclaimed one of the men. "First the bear, then the birds, now the giraffes wearing hats! There's trouble everywhere!"

Calcutta Firemen Discuss Project

Twelve attended a meeting of the Calcutta volunteer fire department Monday night at which plans were discussed for obtaining hose-drying facilities.

Fire Chief Laverne Seckman is to confer with district firemen on drying equipment and will report back at next Monday's meeting.

It was reprted 25 books have been ordered for a fire school to be held for the Calcutta firemen starting in January under the direction of the Beaver Local school system. Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville will be instructor.

Dale Horger, president, was in charge. Firemen will sponsor a Christmas party for Calcutta area Dec. 21 at the fire station.

Middle Agers Should Hold Weight Line

"In the 20 years I have been married I have added an extra 20 pounds. My weight seems to be more or less fixed at this level. However, I'm now in the fatal 40's and I'm wondering what will happen. I'm 5 feet 3 and weigh 145 pounds."

Ida Jean Kain

All those who have reached young middle age, tune in: When your weight remains at a certain level the answer is that you are satisfied with the kind and amount of food that maintains this weight. It is wise to be wary of the fattening forties. From these years on, eating as usual is likely to add up to overeating.

Of course it isn't that food gets more fattening as time goes by, but it surely seems to. What's the mystery? Elementary, my dear Watson, as Sherlock Holmes would express it.

THE BODY USES less fuel. To be specific, after age 25, with each passing ten years the human power plant requires 5 to 7 per cent less fuel. By 40 you are well into the years when the body slackens the pace of converting calories into energy. This decrease is a metabolic process.

Overweight in the middle years is often defended from the age standpoint. A man is apt to say "I've gained a little weight—15 or 20 pounds—but I guess it's natural at my age."

A woman is less likely to mention age. . .she simply blames pounds on birthdays she won't admit having! At any rate, it seems to be a generally accepted idea that it is in the nature of things to add weight as the years go by.

It may be natural, but that doesn't make it normal. Ideal weight at 25 is the best weight from then on.

Life insurance statistics reveal that extra pounds add up to fewer years of life. The excess mortality rises more than proportionately as the degree of overweight increases.

Now the important question: Will reducing the overweight increase a person's chances of longevity? Yes! New evidence on life insurance statistics shows that weight reduction has a definite, favorite effect on mortality and longevity.

A GENTLEMAN has passed along his recipe for weight control in middle age: Never go back for second helpings. No eating between meals. Choose fruit for dessert.

On this plan he reduced from 193 to 175 pounds and has held the weightline for the past twelve years. He calls this eating pattern a way of life, and he controls his weight perfectly, not by dieting, but by not overeating.

Loser 'Pays' Postage And Gets Purse Back

BUCKEYE, Ariz. (AP) — Pat Harve of Buckeye lost her purse at a carnival. A few days later a package and letter arrived.

Inside was the purse. The letter read: "My husband operates the ferris wheel. Your purse was found there. So I'm taking 12 cents out for postage and mailing it to you. Yours, Mrs. Paule Wilke."

Add a little nutmeg to your favorite recipe for banana cake and see what good flavor the spice brings.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

The zoo doctor agreed that things looked bad.

CHAPTER NINE

Mr. Shnoo rushed to the bird cage. It was empty. A large pane of glass in the ceiling had been broken and the curious birds had escaped one by one.

Sending for workmen, Mr. Shnoo ordered them to repair the glass at once. Then he and the attendants snatched up nets and sacks of feed and went out to hunt for the birds.

A pigmy owl was found fast asleep, perched on the zebra cage. He was easily captured and returned to the cage. Mr. Shnoo spied several peacocks strolling down the penguins' walk. He spread a trail of seed and coaxed them back to their cage.

The flamingoes, their pink feathers fluffed by the wind, were found huddled on the steps of the elephant house. They were very glad to follow Mr. Shnoo back home.

BUT WHEN all these creatures were back in the cage there were hundreds of small birds still missing.

They had flown to the tops of the highest trees where they sat shivering with cold and fright. Mr. Shnoo and his men climbed the trees but no sooner would they reach out with nets than off the birds would flutter to another branch.

Ladders were brought, but when they were raised they only frightened the nervous birds off to entirely different trees.

The men got a huge net and held it under a tree. The strongest men climbed up the trunk and shook the branches with all their might. But not even one small bird fell into the net.

Mr. Shnoo did not know what to do next. He knew that if the birds stayed outdoors a little longer they would freeze. He beat his hands together and rubbed his head and tried and tried to think what he might do.

Crookshank came along and shook his head at the sight of the birds in the trees. "How unfortunate to lose them just before the visit of the Queen," said he.

"It's not the Queen I care about," retorted Mr. Shnoo. "It's the birds themselves!" He went off under the trees, biting his lip and pulling his ear and twisting his mouth until suddenly he knew what he had to do.

He rushed off to the bear cages and slipped into the brown bears' cave. Honeybun, snoozing there, woke up and gave him a big bear hug. Mr. Shnoo said, "Excuse me, Honeybun, I haven't time to play right now." He pushed her gently away. Then he shut his eyes and stood on his head and wiggled his toes and said "Selbuort Gnippop!" three times.

HE GOT back on his feet and looked around. There was only Honeybun sitting back on her haunches with her jaws wide open to show off her dinosaur teeth.

Mr. Shnoo was too upset to praise her as she wished. He slipped out of the cave and looked all around but there was no one there. Only bears.

Mr. Shnoo was terribly disappointed. He hadn't known exactly what to expect but he had been pretty sure Santa Claus would appear as soon as he had said the magic words.

As he went back to the birds he thought, "All is lost! They won't last another hour." The zoo doctor was there and he agreed that things looked bad. "Even if we could get them now," he said, "They will have terrible colds and could not last."

They all stood about feeling sad and helpless. Suddenly one of the men shouted and pointed down the road. "Look yonder! The giraffes are out!"

They all turned and stared. Here came Herbert and Louise ambling down the road. They had baskets of straw strapped on their backs and on the tops of their heads they wore enormous round hats tilted between their ears.

"The zoo is haunted!" exclaimed one of the men. "First the bear, then the birds, now the giraffes wearing hats! There's trouble everywhere!"

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Whatever Happened To Tod And Buz?

Some of the movie critics panned "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" But as a TV reviewer who makes only rare expeditions into movie houses, I found it thoroughly enjoyable. It was a genuine treat to see Bette Davis and Joan Crawford play out their warped sister act without the help of, say, Tod and Buz of "Route 66." For the first few minutes of the picture's unfolding, I was all braced for this pair of TV adventurers to come rolling down the street in their sports car, then run up to the door of the Hudson sisters' house to see if they had a room for rent.

Hal Humphrey

BUT JANE HUDSON (Miss Davis) wouldn't be about to rent a room to two nosy kids who might foul up her plan to do away with sister Blanche (Miss Crawford).

That always has been one of the things which bugs me about "Route 66"—why everybody always is so willing to welcome two strange guys into a home.

The Hudson sisters had a nosy neighbor, but again, Jane gave her the evil eye and wouldn't even let the neighbor put her foot in the Hudson kitchen. Now on TV, the neighbor would be Loretta Young, who not only gets into the Hudson household, but in a jiffy realizes these sisters actually love each other. All they need is some of Loretta's nobody-is-all-bad philsophizing.

-:-

LORETTA would have noticed, too, that Blanche was suffering from malnutrition and a lump on the head and right away put in a call for Kildare and Gillespie. After they patch up sister Blanche, Kildare notices the queer look in Jane's right eye and calls in Dr. Ben Casey, who splits the fee with Kildare and removes a massive tumor from just below Jane's right ear.

While the Hudson sisters are convalescing, Eliot Ness gets a tip that Blanche's housekeeper is a member of the Mafia, who is fingering the girls for concrete kimonos, so she can inherit their fortune and buy Sicily back from Desi Arnaz.

At this point, Detective Adam Flint and Lt. Mike Parker of "Naked City" are assigned to stake out the Hudson house in case Ness suddenly is called to Chicago. The sisters see these suspicious characters loitering around and get scared.

JANE BUNDLES UP Blanche and sneaks her down the back stairway and into the family Duesenberg for that long drive to Zuma Beach. In the movie, of course, Blanche is practically dead and Jane hates her.

A couple of motorcycle policemen stumble on to the sisters at the beach when Jane buys ice cream cones and goes dancing down the sand to her dying sister—and that's about it. But not in my TV version, no sir!

GIL RIDES on in to Santa Monica and calls up that know-it-all secretary of Perry Mason's. When Perry arrives at the beach, both sisters have been trampled to death in a stampede (the cattle got mad because Gil went off and left them again), so it's up to Perry to solve the whole story of how the Hudson girls got to the beach in the first place.

He sends Lassie back to town to tell Paul Drake to get over to the Hudson house. When Paul gets there, he finds Tod and Buz, Loretta, Kildare, Gillespie, Casey, Flint, Parker and Eliot Ness all sitting around the kitchen table and cutting up guest stars.

"WHO NEEDS a couple of has-beens like Davis and Crawford to foul things up?" asks Ben Casey, menacingly.

"Yeah!" the rest of them shout in unison. "Who needs em'? We're the stars!"

Well, after watching "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?", I've decided it's the so-called regular stars we can do without. Bette Davis and Joan Crawford did very nicely without them, too.

Post 4 To Send Group To Session At Lisbon

American Legion Post 4 made plans to send representatives to a County Council meeting when it met Monday night.

The county meeting will be held Friday at 8 p. m. in Lisbon.

A report of the building committee was submitted by Dave Sakol. The post also canceled its meeting scheduled for Christmas Eve.

Dan McKeever, commander, presided. Luncheon was served. Next meeting will be Monday night.

You can count on a medium orange yielding about half a cup of juice.

City Judge Given Gavel Award At National Meeting

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff has a new gavel, but he expects to display it on the wall of his office, rather than to bang it on the bench.

The hardwood gavel carries an engraved band explaining it is an award "for outstanding contributions to" the National Association of Municipal Judges.

Judge Chertoff, who returned to the bench Monday, attended the annual convention of the national association at Miami while on his vacation.

Ironically, he was chairman of the association's awards committee. The judge withdrew from the committee meeting after he had been nominated for the award. He was the principal speaker at the annual awards dinner.

Over 200 attended the convention, representing municipal courts from Vermont to California. Judge George T. Martin of Dearborn, Mich., was named president.

Highlights of the five-day meeting were an address by James Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, and a seminar on the role of psychiatry in municipal courts. The convention's last day was spent at Nassau in the Bahams, where the judges visited government buildings and courts and heard an address by Sir Ralph A. Campbell, a judge in the British possession.

5 Lisbon Clubs Slate Yule Lighting Contest

LISBON — Five village service clubs — Kiwanis, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions and Ruritans — will sponsor a Christmas lighting contest in the Lisbon area.

There will be three types of display competition — religious, general and doorway — according to James McBride, Kiwanis president and chairman of the joint club project.

Prizes of $20 each will be awarded to first-place winners in the religious and general divisions and $10 for first-place in the doorway event.

Second and third place winners will receive honor awards.

Not Counting Porches

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — J. N. Waugh of Batesville, a house mover, says he's moved 3,000 houses in 22 years without an accident. Some of the houses went as far as 130 miles, he said, and often the occupants remained in them for the ride. The only trouble he had in 22 years, he said, was losing a front porch now and then.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Whatever Happened To Tod And Buz?

Some of the movie critics panned "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" But as a TV reviewer who makes only rare expeditions into movie houses, I found it thoroughly enjoyable. It was a genuine treat to see Bette Davis and Joan Crawford play out their warped sister act without the help of, say, Tod and Buz of "Route 66." For the first few minutes of the picture's unfolding, I was all braced for this pair of TV adventurers to come rolling down the street in their sports car, then run up to the door of the Hudson sisters' house to see if they had a room for rent.

Hal Humphrey

BUT JANE HUDSON (Miss Davis) wouldn't be about to rent a room to two nosy kids who might foul up her plan to do away with sister Blanche (Miss Crawford).

That always has been one of the things which bugs me about "Route 66"—why everybody always is so willing to welcome two strange guys into a home.

The Hudson sisters had a nosy neighbor, but again, Jane gave her the evil eye and wouldn't even let the neighbor put her foot in the Hudson kitchen. Now on TV, the neighbor would be Loretta Young, who not only gets into the Hudson household, but in a jiffy realizes these sisters actually love each other. All they need is some of Loretta's nobody-is-all-bad philsophizing.

-:-

LORETTA would have noticed, too, that Blanche was suffering from malnutrition and a lump on the head and right away put in a call for Kildare and Gillespie. After they patch up sister Blanche, Kildare notices the queer look in Jane's right eye and calls in Dr. Ben Casey, who splits the fee with Kildare and removes a massive tumor from just below Jane's right ear.

While the Hudson sisters are convalescing, Eliot Ness gets a tip that Blanche's housekeeper is a member of the Mafia, who is fingering the girls for concrete kimonos, so she can inherit their fortune and buy Sicily back from Desi Arnaz.

At this point, Detective Adam Flint and Lt. Mike Parker of "Naked City" are assigned to stake out the Hudson house in case Ness suddenly is called to Chicago. The sisters see these suspicious characters loitering around and get scared.

JANE BUNDLES UP Blanche and sneaks her down the back stairway and into the family Duesenberg for that long drive to Zuma Beach. In the movie, of course, Blanche is practically dead and Jane hates her.

A couple of motorcycle policemen stumble on to the sisters at the beach when Jane buys ice cream cones and goes dancing down the sand to her dying sister—and that's about it. But not in my TV version, no sir!

Rowdy and Gil, the cattle drovers from "Rawhide," spot the sisters (they've driven their Herefords down there to bathe), and Rowdy right away says, "Gil, there's somethin' mighty strange about them gals."

GIL RIDES on in to Santa Monica and calls up that know-it-all secretary of Perry Mason's. When Perry arrives at the beach, both sisters have been trampled to death in a stampede (the cattle got mad because Gil went off and left them again), so it's up to Perry to solve the whole story of how the Hudson girls got to the beach in the first place.

He sends Lassie back to town to tell Paul Drake to get over to the Hudson house. When Paul gets there, he finds Tod and Buz, Loretta, Kildare, Gillespie, Casey, Flint, Parker and Eliot Ness all sitting around the kitchen table and cutting up guest stars.

"WHO NEEDS a couple of has-beens like Davis and Crawford to foul things up?" asks Ben Casey, menacingly.

"Yeah!" the rest of them shout in unison. "Who needs em'? We're the stars!"

Well, after watching "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?", I've decided it's the so-called regular stars we can do without. Bette Davis and Joan Crawford did very nicely without them, too.

Post 4 To Send Group To Session At Lisbon

American Legion Post 4 made plans to send representatives to a County Council meeting when it met Monday night.

The county meeting will be held Friday at 8 p. m. in Lisbon.

A report of the building committee was submitted by Dave Sakol. The post also canceled its meeting scheduled for Christmas Eve.

Dan McKeever, commander, presided. Luncheon was served. Next meeting will be Monday night.

You can count on a medium orange yielding about half a cup of juice.

City Judge Given Gavel Award At National Meeting

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff has a new gavel, but he expects to display it on the wall of his office, rather than to bang it on the bench.

The hardwood gavel carries an engraved band explaining it is an award "for outstanding contributions to" the National Association of Municipal Judges.

Judge Chertoff, who returned to the bench Monday, attended the annual convention of the national association at Miami while on his vacation.

Ironically, he was chairman of the association's awards committee. The judge withdrew from the committee meeting after he had been nominated for the award. He was the principal speaker at the annual awards dinner.

Over 200 attended the convention, representing municipal courts from Vermont to California. Judge George T. Martin of Dearborn, Mich., was named president.

Highlights of the five-day meeting were an address by James Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, and a seminar on the role of psychiatry in municipal courts. The convention's last day was spent at Nassau in the Bahams, where the judges visited government buildings and courts and heard an address by Sir Ralph A. Campbell, a judge in the British possession.

5 Lisbon Clubs Slate Yule Lighting Contest

LISBON — Five village service clubs — Kiwanis, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions and Ruritans — will sponsor a Christmas lighting contest in the Lisbon area.

There will be three types of display competition — religious, general and doorway — according to James McBride, Kiwanis president and chairman of the joint club project.

Prizes of $20 each will be awarded to first-place winners in the religious and general divisions and $10 for first-place in the doorway event.

Second and third place winners will receive honor awards.

Not Counting Porches

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — J. N. Waugh of Batesville, a house mover, says he's moved 3,000 houses in 22 years without an accident. Some of the houses went as far as 130 miles, he said, and often the occupants remained in them for the ride. The only trouble he had in 22 years, he said, was losing a front porch now and then.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Blackmail By Child Should Be Halted

One evening, about ten o'clock, Christopher Barton (not his name) said to his father, "I need $10 for tonight." Christopher's girl friend and two pairs of pals were also there at the time. Dad handed over a ten - dollar bill. He figured it would be too embarrassing to say "No." This often occurs in the Barton family. The father felt as helpless as if he had been held up at the point of a gun on the highway. The son, no doubt, felt about as powerful as if he had been the highway hold-up man. He knew from early experience that his plan would work. He chose the strategic occasion. Morally his act was not far different from committing a highway robbery.

Dr. Garry Meyers

SUCH MAY OCCUR in many a family and the amount of money "lifted" may be much more than ten dollars.

This act of blackmail by Christopher towards his father did not begin on the first night it happened. There were, no doubt, hundreds of situations over earlier years when the son made demands of his father (or mother), feeling sure the father wouldn't dare say "No".

Maybe the boy was only three or four when he asked for something or did something at a time when he felt sure his father or mother would let him have his way rather than face embarrassment in the presence of other persons.

Perhaps at the age of five or six, when at an airport with his father, Christopher demanded a quarter or more to get something from a slot machine, coming back for more coins later. If some playmates or adults were also present, the lad was the more sure his demands would be met.

MAYBE MR. BARTON never informed his son before going to such places of the limits to the amount of money he could have to spend. Clearly Christopher was not on a budgeted allowance.

Furthermore, it is easy to imagine that there were times when, around 8 or 10 Christopher asked his father or mother, in the presence of several pals, for a special favor, such as their taking him and these friends the next evening to a movie. Chances are the parent then would hesitate to say "No," though he or she might quickly deny such a request made in private.

A similar problem arises when a child is directed to do something or mildly rebuked in the presence of other children. He may then be very saucy and respond to the parent disrespectfully. At such times the parent, not wishing to humiliate the child before his pals, may silently tolerate all sorts of ugly behavior in him.

IF THIS PARENT is wise, he will make clear to him later, in private, that if like behavior occurs again, his feelings won't be spared.

Even with the child as young as three or five, most parents are so fearful of humiliating him before company that he may practice disobedient and disrespectful ways so often as to grow ready by and by to become as tyrannous as Christopher was in holding up his father for the 10-dollar bill.

If your young child, when guests are present, deserves rebuke or punishment, you had better not let the matter go by default. Sometimes you should take him to another room and punish him adequately. He must know that he can't blackmail you.

My bulletins, "Allowances" and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No", may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Ohioan Faces Return On Shooting Charge

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—William Albert Mance, 47, of Lorain, Ohio, is to be returned to Ohio to face a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

Mance walked into police headquarters here Tuesday and told a desk sergeant he had shot a man in Lorain April 9. The man, George Cunningham, was wounded in the abdomen, but he recovered.

Mance told police the shooting followed an argument in the home of his divorced wife. He said he had been working in Alexandria, Va., since leaving Ohio and was on his way back to Lorain when he surrendered.

Voters Reverse Decisions, Pass School Levies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Reversing their decisions of Nov. 6, voters in four suburban school districts have approved operating levies for the next five years.

Despite the fact that the special elections required a 55 per cent favorable vote for passage, the levies passed easily in Springfield, Oregon, Washington and Northwood (Ross Twp.) Tuesday.

The Springfield District closed its schools last Wednesday because of lack of funds, and the other districts had said they also might have to close their schools.

A four-mill levy to bring in $500,999 annually, defeated by 48 votes in the Oregon District last month, was approved Tuesday 2,717 - 1,145, a 70.3 per cent favorable vote.

Washington District voters approved a three-mill levy to bring in $441,999 annually by 67.3 per cent. The vote was 3,585 - 1,745.

Springfield voters approved a three-mill levy by 61.8 per cent —846-523. The levy will bring in $45,000 a year.

Bad weather and general apathy were blamed by election officials for what they considered a light voter turnout in all districts.

2 Killed By Train

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A car-train collision here late Tuesday took the lives of two Sandusky men. Floran Keel, about 23, driver of the car, and Michael Ouellette, about 28, father of four small children, were killed when a westbound New York Central passenger train hit their car at the Huron Avenue crossing on the West Side.

Wirtz To Address Convention

AFBF Looks To Kennedy On Union, Wages Issue

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

ATLANTA (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation convention looked to the Kennedy administration today for a possible outline of its views on the issue of extending labor unions and wage standards to agriculture.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz addresses today's convention session on the government's labor policies.

Federation officials said they hoped Wirtz would state the administration's position on efforts of some labor unions to extend organizational efforts to farmers and farm workers.

The farm organization has bitterly opposed such efforts.

Too, they looked to Wirtz for clarification of administration plans on possible broadening of past federal efforts to set farm wage and other employment conditions and standards in connection with government labor recruitment programs.

Convention delegates are considering resolutions which take a strong slap at what policy drafters said was a labor monopoly in this country.

"The concentration of economic power in labor unions permits resort to measures which, if used by any other economic group, would result in drastic antitrust action," the resolutions said.

They put much of the blame on organized labor for what was called a price squeeze on farmers. They said unions as well as business should be subject to antitrust laws.

Meanwhile, Charles B. Shuman, president of the federation, took out after Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman on the latter's plea in a speech at St. Paul, Minn. Tuesday night for farmer approval of a new wheat control program at an upcoming referendum.

The federation opposes wheat controls and will seek to defeat the new program. Freeman said the new program is essential not only for the welfare of producers but for the benefit of government negotiations with the European Common Market on U.S. wheat exports to that area.

"Freeman's talk indicated he is desperate," Shuman said. "He must have found out that farmers don't want his new wheat program. He sees his house of cards falling about him."

Legible Names, Addresses Urged For Yule Mails

The vast volume of Christmas mail is only a part of the problem, area postmasters said today in appealing for legible names and addresses, sufficient postage and well-wrapped parcels.

With the holiday mailing reaching the peak next week, the postmasters pointed out carelessly written names and addresses, poorly wrapped packages and insufficient postage cause delays and can lead to disappointments.

Most of the disappointments can be avoided by using 4-cent postage on greeting cards so they will be handled as first class mail; packing Christmas gifts in sturdy containers, and using complete addresses, including street number, rural route or post office box number.

And because of the duplication of street names, make certain the street is listed as avenue, parkway, road or drive to facilitate handling, they said.

But the most important warning they had was to get the greeting cards and last of the Christmas packages in the mail within the next few days.

Scioto School Levy OKd In Special Vote

PIKETON, Ohio (AP) — Scioto Valley Local School District will continue to operate after Jan. 1, were not certain pending outcome of a special election Tuesday.

A 15-mill operating levy, defeated Nov. 6, was resubmitted and passed easily this time, 1,110-512. Half of the leavy is needed to qualify the district for state foundation payments.

Don Schussler, public relations officer, gave several reports at the meeting of the East Liverpool Chapter of SPEBSQSA Monday night at the Elks Club ballroom. About 25 attended.

He announced plans for a membership campaign being conducted on the international, district and local levels with various "Men of Note" prizes to be awarded for signing up new members. He reported Robert Hafer resigned as international executive director.

Bob Blatchford, president, conducted business. Listings were given of barbershop quartets to appear on coming TV shows, including "The Buffalo Bills" Dec. 23 on the Bell Telephone Hour. Wayne Ward, former local resident, is a member.

Dean Manning and Dick Smith spoke on final plans for the annual banquet at 8 p.m. Dec. 20 at Deramo's Restaurant in Midland.

Glenn Woods, director, conducted a rehearsal of new numbers for the spring show in 1963. Lee Holdshoe was a guest.

The children's Christmas party will be held Monday in place of the regular meeting. Sam Wolfe, chairman, announced Santa Claus will be present.

Next meeting is Jan. 7.

Middletown Boy Put On Probation In Girl's Death

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Middletown youth has been placed on probation for delinquency in the accidental shotgun death of his girl friend.

Judy Blevins, 16, of Middletown was shot fatally Nov. 26.

The boy, Bernard Charles James, pleaded guilty to the delinquency charge Tuesday in Butler County Domestic Relations Court. He told the court he pointed the shotgun — which he thought was empty—at Miss Blevins to scare her because she had locked him out of his car. The shotgun discharged, killing her.

The incident occurred as James was taking Miss Blevins and two other youths home after classes at Middletown High School. He said he left the car to let another passenger, a girl, get out.

Police said the other two teenagers' descriptions of the tragedy matched that given by James.

Trapshooting Champ Dies In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Reba Peters, daughter of a trapshooting star, widow of a trapshooting enthusiast—and herself a trapshooting champion — died in Mercy Hospital here Tuesday night. A Springfield resident, she was 67.

Mrs. Peters was for many years one of the nation's best at the shotgun-and-clay - targets game. She won the women's division of the Grand American Trapshoot at Vandalia in 1938, and was Ohio women's champion in 1938, 1942 and 1945.

Her father, the late Charles (Sparrow) Young, also won many titles. He competed in the Grand American Handicap more than 50 consecutive years.

Her husband was George E. Peters. Mrs. Peters' only close survivor is her sister, Mrs. Leo Barkman of Springfield.

Clinton Man Heads County Engineers Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Frank H. Thatcher of Wilmington, the Clinton County engineer, is the new president of the County Engineers Association of Ohio. He succeeds A. Leonard Opdyke, Williams county engineer.

Other officers named at the association's annual convention include Reed Ours of Marion Count first vice president; Bruce Weaver of Trumbull County, second vice president; Argyle J. Moon of Wyandot County, re-elected secretary, and Henry T. McCrady of Pickaway county, re - elected treasurer.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Blackmail By Child Should Be Halted

One evening, about ten o'clock, Christopher Barton (not his name) said to his father, "I need $10 for tonight." Christopher's girl friend and two pairs of pals were also there at the time. Dad handed over a ten - dollar bill. He figured it would be too embarrassing to say "No." This often occurs in the Barton family. The father felt as helpless as if he had been held up at the point of a gun on the highway. The son, no doubt, felt about as powerful as if he had been the highway hold-up man. He knew from early experience that his plan would work. He chose the strategic occasion. Morally his act was not far different from committing a highway robbery.

SUCH MAY OCCUR in many a family and the amount of money "lifted" may be much more than ten dollars.

This act of blackmail by Christopher towards his father did not begin on the first night it happened. There were, no doubt, hundreds of situations over earlier years when the son made demands of his father (or mother), feeling sure the father wouldn't dare say "No".

Maybe the boy was only three or four when he asked for something or did something at a time when he felt sure his father or mother would let him have his way rather than face embarrassment in the presence of other persons.

Perhaps at the age of five or six, when at an airport with his father, Christopher demanded a quarter or more to get something from a slot machine, coming back for more coins later. If some playmates or adults were also present, the lad was the more sure his demands would be met.

MAYBE MR. BARTON never informed his son before going to such places of the limits to the amount of money he could have to spend. Clearly Christopher was not on a budgeted allowance.

Furthermore, it is easy to imagine that there were times when, around 8 or 10 Christopher asked his father or mother, in the presence of several pals, for a special favor, such as their taking him and these friends the next evening to a movie. Chances are the parent then would hesitate to say "No," though he or she might quickly deny such a request made in private.

A similar problem arises when a child is directed to do something or mildly rebuked in the presence of other children. He may then be very saucy and respond to the parent disrespectfully. At such times the parent, not wishing to humiliate the child before his pals, may silently tolerate all sorts of ugly behavior in him.

IF THIS PARENT is wise, he will make clear to him later, in private, that if like behavior occurs again, his feelings won't be spared.

Even with the child as young as three or five, most parents are so fearful of humiliating him before company that he may practice disobedient and disrespectful ways so often as to grow ready by and by to become as tyrannous as Christopher was in holding up his father for the 10-dollar bill.

If your young child, when guests are present, deserves rebuke or punishment, you had better not let the matter go by default. Sometimes you should take him to another room and punish him adequately. He must know that he can't blackmail you.

My bulletins, "Allowances" and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No", may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Ohioan Faces Return On Shooting Charge

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—William Albert Mance, 47, of Lorain, Ohio, is to be returned to Ohio to face a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

Mance walked into police headquarters here Tuesday and told a desk sergeant he had shot a man in Lorain April 9. The man, George Cunningham, was wounded in the abdomen, but he recovered.

Mance told police the shooting followed an argument in the home of his divorced wife. He said he had been working in Alexandria, Va., since leaving Ohio and was on his way back to Lorain when he surrendered.

Voters Reverse Decisions, Pass School Levies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Reversing their decisions of Nov. 6, voters in four suburban school districts have approved operating levies for the next five years.

Despite the fact that the special elections required a 55 per cent favorable vote for passage, the levies passed easily in Springfield, Oregon, Washington and Northwood (Ross Twp.) Tuesday.

The Springfield District closed its schools last Wednesday because of lack of funds, and the other districts had said they also might have to close their schools.

A four-mill levy to bring in $500,999 annually, defeated by 48 votes in the Oregon District last month, was approved Tuesday 2,717 - 1,145, a 70.3 per cent favorable vote.

Washington District voters approved a three-mill levy to bring in $441,999 annually by 67.3 per cent. The vote was 3,585 - 1,745.

Springfield voters approved a three-mill levy by 61.8 per cent —846-523. The levy will bring in $45,000 a year.

Bad weather and general apathy were blamed by election officials for what they considered a light voter turnout in all districts.

2 Killed By Train

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A car-train collision here late Tuesday took the lives of two Sandusky men. Floran Keel, about 23, driver of the car, and Michael Ouellette, about 28, father of four small children, were killed when a westbound New York Central passenger train hit their car at the Huron Avenue crossing on the West Side.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Wirtz To Address Convention

AFBF Looks To Kennedy On Union, Wages Issue

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

ATLANTA (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation convention looked to the Kennedy administration today for a possible outline of its views on the issue of extending labor unions and wage standards to agriculture.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz addresses today's convention session on the government's labor policies.

Federation officials said they hoped Wirtz would state the administration's position on efforts of some labor unions to extend organizational efforts to farmers and farm workers.

The farm organization has bitterly opposed such efforts.

Too, they looked to Wirtz for clarification of administration plans on possible broadening of past federal efforts to set farm wage and other employment conditions and standards in connection with government labor recruitment programs.

Convention delegates are considering resolutions which take a strong slap at what policy drafters said was a labor monopoly in this country.

"The concentration of economic power in labor unions permits resort to measures which, if used by any other economic group, would result in drastic antitrust action," the resolutions said.

They put much of the blame on organized labor for what was called a price squeeze on farmers. They said unions as well as business should be subject to antitrust laws.

Meanwhile, Charles B. Shuman, president of the federation, took out after Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman on the latter's plea in a speech at St. Paul, Minn. Tuesday night for farmer approval of a new wheat control program at an upcoming referendum.

The federation opposes wheat controls and will seek to defeat the new program. Freeman said the new program is essential not only for the welfare of producers but for the benefit of government negotiations with the European Common Market on U.S. wheat exports to that area.

"Freeman's talk indicated he is desperate," Shuman said. "He must have found out that farmers don't want his new wheat program. He sees his house of cards falling about him."

Legible Names, Addresses Urged For Yule Mails

The vast volume of Christmas mail is only a part of the problem, area postmasters said today in appealing for legible names and addresses, sufficient postage and well-wrapped parcels.

With the holiday mailing reaching the peak next week, the postmasters pointed out carelessly written names and addresses, poorly wrapped packages and insufficient postage cause delays and can lead to disappointments.

Most of the disappointments can be avoided by using 4-cent postage on greeting cards so they will be handled as first class mail; packing Christmas gifts in sturdy containers, and using complete addresses, including street number, rural route or post office box number.

And because of the duplication of street names, make certain the street is listed as avenue, parkway, road or drive to facilitate handling, they said.

But the most important warning they had was to get the greeting cards and last of the Christmas packages in the mail within the next few days.

Scioto School Levy OKd In Special Vote

PIKETON, Ohio (AP) — Scioto Valley Local School District will continue to operate after Jan. 1, were not certain pending outcome of a special election Tuesday.

A 15-mill operating levy, defeated Nov. 6, was resubmitted and passed easily this time, 1,110-512. Half of the leavy is needed to qualify the district for state foundation payments.

Reports Given Quartet Unit

Don Schussler, public relations officer, gave several reports at the meeting of the East Liverpool Chapter of SPEBSQSA Monday night at the Elks Club ballroom. About 25 attended.

He announced plans for a membership campaign being conducted on the international, district and local levels with various "Men of Note" prizes to be awarded for signing up new members. He reported Robert Hafer resigned as international executive director.

Bob Blatchford, president, conducted business. Listings were given of barbershop quartets to appear on coming TV shows, including "The Buffalo Bills" Dec. 23 on the Bell Telephone Hour. Wayne Ward, former local resident, is a member.

Dean Manning and Dick Smith spoke on final plans for the annual banquet at 8 p.m. Dec. 20 at Deramo's Restaurant in Midland.

Glenn Woods, director, conducted a rehearsal of new numbers for the spring show in 1963. Lee Holdshoe was a guest.

The children's Christmas party will be held Monday in place of the regular meeting. Sam Wolfe, chairman, announced Santa Claus will be present.

Next meeting is Jan. 7.

Middletown Boy Put On Probation In Girl's Death

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Middletown youth has been placed on probation for delinquency in the accidental shotgun death of his girl friend.

Judy Blevins, 16, of Middletown was shot fatally Nov. 26.

The boy, Bernard Charles James, pleaded guilty to the delinquency charge Tuesday in Butler County Domestic Relations Court. He told the court he pointed the shotgun — which he thought was empty—at Miss Blevins to scare her because she had locked him out of his car. The shotgun discharged, killing her.

The incident occurred as James was taking Miss Blevins and two other youths home after classes at Middletown High School. He said he left the car to let another passenger, a girl, get out.

Police said the other two teenagers' descriptions of the tragedy matched that given by James.

Trapshooting Champ Dies In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Reba Peters, daughter of a trapshooting star, widow of a trapshooting enthusiast—and herself a trapshooting champion — died in Mercy Hospital here Tuesday night. A Springfield resident, she was 67.

Mrs. Peters was for many years one of the nation's best at the shotgun-and-clay - targets game. She won the women's division of the Grand American Trapshoot at Vandalia in 1938, and was Ohio women's champion in 1938, 1942 and 1945.

Her father, the late Charles (Sparrow) Young, also won many titles. He competed in the Grand American Handicap more than 50 consecutive years.

Her husband was George E. Peters. Mrs. Peters' only close survivor is her sister, Mrs. Leo Barkman of Springfield.

Clinton Man Heads County Engineers Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Frank H. Thatcher of Wilmington, the Clinton County engineer, is the new president of the County Engineers Association of Ohio. He succeeds A. Leonard Opdyke, Williams county engineer.

Other officers named at the association's annual convention include Reed Ours of Marion Count first vice president; Bruce Weaver of Trumbull County, second vice president; Argyle J. Moon of Wyandot County, re-elected secretary, and Henry T. McCrady of Pickaway county, re - elected treasurer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 CARDS OF THANKS

THE family of the late Arnold Brown wish to thank the friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and beautiful floral offerings during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the Trinity Presbyterian Church, Arner Funeral Home and Dr. William Banfield and Rev. Pauline Stephens—The Family of Arnold Brown.

WE wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us during the death of our beloved son, brother, and uncle. Also thanks to Rev. Father Carl Nicolay, the pallbearers, the choir, Knights of Columbus Carrol Coucil 509, American Legion Post 481 Midland, Pa., and the Dawson Funeral Home. Everything was deeply appreciated. Signed, Mrs. Matilda Landfried and family

WE wish to thank Rev. Shurkey, Mrs. Ward of The Nazarene Church, Mrs. Garland, Mrs. Coleman and the Fifth Grade Class of the LaCroft School, those who sent flowers and cards and all those who extended kindness while Diana was in the hospital.
Diana Tipton and Mother

Junior Editors Quiz on ELECTRIC LIGHTS

QUESTION: How do neon lights work?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: An ordinary electric light bulb (A) glows because it has a filament inside which resists the passage of electricity and gets white hot in doing so. But this is not the only way in which electricity can give us light. In 1898 Sir William Ramsey and Morris W. Travers discovered a rare gas in the air and named it "neon" which means "new." Later it was found that a current of electricity passed through a tube filled with neon gas (B) would give off a very intense, fire-red glow. The electric current knocks electrons away from the neon atoms, and when these fly back to their atoms again energy is released which makes the red glow. Since it was possible to bend the tubes into different shapes, neon lights were ideal for road signs and by the 1920's were to be seen all over America. Soon other colors beside red began to be used. A few drops of mercury put into the tube makes the color brilliant blue. Sodium vapor was found to produce brilliant yellow light. Then "fluorescent" tube lights arrived in which an inner coating of "phosphors" is made to glow by the electric current passing through the tube.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Tube lights are extremely useful but a simple experiment will show you that the good old incandescent bulb light has its place, too. Find a magazine illustration with bright colors. Look at these colors under a fluorescent light. Then take the magazine under a bulb light and notice how much more brilliant and sparkling the colors look.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 12, the 346th day of 1962. There are 19 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1758, the French began the unsuccessful siege of Madras in India. The siege lasted for over two months and dealt a serious blow to French power in India.

On this day:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered by the Dutch navigator, Abel Tasman.

In 1787, Pennsylvania became the second state to ratify the United States Constitution.

In 1895, the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional a law passed the previous year levying taxes on incomes of more than $4,000.

In 1937, Japanese bombing planes sank the U.S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtze River.

In 1954, the United States opposed Greek efforts to end British sovereignty on Cyprus.

Today's birthdays:

Former boxing champion Henry Armstrong is 50. English dramatist John Osborne is 33.

Thought for today:

Reputation is an idle and most false imposition; oft got without merit, and lost without deserving —Shakespeare.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any hope for someone who can't carry a tune? I'm one of those unfortunate individuals who loves music but I never know if I am off key.

I've had this problem since childhood. My third-grade teacher scolded me for lousing up the Christmas caroling. She suggested I just move my lips. This was a severe blow to my pride.

I enjoy singing in church and at lodge meetings. It gives me a lift to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." After a few bars my wife gives me a sharp poke in the ribs and tells me to pipe down.

I've tried to stand silent while the others sing but it's more embarrassing than singing off key. People assume I don't know the words.

This problem may seem trivial to you but it is important to me and I need a solution. — MUSIC LOVER.

-:-

Dear Lover: You have a tin ear, my friend, and there is no known cure for it.

Your third-grade teacher gave you good advice. Just move your lips in public — and at home, sing along with Mitch.

Jealous Doctor

Dear Ann: I am a physician in San Juan, (P.R.). My wife is in the United States attending a business convention.

A few hours ago I received a letter from her telling me she had a delightful time last evening with a gentleman who is also attending the convention. After the meeting he invited her to dinner and the theater.

Since reading her letter I have been smoldering — not exactly burning but something is gnawing inside. I never thought I was the jealous type but maybe I am. We are both 40, have seven children and our marriage has been a good one.

I am certain this date was completely innocent. But was it proper? Should I tell her never again to accept such an engagement? Am I — GREEN OR GREEN-EYED?

Dear Green-Eyed: I hope you have unleashed all your anger in your letter to me and that you will say nothing critical to your wife. It would be a vote of no-confidence, which I'm sure she doesn't deserve.

How nice that the mother of seven children would receive such a lovely invitation! And the fact that she told you without fear or hesitation is a very healthy sign. Now forget it, Doctor.

Answering Service

Dear Ann: Several months ago a friend of my mother-in-law moved to this city. We have a beautiful spare room and she asked if she could rent it until she found a suitable apartment. We were pleased because we can use the extra money and the woman made it clear that she would consider it a favor.

The problem is this: The only phone in the house is in the corridor outside her room. Whenever the phone rings, the woman runs to answer it. I have heard her say, "Mrs. X is in the bathroom, can she call you back?" Or, "They are having an argument. Perhaps you should phone later."

My 11-year-old would know better than to make such crude remarks. How can I straighten her out without hurting her feelings? —SLOW BOIL.

Dear Slow: Tell the woman you see no reason for her to bother about answering the telephone in your home. Make it clear that you or a member of your family will relieve her of the burden. If she fails to take the hint be emphatic.

Confidentially

TO KICKED IN THE TEETH AGAIN: Some women invite abuse and I suspect you are one of these unfortunate people. Stop being a doormat and you won't have to spend so much time feeling sorry for yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fourth Grader Does Some Deep Thinking

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A fourth grade teacher, discussing heroines from history, asked the class if it knew "who Joan of Arc was?"

"I think," piped a small voice from the rear of the room, "she was Noah's wife."

Feed Grains Supports Up

LISBON — The Columbiana County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has been advised by Dwight Wise, Ohio ASC chairman, of important changes in the 1963 voluntary feed grain program.

Support prices for feed grains have been increased from $1.20 to $1.25 per bushel, national average, for corn; from $1.91 to $2 per hundred for grain sorghums, from 93 cents to 96 cents per bushel for barley; from 62 cents to 65 cents per bushel for oats and from $1.02 to $1.07 per bushel for rye.

The payment for diverting acreage under the program has been increased for small farms—those with feed grain base acreages of 25 acres or less. Farms with base acreages of 25 acres or less may divert the entire base under the program and will receive a payment equal to 50 per cent of the county price support rate.

Farms with a base acreage of over 25 acres, and those with base acreages of 25 acres or less, where the entire base acreage is not diverted, will receive payments based on 20 per cent of the county price support rate for the first 20 per cent diversion and payment for the additional diversion will be 50 per cent of the county support rate multiplied by the adjusted 1959-60 average yield for the farm, Wise said.

Soldier's Family Ends Visit At Hookstown

Spcl. 4C and Mrs. Raymond Fetty and children, Petra and Brenda, left Monday after visiting two weeks with his sister and brother - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Potts, and family of Hookstown.

They also visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fetty, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fetty, all of the Fairview Rd., Chester.

Fetty, who has spent four years in Zweibrucken, Germany, is being transferred to Ft. Lee, Va.

Nosy Father Still Snooping And Spying

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP) — A certain father here took note of the fact that one of his three daughters was receiving seven letters each week from the same boy. One afternoon, when he was alone at home, he spotted one of the notes on a table. "Now what do you suppose these kids find to write about so much?" he thought, and, yielding to temptation, he opened the letter and began to read.

"I'd come to see you more often." the boy had written, "but your nosy old father is always snooping around spying on us."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Many of us make gelatin salads. About the cutest trick I have found, which can do for salads or desserts . . . . is to use my muffin tin for a mold.

I happen to have a 12-cup muffin tin. In half of the muffin tins, I grate carrots or cabbage, or both, therefore making a beautiful individual salad which may be topped with mayonnaise.

I just set the muffin tins on my refrigerator shelf. This can be held for a few days.

So . . . one night I use the little molds for dessert topped with whipped cream.

The following night I use those into which I have dropped the grated cabbage for another salad, and so on. . . . Any type of fruits, vegetables, or pecans can be used for variation. Try sliced stuffed olives! Great.

This saves me the problem of what can I have for a salad tonight besides lettuce and tomatoes. It's all ready, can be put in any plate immediately, and if some member of the family gets hungry in between times. . .there is always something to nibble on.

Grease the inside of the muffin tin with mayonnaise before putting gelatin in them and they come out easier!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an excerpt from a folder of a company that sells teakettles:

For lime coated teakettles—in some localities, the water leaves a grayish or white coating of lime and iron oxide inside.

This coating thickens with continued use of your teakettle and reduces the efficiency of your range. To prevent a deposit from forming, empty the teakettle when it has stood unused overnight or for several hours.

If the teakettle already has a coating of lime fill with a solution of water and vinegar—half water and half vinegar — and bring to a boil.

Let the solution stand in the teakettle for several hours or overnight. This softens the deposit so that it may be removed by tapping the bottom and sides of the kettle gently to loosen the coating or by scraping it off with a wooden spoon or paddle.

If the teakettle has a closed top, turn it upside down after removing the solution and firmly tap the bottom with a wooden mallet or similar object. This will break the lime coating into small pieces which can then be shaken out.

KATHERINE B. WILSON.

Damp Day Tip

DEAR HELOISE: This tip is especially useful on cool damp days when it is hard to dry heavy socks.

I lay the socks flat on my oven racks with only the pilot light on in the oven. Light-weight socks will dry in about an hour. Heavy ones will dry overnight.

I sometimes dry underwear, in an emergency, this way in the winter. It doesn't cost anything, either, since the pilot light is on anyway, and it sure saves me lots of time.

MRS. W. KERNS.

-:-

It works. Just remember, ONLY the pilot light.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To remove tar from little boys' clothes, there is nothing like "Old Faithful" — kerosene. Kerosene is the only thing that I have found that I can use on brightly colored synthetics. Many thanks.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any hope for someone who can't carry a tune? I'm one of those unfortunate individuals who loves music but I never know if I am off key.

I've had this problem since childhood. My third-grade teacher scolded me for lousing up the Christmas caroling. She suggested I just move my lips. This was a severe blow to my pride.

I enjoy singing in church and at lodge meetings. It gives me a lift to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." After a few bars my wife gives me a sharp poke in the ribs and tells me to pipe down.

I've tried to stand silent while the others sing but it's more embarrassing than singing off key. People assume I don't know the words.

This problem may seem trivial to you but it is important to me and I need a solution. — MUSIC LOVER.

-:-

Dear Lover: You have a tin ear, my friend, and there is no known cure for it.

Your third-grade teacher gave you good advice. Just move your lips in public — and at home, sing along with Mitch.

Jealous Doctor

Dear Ann: I am a physician in San Juan, (P.R.). My wife is in the United States attending a business convention.

A few hours ago I received a letter from her telling me she had a delightful time last evening with a gentleman who is also attending the convention. After the meeting he invited her to dinner and the theater.

Since reading her letter I have been smoldering — not exactly burning but something is gnawing inside. I never thought I was the jealous type but maybe I am. We are both 40, have seven children and our marriage has been a good one.

I am certain this date was completely innocent. But was it proper? Should I tell her never again to accept such an engagement? Am I — GREEN OR GREEN-EYED?

Dear Green-Eyed: I hope you have unleashed all your anger in your letter to me and that you will say nothing critical to your wife. It would be a vote of no-confidence, which I'm sure she doesn't deserve.

How nice that the mother of seven children would receive such a lovely invitation! And the fact that she told you without fear or hesitation is a very healthy sign. Now forget it, Doctor.

Answering Service

Dear Ann: Several months ago a friend of my mother-in-law moved to this city. We have a beautiful spare room and she asked if she could rent it until she found a suitable apartment. We were pleased because we can use the extra money and the woman made it clear that she would consider it a favor.

The problem is this: The only phone in the house is in the corridor outside her room. Whenever the phone rings, the woman runs to answer it. I have heard her say, "Mrs. X is in the bathroom, can she call you back?" Or, "They are having an argument. Perhaps you should phone later."

My 11-year-old would know better than to make such crude remarks. How can I straighten her out without hurting her feelings? —SLOW BOIL.

Dear Slow: Tell the woman you see no reason for her to bother about answering the telephone in your home. Make it clear that you or a member of your family will relieve her of the burden. If she fails to take the hint be emphatic.

Confidentially

TO KICKED IN THE TEETH AGAIN: Some women invite abuse and I suspect you are one of these unfortunate people. Stop being a doormat and you won't have to spend so much time feeling sorry for yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Feed Grains Supports Up

LISBON — The Columbiana County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has been advised by Dwight Wise, Ohio ASC chairman, of important changes in the 1963 voluntary feed grain program.

Support prices for feed grains have been increased from $1.20 to $1.25 per bushel, national average, for corn; from $1.91 to $2 per hundred for grain sorghums, from 93 cents to 96 cents per bushel for barley; from 62 cents to 65 cents per bushel for oats and from $1.02 to $1.07 per bushel for rye.

The payment for diverting acreage under the program has been increased for small farms—those with feed grain base acreages of 25 acres or less. Farms with base acreages of 25 acres or less may divert the entire base under the program and will receive a payment equal to 50 per cent of the county price support rate.

Farms with a base acreage of over 25 acres, and those with base acreages of 25 acres or less, where the entire base acreage is not diverted, will receive payments based on 20 per cent of the county price support rate for the first 20 per cent diversion and payment for the additional diversion will be 50 per cent of the county support rate multiplied by the adjusted 1959-60 average yield for the farm, Wise said.

Soldier's Family Ends Visit At Hookstown

Spcl. 4C and Mrs. Raymond Fetty and children, Petra and Brenda, left Monday after visiting two weeks with his sister and brother - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Potts, and family of Hookstown.

They also visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fetty, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fetty, all of the Fairview Rd., Chester.

Fetty, who has spent four years in Zweibrucken, Germany, is being transferred to Ft. Lee, Va.

Nosy Father Still Snooping And Spying

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP) — A certain father here took note of the fact that one of his three daughters was receiving seven letters each week from the same boy. One afternoon, when he was alone at home, he spotted one of the notes on a table. "Now what do you suppose these kids find to write about so much?" he thought, and, yielding to temptation, he opened the letter and began to read.

"I'd come to see you more often." the boy had written, "but your nosy old father is always snooping around spying on us."

Fourth Grader Does Some Deep Thinking

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A fourth grade teacher, discussing heroines from history, asked the class if it knew "who Joan of Arc was?"

"I think," piped a small voice from the rear of the room, "she was Noah's wife."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Many of us make gelatin salads. About the cutest trick I have found, which can do for salads or desserts . . . . is to use my muffin tin for a mold.

I happen to have a 12-cup muffin tin. In half of the muffin tins, I grate carrots or cabbage, or both, therefore making a beautiful individual salad which may be topped with mayonnaise.

I just set the muffin tins on my refrigerator shelf. This can be held for a few days.

So . . . one night I use the little molds for dessert topped with whipped cream.

The following night I use those into which I have dropped the grated cabbage for another salad, and so on. . . . Any type of fruits, vegetables, or pecans can be used for variation. Try sliced stuffed olives! Great.

This saves me the problem of what can I have for a salad tonight besides lettuce and tomatoes. It's all ready, can be put in any plate immediately, and if some member of the family gets hungry in between times. . .there is always something to nibble on.

Grease the inside of the muffin tin with mayonnaise before putting gelatin in them and they come out easier!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an excerpt from a folder of a company that sells teakettles:

For lime coated teakettles—in some localities, the water leaves a grayish or white coating of lime and iron oxide inside.

This coating thickens with continued use of your teakettle and reduces the efficiency of your range. To prevent a deposit from forming, empty the teakettle when it has stood unused overnight or for several hours.

If the teakettle already has a coating of lime fill with a solution of water and vinegar—half water and half vinegar — and bring to a boil.

Let the solution stand in the teakettle for several hours or overnight. This softens the deposit so that it may be removed by tapping the bottom and sides of the kettle gently to loosen the coating or by scraping it off with a wooden spoon or paddle.

If the teakettle has a closed top, turn it upside down after removing the solution and firmly tap the bottom with a wooden mallet or similar object. This will break the lime coating into small pieces which can then be shaken out.

Damp Day Tip

DEAR HELOISE: This tip is especially useful on cool damp days when it is hard to dry heavy socks.

I lay the socks flat on my oven racks with only the pilot light on in the oven. Light-weight socks will dry in about an hour. Heavy ones will dry overnight.

I sometimes dry underwear, in an emergency, this way in the winter. It doesn't cost anything, either, since the pilot light is on anyway, and it sure saves me lots of time.

MRS. W. KERNS.

It works. Just remember, ONLY the pilot light.
